State Has Reasons to Be Elated.

Tariff Bill Cares for All of Our Most Important Products.

Measure Carries Out Fully Promises Made for the Needed Changes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is the unanimous opinion of the California delegation that the State has every reason to be satisfied, if not elated, with the tariff bill.

There are some regrets over orange oil. Senator Flint had the duty on it placed at 50 per cent., but some one who should have looked after it in the House failed to do so, and it was put back at 25 per cent. This will affect Los Angeles chiefly, although all of the southern part of the State is interested.

"The tariff bill as reported by the Conference Committee," said Senator Flint, "carries out fully and completely the promises made for a revision of the tariff to meet the changed conditions, since the passage of the Dingley Act.

"Owing to the demand for a revision downward many of the rates have been reduced to a point where there is but a slight margin of protection. Taking the bill as a whole, American agricultural and manufactured products are protected and the business prosperity which resulted from the adoption of the Dingley bill will continue.

"The bill contains several provisions, in addition to the rates of duties fixed [illegible] very important.

CUSTOMS COURT.

"First of these is the maximum and minimum provision. It provides that the maximum rate shall be 25 per cent. additional to the rates in the bill, and these shall constitute the tariff rates unless it shall be established to the satisfaction of the President that the foreign governments impose no terms or restrictions either in the way of tariff rates or other regulations upon the importations into, or the sale in such foreign countries of any agricultural manufactured or other products of the United States, and that the foreign governments do not unduly dis-

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Excitement over the Cretan question increases daily. It is affecting all classes of the population and may lead to unexpected complications if the government, forced by public opinion, should order the Turkish fleet to Crete.

The Ittihad, the leading Liberal newspaper, calls for immediate intervention on the island, thus consecrating the recognition of Ottoman sovereignty. [illegible]

It is asserted this revelation will cause much scandal.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Her troops beaten in the field, her people in arms against her, and the Pretender to her throne preparing to take advantage of her plight, is the situation which confronts bleeding Spain today. Europe, looking on at the internal struggle and the fighting in Northern Africa, is convinced that these things spell ruin and exile for King Alfonso.

Censored though every item of news that comes from the stricken country is, there remains no doubt that the revolutionary spirit is spreading, and that Gen. Marina is facing certain defeat at the hands of the fierce tribesmen, already massing behind the hills of Melilla. France can do nothing, save stand aghast, for fear of striking a spark which would set all Europe ablaze.

REVOLUTION RAGING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A telegram from the Spanish frontier says refugees from Barcelona report that revolution is raging. Ten thousand armed rebels are fighting the troops.

All convents, except one protected by civil guards, have been burned.

Diplomats believe that the dynasty is falling.

The city is being bombarded by forts. Shells have demolished the People's Club. The Caldas and De Maravella bridges have been blown up by dynamite.

Spain faces a brand new danger today in the refusal of her reservists to respond to the call to arms.

Dispatches from Melilla state that the transport Puerto Rico has arrived with reinforcements of Spanish troops. Gen. Marina inspected the camp at Melilla and reports that it is as satisfactory as can be expected under the circumstances.

The aid de camp of Gen. Marina, who was wounded in yesterday's fighting died today.

FEAR FOR THE THRONE.

Wholesale hanging of revolutionists who surrendered to the Spanish troops are taking place in Barcelona this afternoon. The executions followed the check of the rebels, when hundreds were mowed down by artillery fire in St. Martin's Square.

King Alfonso will be dethroned. This was the declaration of diplomats today when, on following news of slaughter of citizens in Barcelona, and tidings of the growth of the revolutionary spirit in Madrid, Bilbao and other points, came word that [illegible] more Spanish regulars had been killed by the Moors at Melilla on Wednesday, besides twenty officers killed and 800 men wounded.

The day before 1000 were killed and 2000 wounded in a battle, which, it is believed here, marked the beginning of the end of Spain's rule in Northern Africa.

CRISIS IN AFRICA.

The latest advices from Africa today were to the effect that the tribesmen were withdrawing from the immediate front of Melilla. Gen. Marina and his officers construed this to mean that they are massing in the shadow of the hills preparatory to a grand assault on the defenses of the city.

The attack may be made this afternoon and opinion is general among military experts here who have been following the situation that the meager Spanish force must be overwhelmed and annihilated.

Gen. Marina probably has not more than 2000 able bodied men under his command today. These are broken and dispirited by the constant reverses they have received at the hands of the wily Kabyle horsemen.

The best front they could present to the attack of the more than 30,000 tribesmen now confronting them would be but a feeble one. Despite their artillery they are looked upon here as but a forlorn detachment, without a chance to survive.

HARD-EARNED.

WRIGHT REACHES THE ZENITH OF SUCCESS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Orville Wright this evening attained the zenith of hard-earned success.

In a ten-mile cross-country flight, in the famous aëroplane built by himself and his elder brother, Wilbur, and accompanied by Lieut. Benjamin D. Foulers of the army signal corps, he not only surpassed the speed requirements of his contract with the government, but accomplished the most difficult and daring flight ever planned for a heavier-than-air flying machine.

Incidentally he broke all speed records over a measured course. His speed was more than forty-two miles an hour. He made the ten miles' flight in fourteen minutes and forty-two seconds.

He went up nearly 500 feet in his crossing of the valley of Four-mile Run, and his average altitude was about 200 feet.

President Taft arrived upon the parade ground at Fort Myer just in time to see the aëroplane land and to participate in the wild demonstration which welcomed the triumphant aviator.

GREAT CROWD WATCHES.

A great crowd watched while Orville Wright had the machine placed on the starting rail, and gave the motor a final test.

The engine worked perfectly and the people seemed to realize that an epoch-making moment was at hand. They pressed forward against the lines which held them back, breathless, intense, eagerly watching every movement of the aviator and his machine.

Lieut. Foulers climbed into the passenger seat beside the motor. Wilbur took his place at the right tip of the planes and Orville clambered into his seat beside Foulers. He gripped the levers and slipped the cable which released the starting weight.

The aëroplane shot down the track, rose before it reached the end, and skimmed over the ground for 100 feet or more.

As if drawn by invisible power, it rose higher and higher, reached the end of the field, turned at a slight angle and came about, facing the madly-cheering multitude.

WATCHER'S WEEP.

Hats and handkerchiefs were waving, automobile horns were tooting, some over-wrought spectators even wept as the great white creature turned again southward at the starting tower.

Then, with a short turn, Orville swept about almost over the heads of the closely-banked spectators, and started straight southward over the center of the drill field.

"They are off," shouted a thousand voices.

Like a giant bird, the aëroplane swept unswervingly down its course. It kept straight to the south, and seemed to be rising even higher as it passed over the river and heavily-wooded country in the distance.

Those who had glasses saw the aëroplane turn first to the left, then to the right above Shuter Hill. Then it was lost to view, and as the seconds passed a silence grew upon the crowd.

As the delay in the aëroplane again rising above the sky line became seemingly alarming, great beads of perspiration stood upon Wilbur Wright's brow, and his agitation was evident.

"THERE SHE IS."

Suddenly the speck came in sight, over the distant hill.

"There she is," everybody said, and the sigh of relief was plainly audible.

Soon the aërial navigators were home again over the drill grounds, flying very low. Orville steered straight across the field, and at a height of about twenty feet, swung around

OFFICIAL.

GOVERNMENT REPORTS RISING STAMPED OUT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MADRID, July 30.—The government reports from Catalonia indicate the situation continues to improve.

Both King Alfonso and Premier Maura were satisfied that the worst was over, that the rebellion in Barcelona had been quelled and that order soon would be restored.

Nevertheless, to be on the safe side, large bodies of troops are being hurried to the scene.

Private dispatches leaking out through the frontier indicate that there has been great slaughter in Barcelona.

It is understood the King greatly regretted the necessity of using artillery, but yielded to the arguments of his Cabinet Ministers that half-way measures or temporization might prove fatal. There was great loss to property, especially churches, monasteries and convents, against which the fury of the mob was centered.

There is some apprehension that the followers of Don Jaime, the pretender, may attempt to raise the white flag of the Carlists.

The leaders, who maintain a military and political organization in Northern Spain, are being closely watched.

The Captain-General of Barcelona has telegraphed to the General Staff at Madrid that the revolutionists have surrendered and that he is now the master of the situation. The number of victims as a result of the fighting in the streets is very high.

Twenty-three buildings were destroyed by the artillery. The leaders of the rebels are now being tried by military court-martial and summarily executed.

Gen. Marina, commander of the Spanish forces in Morocco, reports there is momentary quiet outside Melilla, but no details of the situation of the army at Melilla are given out, except that Spanish reinforcements with a new commanding general have arrived.

The commander of the Spanish fortress at Alhucemas on the Moroccan coast, today telegraphed to the home government that the Moors had refused to apologize for the assault they made on the fortress yesterday and he had resumed shelling their positions.

THAW CASE.

JUDGE FINDS WEAK PLACE.

EXAGGERATED EGO MAY KEEP THAW IN MATTEAWAN.

Justice Mills, by Pertinent Questions Relating to "Insane Delusion That Possessor Is Person of Supreme Ability and Importance," Ruffles Witness After Jerome Fails.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) July 30.—It was the judge, not the prosecutor, who ruffled the assurance of Harry K. Thaw on the witness stand today.

Exaggerated ego, "the insane delusion that the possessor is a person of supreme ability and importance," may prove the bar that will keep the door of Matteawan closed upon him.

When Dist.-Atty. Jerome had finished his cross-examination, Justice Mills asked Thaw a series of questions, considered by many as more pertinent than any of those asked during the twelve hours that Thaw has been on the stand.

"They are going to argue with me," said the justice, "that all the way through you have shown an 'exaggerated' ego.' You have had the assistance of one of the leading attorneys of this county, but I have observed you constantly interrupt him and make suggestions. In your former litigations you have constantly changed your counsel. Why do not you trust Mr. Morschauser?"

THAW NONPLUSSED.

Thaw was clearly nonplussed. This was a feature of his conduct on which Mr. Jerome had not touched.

"But I do trust Mr. Morschauser," he hastened to assure the justice.

"Haven't you felt all the way through that you were better able to conduct this case?" asked the court.

Thaw admitted that he might have interrupted Mr. Morschauser, but pleaded it was only because he wanted to make suggestions regarding the evidence, and not because he felt qualified to take the case out of his attorney's hands.

JEROME FOLLOWS LEAD.

Taking up the lead suggested by the court, Mr. Jerome later dwelt on the "exaggerated ego," quoting from opinions of alienists at the homicide trials.

He quoted Dr. Britton D. Evans, who had complained that Thaw would not listen to arguments and could not be convinced.

Another expert commented on the prisoner's "rapid flow of words and rapid manner" and a faculty of expression far beyond the normal.

Evelyn Thaw conferred with the State's attorneys during the day. Nothing tangible has developed in the report that she will sue for divorce.

MEXICO SHAKEN.

Fourteen Die; Cities in Ruins.

Most Severe Earthquake Felt in Region in Quarter of a Century.

Acapulco and Chilpancingo Among Towns That Suffered Greatly.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—A message from G. Ferton, an American commercial traveler, has just been received from the town of Chilpancingo saying that the place has been completely destroyed. The shocks continue, accompanied by subterranean rumblings and electrical storms.

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—Central Mexico, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from Queretaro, on the north, to Oaxaca, on the south, more than [illegible] square miles, was shaken today by a series of the most severe earthquake shocks felt in the region for a quarter of a century.

Reports of the loss of life are not complete, but the official figures show that fourteen were killed outright, and more than a score perhaps fatally injured.

The towns of Acapulco and Chilpancingo have been partially destroyed.

According to the observatory records, the first shock of the series was felt at 4:15 a. m. It was severe, causing the bells of the many cathedrals of this city to toll, breaking crockery an in some instances levelling walls.

The people had hardly recovered from the first fright when a second and more severe shock drove nearly everyone to the streets and plazas. This movement lasted with marked severity for one minute and 30 seconds.

The tall buildings of the city swayed and many houses collapsed.

SIX DEAD IN CAPITAL.

Six persons were killed in Mexico City and its environs. Four persons are in hospitals, their recovery despaired of.

The large American colony escaped unscathed. The peons were terribly frightened. For days they had been predicting disaster because the snow on the peaks of the volcano Popocatapetl, visible from this city, has been melting.

An old Aztec legend declares that when the snow on this volcano disappears so, too, will the city at its base.

The property damage here is slight. Some of the cathedral walls were cracked, and scores of adobe walls were sent to the ground, but the main business district showed no signs of the severe shaking which it had received.

The observatory officials declare Mexico City rests on an old lake bed, the made ground upon which a great part of the city is built acting as a spongy mass, which neutralized the severity of the shock.

All electric currents in the city were shut off during the first shock, and the city remained in darkness.

The wailing and praying of the Indians in the public squares added to the weirdness and painted an unforgettable picture on the minds of the half-clad, shivering hordes of frightened men, women and children who stood in the drizzling rain waiting for daylight.

THIRD SHOCK FELT.

When the sun shone people returned to their homes.

Soon, however, a third shock sent them again scurrying to the streets. This tremor was lighter than the others.

When the Federal Telegraph Company attempted to work it was found that the wires to the west coast were down. No communication with the State of Guerrero, the center of the earthquake region of Mexico, could be established.

After hours of effort a wire was opened by a roundabout way of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. The first message came from the port of Acapulco, and was sent by the Director of Telegraphs. It read:

"Acapulco is in ruins. The loss is incalculable."

Communication was then lost.

Shortly after 2 o'clock another wire was opened up direct to Acapulco. A message said that the lower half of the city had been destroyed, and that four bodies had been taken from the ruins.

SHOCKS CONTINUE.

A message from Chilpancingo stated that three deaths had occurred there and that the number of injured was not known.

The barracks, national palace and hospital there were damaged.

The American Consul at Acapulco telegraphed tonight that the shocks were continuing with lessened inten-

Hot Wave Sweeping Eastward.

Victims of Heat in Chicago Number Scores—Dead Are Eleven.

New York and Boston Each Report Prostrations and Worse.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Snow fell in Omaha tonight for two minutes at 9 o'clock. The thermometer registered 80 degs. At 9:40 o'clock, during a sudden storm, snowflakes filled the air, the temperature being 69 degs. at the time.

CHICAGO, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Eleven deaths and scores of prostrations were recorded today as the result of the unusually hot wave, which has scorched and smothered Chicago and the Middle West for two days and is now sweeping eastward.

Relief came this afternoon in the shape of cooling breezes from the lake which revived drooping humanity somewhat. The lull is only temporary, according to the weather experts, who say another hot wave is scheduled to engulf the city tomorrow.

According to the government reports Tuesday was the hottest day of the year. This evening the temperature had fallen to 75 above, but appears stationary at that figure.

JOSEPH BOUHMAN, aged 65.
THOMAS GORMAN, aged 46.
C. J. HANSON, aged 54.
MRS. K. J. HUTCHINS, aged 61.
THOMAS MALONEY, aged 38.
ARTHUR NOEL, aged 31.
JAMES TURNER, aged 22.
OSCAR TYKEMA, aged 45.
JOHN VANDERPOOL, aged 82.
FRANK WALDRICH, aged 46.
E. C. WARE, aged 40.

EIGHTY PROSTRATIONS.

More than eighty prostrations were reported. Of these probably one-third will not recover. The list does not take into account the high death rate among children, chiefly babies, who are slain by the heat, but whose death certificates attribute the cause to stomach complaints.

The death-dealing torrid wave is already scorching the East. New York reports high temperature, great suffering and one death. Boston reports one death and many prostrations. Both cities and all places along the North Atlantic coast will probably feel the full force of the hot wave tomorrow.

Many of the southern cities, by comparison, are much cooler than those in the lake district. The intense humidity accompanying the present hot wave has increased the suffering very much. Heavy rains fail to bring relief, as they are immediately followed by stifling steam arising from the ground.

WELLS DRYING UP.

Farmers say the hot weather is insuring the crops against frost by hastening maturity and the hardening of the grain, but work in the fields is seriously hampered by the heat, as horses and men cannot endure it. Complaints are being received from many districts of wells drying up and streams becoming simply a strip of sand.

In this city charitable organizations of various kinds have been worked to the limit delivering free ice, looking after the food and milk supply for the congested districts, and instructing the great colonies of foreigners how to save the lives of their children. At the free sanatoriums along the lake front, hundreds of babies are being cared for by professional nurses, while the mothers struggle along in their squalid homes.

All the bathing beaches on both sides of the lake, the excursion steamers, parks and all open-door resorts are jammed to the extreme with wilted and spiritless humanity, praying and hoping for cooler weather.

DESERTERS FLEE OVER FRENCH LINE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HENDAYE (France) July 30.—Spanish deserters continue to flee across the frontier by hundreds. More than 3000 crossed during the last four days. A majority of the men are without money and are awaiting funds from home to take them to America. A number of suspicious Spaniards concentrating here are believed to be Carlists who are awaiting their leader, Don Jaime, to cross the frontier.

USE DYNAMITE TO BLOW UP BRIDGE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CERBERE (France, Spanish frontier) July 30.—Passengers just arriving here from Barcelona by way of Gerona say the revolution was in full swing when they left Barcelona. The House of People, the headquarters of the rioters, was rased to the ground by artillery and all of the convents except one in Calle Caspe, which was defended by Jesuits and a civil guard, were burned. The Montjuich forts bombarded the Rambla and the Pasos.

Ten thousand revolutionists were daily fighting in the streets under the direction of a revolutionary committee. The Caldos bridge was blown up by dynamite. At Lesomatin an armed civil body has thrown in its fortunes with the revolutionists.

WILL STAND ALOOF.

FRANCE NOW DREADS BEING INVOLVED IN SPAIN'S FIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS (France) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The suddenly increased seriousness of the Spanish situation occupies the public mind here to the exclusion of everything else. There is no disposition to take a light view of the matter. It is felt that France must be careful not to be drawn into a conflict in the Moroccan quarter, for this undoubtedly would mean the flaring up of all Europe.

After agreeing that of all the qualities necessary to modern warfare the Spanish have only one—valor—the foreign editors go on to express great irritation against the Spanish government for sticking this thorn into the side of Europe.

The French view is that the treaty of Algeciras having left Spain free-handed as to policing the Riff shore, just as it left France free on the Algerian border, Spain has been trying a sly political game, for which its statesmen were not sufficiently clever. One of the members of the Algeciras conference, now in Paris, put it in this way today:

OVERREACHED ITSELF.

"The Spanish have been trying to extend their influence outside their zone at Melilla. Evidently they have carried the campaign of penetration too far into the Riff territory on the pretext of the doubtful mining concessions granted to Spain. The Riffs, under-estimated by the Spanish military authorities, have shown extraordinary strength and determination. The outlook for Premier Maura [illegible] at this moment.

Entire absence of optimism also prevails in regard to the situation in the north of Spain, which is looked upon as a logical consequence of this sad essay of the Spanish government into colonial warfare. Workmen are arming to prevent the departure of the military reserves, but without the latter the government cannot reëstablish order in its Moroccan territory. Is Spain clever enough to extricate itself from this frightful situation? If so it will need some of its old power and wisdom, declares the foreign critic of the Matin.

MADRID CUT OFF.

Meanwhile prominent members of the Spanish colony in Paris have been without news from home for several days. Many are leaving in the hope of being able to reach Madrid, which, some reports say, already is inaccessible by rail.

A private letter was received in Paris today, describing the departure of King Alfonso from San Sebastian for his gloomy capital. It says he was pale and dejected. The lights around the royal train, brilliantly illuminating the scene of his departure, have been ordered extinguished, and he motioned that the red carpet covering the platform should be thrown aside, as he wished to leave like an ordinary traveler.

The letter says also that Queen Victoria was in great fear, but that she hoped to be able to leave for the capital today with the children.

SPAIN'S CALL TO ARMS.

revolution will spring up in every part of Spain. The last vestige of loyalty to the dynasty will vanish with the Moors' victory, and Alfonso is thought to be almost face to face with the prospect of fleeing to join his mother, wife and children in a foreign land and taking up the role of a royal exile.

News of the terrible defeat inflicted on the Spanish forces by the Moors' at Melilla and the confirmation of the extent of the insurrection in Spain causes apprehension here. The triumph of the Moors in the Riff country perhaps will inflame all of Islam and lead to an uprising in Algeria and the Soudan.

The attack upon French troops at Colomb-Bechar, the other day, is taken here to be a direct result of events on the Riff coast. Some of the Paris newspapers boldly suggest that in self-interest it is necessary for Europe to come to the rescue.

RECALLS CUBAN WAR.

The Eclair says it is impossible for Europe to bow before the insolent, triumphant Moors, and Christian civilization cannot afford to allow Spain to be beaten. On the other hand, many newspapers declare that the Melilla disaster recalls the muddle and incapacity of every department in the Spanish government during the Cuban war.

These newspapers advise the government at Madrid to make a virtue of necessity by promptly ending the adventure, as otherwise it will put an end to the Spanish government.

The Marquis del Munia, the Spanish Ambassador, has transmitted a note to the French government, formally declaring that the Riff campaign was not undertaken with the object of conquest, but solely to punish the Moors for their attack on Spaniards and their affront to the Melilla garrison.

This disavowal of any intention for conquest in Africa was made at the specific request of France in consequence of the circulation of reports that Spain had received a mandate and the promise of support from France and England.

The Madrid correspondent of the Temps says he learns from authoritative sources that there is no question of a ministerial crisis or the formation of a military Cabinet. He says King Alfonso has received from Marseilles, Lopez, Domingues and Rivera, and Generals Laque and Polavieja, and more than a hundred superior officers, a tender of their services to aid in the suppression of the revolt in Catalonia.

FRANCE ON QUI VIVE.

The French government today telegraphed instructions to the French military commander in Algeria instructing him to strengthen the French posts on the Moroccan frontier, and to be prepared to act energetically in the event of the Moors in French territory attempting to join the movement against Spain.

Private dispatches from Madrid say King Alfonso agreed with Premier Maura that after the humiliating loss of Cuba and the Philippines, Spain could not avoid the exemplary punishment of the Moors without admitting that she was a fallen state.

Special newspaper correspondents, who are trying to enter Spain at both ends of the Pyrenees, are encountering great difficulty and are being turned back whenever discovered.

KING INSULTED.

Mail advices from Madrid confirm the report of the hostile demonstration which greeted the King on his arrival from San Sebastian, and the rioting which followed.

Troops are constantly marching through the streets with the evident intention of overaweing the population. Frantic mothers vainly besiege the War Office for news of their sons fighting in Africa. The only reply to each is, "You will be notified if he is killed."

A dispatch to the Matin from Gerona gives an interview with a refugee who fled from Barcelona on Wednesday.

"There is terror and awful tragedy at Barcelona," he said. "On Monday I saw barricades thrown up by rioters working like mad. I saw a charge by gendarmes, their headlong rush on the barbed wire stretched before the barricades, the fall of their horses, the death of the riders, almost all of whom were stabbed by the revolutionists.

CONVENTS BURNING.

"From Monday to Wednesday as many as fifteen convents were set on fire and the glame of the flames lightde up the sea and terrorized the population. The civil guard and police were hissed and jeered everywhere, but food and cigars were offered to the soldiers who repeatedly refused to fire.

"The people acclaimed the soldiers with cries of 'Long live the army.' 'Down with the War Office,' and they were followed about the streets by crowds of women who shook their hands and embraced the necks of the horses, crying "You will not go to war.'

"Gen. Brandies was cheered to the echo while 2000 women waved their handkerchiefs at troops on their way to Gerona. From Barcelona, I carry a vision of frenzied fighting on the streets, of the activity of the devoted Red Cross; of churches burned; of altars and images wrecked and the flight of monks and nuns to escape the fury of the mobs."

TALES OF HORROR FROM BARCELONA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, July 31.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Barcelona gives a graphic description of affairs up to Wednesday evening.

He comments on the extraordinary suddenness of the outbreak of the insurrection, which took the public completely by surprise Monday.

Up to Wednesday morning the troops had not fired a shot. In the meanwhile churches, convents and colleges had been burned and the sky illuminated by the flames. Dozens of priests and nuns were ruthlessly slaughtered, some at the altar while holding the crucifix in their hands; others while bravely defending their institutions against the revolutionists and flames, the populace preventing the Red Cross workers from giving aid.

Nuns who appeared at the windows were stoned; none helped them or took pity on their screams.

The number killed, the correspondent states, exceeds 120, and the wounded number more than 300.

"Today," he continued, "I witnessed one of the grimest of spectacles. The revolutionists, 10,000 strong, were marching about the streets with the remains of their victims. They had placed arms, legs and heads on long poles and were singing the 'Marseillaise' and shouting.

"The truth is, this movement is undoubtedly revolutionary, and has been organized and directed by persons of influence who have not appeared up to the present, and as to whose identity discretion counsels silence."

A special from Madrid dated Friday, states that more than 400 were killed in the revolutionary struggle at Barcelona. The situation was considered so serious that two regiments detailed to start for Melilla were ordered to remain in Madrid.

A special from San Sebastian says the troops have mastered the situation in Barcelona, where the casualties list numbers more than 1500.

Seventy armed insurgents were captured there this morning and summarily shot.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BILBAO (Spain,) via Bayonne, France, July 30.—The authorities of Bilbao fear that Don Jaime, who recently succeeded his father as leader of the Carlists, will take advantage of the situation and create a rising of his followers in Northern Spain, where the Carlists have a political military organization under command of Marquis Corralbo.

ROYAL FAMILY AT MIRAMIR PALACE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN SEBASTIAN (Spain) July 30, via Hendaye.—The royal family is still at Miramir Palace. The report that Queen Victoria, the Queen mother, Maria Christina, and the royal family had crossed the frontier and gone to Bayonne until the crisis was over, is untrue, and probably originated in the arrival of the royal automobile at Biarritz with members of the court bearing dispatches to the Spanish Ambassador to France.

KING EDWARD HAS NOT INTERVENED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, July 30.—The Associated Press is officially authorized to state that there is no truth in the rumor that King Edward is asking France and Germany to intervene in Spain, nor in another rumor that it was suggested that a mixed force of British, French and German troops should be sent to coöperate with the Spaniards in Morocco.

TRIBESMEN HEED CALL TO HOLY WAR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CEUTA (Morocco) July 30.—The natives in the region surrounding this seaport are preparing to join their fighting brethren on the heights before Melilla. A holy war is being preached from Ceuta to Moulmuga and the whole country is aflame with fanaticism. The positions of the Moors on Mount Guruga, where 30,000 warriors are concentrated, are considered impregnable.

FURIOUS WOMEN AID IN FIGHTING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CERBERE (France) July 30.—All the reports received here from Spain confirm the terrible fury of the women throughout Catalonia. At Barcelona they fought behind the barricades with men, urging them to fight to the death.

Everywhere they resisted searches by gendarmes for recruits for the reserves, barring the doors of their houses and firing at the soldiers from the windows. At Casa de la Salva the population surrounded and disarmed the civil guard and locked up the officials in the barracks. Not only at Barcelona, but throughout the province, church property was the special object of popular fury.

Horrible stories are recounted of the merciless fashion in which the churches and convents were sacked and burned. The inmates of the institutions were driven into the fields to cries of "Down with the church!"

At Granoleers, sixteen miles from Barcelona, two convents were burned.

The Madrid authorities fear the arrival of Alejandro Le Reux in Spain, who is on his way to Europe from Brasil to place himself at the head of the revolution. He holds workmen's organizations in the hollow of his hand.

While a member of the Cortes in 1903, Señor Le Reux broke with the party because it joined with the Catalonian solidarists, which included the Carlists, whom he opposed, on the ground that they stood for the maintenance of a monarchist régime and clerical action.

Last year, after a series of bitter articles against the favorite, he was condemned to two years' imprisonment, but fled to Brazil. Despite his condemnation of the Republicans, he was reëlected to Parliament at the last elections and is now on his way home again to assume leadership. The government has issued orders that he be arrested immediately on landing on Spanish soil.

FEAR PARALYZED.

DRIVES HEAD ON TO DEATH.

On Motorcycle Dashes Into Flying Engine.

Piston Rod Tosses Victim Through the Air.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

EUREKA, July 30.—Clifford Davidson, a boilermaker, aged 19, while riding on a motorcycle, crashed into a rapidly-moving Northwestern Pacific passenger train at a street crossing this evening, sustaining probably fatal injuries.

Davidson was on his way home from work and was riding up the street at high speed. As he neared the crossing, a passenger train bound for Arcata, and running fifteen miles an hour, suddenly shot into view. Apparently paralyzed with fear and making no attempt to stop his machine or throw himself off, the young man crashed into the engine, striking the forward driving wheel.

The rapidly-moving piston rod struck Davidson on the right hip, knocking him high in the air. He was picked up unconscious on a brick pile thirty feet away.

Davidson's right hip was shattered, his lower spine fractured, his left arm broken and chest and abdomen badly torn.

Tonight he was being kept alive with frequent injections of salt water into his veins, but the physicians declare he cannot recover.

HERMANN SEEKS VINDICATION.

Oregonian Indicted for Land Frauds Will Run Again for Congress. Tired of Heney's Tactics.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROSEBURG (Or.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In an effort to obtain vindication before the people of his home district, Binger Hermann, former Congressman and former Commissioner of the General Land Office will go before the people next spring and try once more for election to Congress from the First Oregon District, according to statements made by his close friends and political advisers.

Mr. Hermann is under indictment on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government, in connection with Oregon land frauds. Francis J. Heney procured the indictments four years ago. Again and again Hermann's attorneys have asked that their client be tried, but Heney has succeeded in staving the case off, always promising that it would be taken up "soon." At the same time, while successfully contesting Hermann's right to speedy trial, Heney has prevented the indictments being dismissed.

Now, his friends say, in despair of obtaining a trial because of Heney's obstructive tactics, Hermann will ask a vote of confidence from the people. Mr. Hermann declines to place himself on record regarding the report.

FACTS AND STORY CLASH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TACOMA (Wash.) July 30.—A new phase of the drowning of Margaret Cubereau while rowing with John Flynn last Sunday developed today when the father of the girl declared that the body was found on the banks of a slough and not on the beach of the bay, as heretofore reported. The slough is narrow and shallow. The girl's tattered undergarments have been placed in the safe of the prosecuting attorney. The mother says that when her daughter put on these garments on Sunday morning they were perfectly sound.

Flynn admits he might have torn it when he loosened the girl's clothing after she drowned, but he denies that he attacked her or mistreated her in any way and sticks to his story that he swam ashore with her when their boat capsized.

IRRIGATION CHEAP.

FIFTEEN CENTS FOR ACRE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WOODLAND, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Land in this vicinity can be irrigated with well water for 15 cents an acre, according to the experiment of E. J. Evans, who owns a farm at Yolo. It has long been a question with Evans just what the cost of irrigation by pumping is. On his farm is a group of three wells. With a thirty-five horse power gas engine and an eight-inch discharge pipe he irrigated ten acres in seven hours. The engine consumed twenty-five gallons of No. 2 engine distillate that cost 7 cents a gallon. The cost per acre was therefore 15 cents, which Evans considers reasonable and profitable. Electric power is used to run pumps for irrigation purposes in the vicinity of Dixon, Solano county, with great success.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EUGENE (Or.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John B. Coleman, benefactor of the Eugene Bible University, who was arrested and fined a few days ago for roundly cursing a chauffeur who had barely missed driving an automobile over him, today announced a fresh benefaction to the Bible school in the shape of a brick business block in Eugene worth $15,000, the deed for which he had just made out and signed.

"I didn't know but the Police Court experience might have left a bad impression with my friends in the Bible school," said Mr. Coleman naively. And the expressed joy of the Bible school faculty at Mr. Coleman's manner of atonement left no doubt that they considered it complete.

DRIVER DOZES, AUTO WRECKED.

MACHINE HALTS UPON VERGE OF PRECIPICE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A moment's doze at the wheel resulted in a big White steamer car, containing E. M. Benson, a well-known Pasadena land broker, T. F. Walsh, his chauffeur, and a prospector named Odor, of Los Angeles, plunging over the brink of the San Francisquito grade, five miles south of Elizabeth Lake, at sunrise this morning. The machine rolled over and over about forty feet and landed, right side up, almost on the brink of the precipice. Benson fell upon Welch, whose right shoulder was dislocated; Odor escaped with bruises. Welch was game, however, and with steering wheel, lamps, fenders, guards, etc., smashed and the car battered, made repairs and started the automobile along the brink of the precipice for a quarter of a mile until he was able to regain the grade. Welch says he had worked many hours unceasingly and could not keep awake. Benson lives on North Marengo avenue, Pasadena, and Welch's home is on Jackson street, same city. They left Los Angeles late Wednesday night. Welch says that had the automobile gone only a few feet farther the whole party and machine would have fallen hundreds of feet down the cañon.

MEAN THIEF.

While the young people of the Presbyterian Church here were engaged in a social at the church parlors, last night, some one with a taste for sweets stole the ice cream freezers. The mean theft was not discovered until it was time to serve the cream. The guests went creamless.

DRAWN UNDER AUTO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SALINAS, July 30.—Charles Zimmerman and his wife were pinned beneath an automobile and drowned yesterday when the machine overturned and flung its five occupants into a small stream that skirts the country road near Castroville. Dr. J. Rudolph Beck, Miss Ruby Rasmussen and Miss Alice Adams, were painfully but not seriously injured.

Zimmerman, who was a wealthy resident of Salinas, and an official of the local electric and telephone company, was at the wheel, with his wife at his side. As the machine made a turn in the road it skidded and it is presumed that the owner lost control when his wife grasped his arm in her fright. The automobile turned turtle as it ran off the bank and plunged into the creek, pinning Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman beneath the body.

Dr. Beck, who had sprained his shoulder, tried to drag them from beneath the wreck, but failed. The physician assisted the two young women to the bank and sent for assistance. When it arrived, however, Zimmerman and his wife had been dead some time.

BALLINGER HOME.

SECRETARY WILL NOT TALK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE, July 30.—Secretary of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger, who has just returned home after an inspection tour of government projects in Oregon and Idaho, declined today to discuss these projects.

He denied the rumor widely circulated that he had offered the post of director of reclamation service to City Engineer Reginald H. Thomson of Seattle. Secretary Ballinger will leave for Portland Sunday night, to confer with officials of the reclamation service. A trip to Yakima county will be made by the Secretary within the next ten days. He will visit the Sunnyside project, accompanied by F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service.

LESS TO STUDY.

WANT SHORT HISTORY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] So great is the demand upon the State printing house for the new grammar school history that the edition has been entirely exhausted. The schools not supplied must wait until the first of next year.

Ninety pages used in the old volume have been discarded in the new edition and the lucky students who get the latter will have just that much less to learn. Whether this accounts for its great popularity with the teachers also is not stated. A new advanced geography, the adoption of which has not been compulsory until this coming term, will be ready for distribution August 15.

FIGHTING FOR LABORERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Colonization and herding of foreign laborers is the latest turn in the tide of the Des Chutes railroad warfare. The object of each contending force is to keep the other from over-bidding or from depleting the ranks of the construction recruits that are now being flung out along the battle line.

Porter Bros. have practically been compelled to handle all their gangs of men by river steamers lest the lure of higher pay cause defection among the Hill workmen, and when they sent a squad of fifty Italians up to The Dalles this morning by steamer it was suspected that Harriman employment emissaries were on board the craft ready to corral the enemy's men at the first opportunity.

"MARRY ME OR DIE."

Widower Writes to Coroner, Then Gives Girl Fifteen Minutes to Decide—Lands in Jail.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Enamored of Miss Stella Rewey, although his wife had been dead but a short while, L. H. Miller indited and mailed a full statement to the Coroner, inclosing a last will and testament and then went to the girl's apartments and informed her that she had fifteen minutes in which she should either agree to an immediate marriage or die. Miss Rewey escaped long enough to telephone to the police and the man was quickly placed under arrest.

Miller married a San José girl less than two years ago. The wife died last March, leaving a baby girl. Shortly after this Miller became infatuated with Miss Rewey, the pretty daughter of a neighbor. Last Sunday they quarreled and parted, after the girl had been seen with another man.

INDIAN MURDER MOST BRUTAL.

STONED TO DEATH ON ROAD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Deputy Sheriff Thomas Marshall returned yesterday from Rhyolite, bringing with him Edward Bruce, charged with the murder of another Indian named Indian Harry. The murder was one of the most brutal crimes ever committed in the history of this county. It is understood that Indian Harry, with his squaw and daughter, was driving between White's and Pahrup, and was accompanied by Bruce and John Scott, another Indian. The two latter were on horseback. All engaged in a fight. Bruce, after knocking Harry to the ground, stoned him to death. Then, placing the body in the wagon, they drove nearly to Pahrup, where the body was dumped face downward in the sage brush at the side of the road. The little girl in the party informed the authorities, who secured the body and held an inquest. At the preliminary hearing today Bruce was bound over to the grand jury.

MERGE MINES.

ABSORBED BY CONSOLIDATED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) July 30.—The Goldfield Consolidated Mines Company today announced the complete absorption of the subsidiary companies, and a meeting has been called for August 2, next, to ratify the action of the directors.

The companies that have been absorbed are the Mohawk, Laguna, Red Top, Jumbo and Goldfield Mining.

The amount involved in the merger is $19,000,700.

All the subsidiary companies will surrender their charters and the companies be dissolved.

RATTLER LOOSE IN DEPOT.

EXCITEMENT AMONG EMPLOYEES

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARYSVILLE, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A good-sized rattlesnake took possession of the men's section of the Southern Pacific depot here last night, and struck terror to the baggageman, expressmen and clerks. One of the employés of the Wells-Fargo Company went into the waiting-room after a drink of water, and was startled by having the snake spring at him from beneath the tank in which the water is kept. He gave a lusty yell and the force came to his assistance. After a few seconds' battle the snake was killed and is now adorning the office as a trophy. It had four rattles and was three feet in length. Where it came from is a mystery.

COLEMAN GETS MINING LEASE.

WILL DEVELOP PROPERTY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The directors of the Transvaal of Nevada Mining Company voted at their meeting yesterday at Rhyolite to adopt the leasing system and a lease to run eighteen months was granted to George Coleman of Los Angeles. Mr. Coleman is fully financed, and work will be prosecuted on a very large scale in expectation of developing another mining wonder in Southern Nevada. It is understood Mr. Coleman and his associates will begin operations where a plant of machinery is already installed. The Transvaal property is one of the old timers of that section, and it created a stampede into that territory about three years ago.

TOO MANY HUSBANDS.

LAST ONE WANTS FREEDOM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Alleging that his wife has another husband living, Frank Ervin today filed suit in the Circuit Court here to have their marriage annulled. Ervin declares that when the wedding occurred in San Mateo, Cal., in November, 1907, the bride was in reality Mrs. John Reimers, and that she has never secured a divorce from Reimers. Ervin says his wife told him she had been divorced more than six months before they were married. On investigation, however, he found that she had withdrawn her divorce suit soon after it was filed and still has one too many husbands.

COLOR LINE IN STOCKTON.

WHITES ARE INCENSED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A colored family that moved into the northern aristocratic part of this city has caused a lot of trouble and resulted in the drawing of the color line. The white folks declare they will not tolerate the colored people, but if they have paid their rent and can according to law remain at least thirty days after notice is served on them, the indications are that not even a law suit could move the negro people, who are considered respectable. The affair is the talk of the entire northern part of town, where the wealthiest of the city reside.

SUN A MYSTERY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Mah Ho, the 9-year-old girl who was rescued from a den in Chinatown, and who is believed to be Alice Minto, the daughter of unknown Italian parents, appeared before Judge J. J. von Nostrand in the Juvenile Court today as the basis of legal proceedings to determine whether she will return to the Presbyterian Chinese mission or to the dungeon at No. 54 Spofford Alley, where she has been held a prisoner for five years past.

Mah Lin, an elderly Chinese, who rents the Spofford Alley house, and Tun See, his aged housekeeper, claim the girl upon the contention that there is Chinese blood in her veins. Miss Donaldina Cameron of the Presbyterian mission, who assisted in the raid that resulted in the discovery of the child, came into court with an altogether different account of Mah Ho's history.

According to the representations made by Miss Cameron's attorneys, Alice Minto was abandoned into the keeping of the Children's Home Finding Society when she was 4 years old by her parents, who were destitute. She was twice entrusted to families and twice returned to the society, who finally turned her over to Miss Williams of the Salvation Army.

It is alleged that Mah Lin and Tun See made representations to Miss Williams that resulted in their obtaining possession of the child. During her stay of five years in Chinatown, the child has forgotten all English manners and customs. She speaks nothing but Chinese, and regards the light of day as a mystery.

After considerable argument, the case was continued until next Friday, in order that further proof might be presented for the court's consideration.

NEVADA CITY, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Aged John Bosson of Scranton, Pa., who caused the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morrell on a charge of selling fraudulent mining stock, and who secured extradition papers for their return to Pennsylvania for trial, has had a complete change of heart. He has dropped the suit begun in Sacramento, and will not attempt further to prosecute them.

again northward, and landed easily, far down the field.

The task was done and he was greeted with deafening cheers.

Despite the notice that nobody would be allowed upon the field, there was a rush of the crowd which almost eluded the cordon of mounted men on guard. Galloping horses brushed the people back, however, and the lines were reformed.

Wilbur at once began calculating the speed of the trip, which, after he had consulted with Lieut. Foulers, he figured at 42½ miles an hour.

"We were making eighty miles an hour coming back," said Lieut. Foulers.

Orville Wright said:

IMPRESSED BY LESSON.

He seemed more impressed by the lesson that the unusual flight had taught him than by any sense of his achievement.

"We were forced off our course by several counter currents," he added, "and in turning at the lower end, a down trend of air took me lower than I meant to go. I was forced to climb higher in starting back.

"As we crossed the valley of Four Mile Run, on the way back, a down trend made it necessary to climb rapidly to get up in the air above the hills."

Even more dramatic than its departure from Fort Myer was the advent of the aëroplane and its passengers at the southerly turning point on Shuter Hill, just outside of Alexandria. There the usual crowd was gazing eagerly into the sky.

The detail of cavalry on duty to keep back the people, forgot the purpose of their presence and sat rapt upon their horses, watching the blurred apparition.

It was quickly seen that through some miscalculation of steering the aëroplane, if it kept a straight course, must turn the stake balloon from the east to the right instead of from the west to the left as had been expected.

PERFECT CONTROL.

Suddenly the navigator "put his helm over," and the craft with a sharp list to starboard cut across the course and turned the aërial buoy from the west. Undoubtedly he lost precious seconds by the maneuver, but it afforded a splendid exhibition of the aëroplane's responsiveness and perfect dirigibility.

Beyond the high promontory of Shuter Hill, the aëroplane was 300 feet above ground, but the trees and buildings on the hill called for a still greater altitude to clear them. The watching crowd saw the fore planes tilted, the great canvas bird breasted another air wave, and rose into a higher stratum.

The fantastic craft swept by, Wright and Lieut. Foulers being distinctly seen, the former much engrossed in the manipulation of his levers, the soldier calmly scanning the distance where the triumph was to come.

Gen. James Allen, chief signal officer, announced after the flight that the training of Lieuts. Lahm and Foulers in the operation of the aëroplane would take place at some point on the Potomac River near Washington, where the ground was more level and freer from obstructions. There will be no more flights at Fort Myer.

Tomorrow the official board will determine the speed made today. It was said to have exceeded forty-two miles an hour. The Wrights therefore will receive $30,000, including a bonus of $5000 for their aëroplane.

UNCLE JOE UNSATISFIED.

Would Make Different Tariff Bill Were He Supreme—Will Support Present Measure.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Expressing himself as of the opinion that the United States was on the eve of the most prosperous era it had ever enjoyed, Speaker Joseph G. Cannon tonight, in an authorized statement, declared he would support and vote for the conference report on the tariff bill.

Mr. Cannon's utterances were called forth as a denial of a report that he was indifferent as to the fate of the conference report.

"The conference report," he said, "covers a bill that is fairly protective to those engaged in production. If I were supreme I could make a bill that in some respects would suit me better. It might not be better than the bill agreed upon by the conferees. While the bill sufficiently protects our present industries, in my judgment under its provisions new industries will not be established.

"Upon the enactment of the pending bill the people of the United States will see that for many years to come the legislation is not substantially changed."

SAN BERNARDINO LADS CAUGHT.

Behrens and Alfred Bolanger, were arrested last night while offering for sale clothing identified as having been taken from the Hub clothing store of San Bernardino, last week. If the names given are really theirs, the lads are members of prominent families of San Bernardino.

WASHINGTON.

CHEERS GREET TARIFF BILL.

Chairman Payne Submits the Measure to House.

Discussion on It Will Begin This Morning.

General Scramble for Copies of Schedules.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Entering upon the last stages of its consideration by Congress, the tariff bill as reported by the conferees was submitted today to the House by Chairman Payne, and ordered printed in the Congressional Record.

Discussion of the conference report will begin at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, the indications being that a day will suffice for its adoption.

Three hundred and fifty of the 359 members were in their seats when Chairman Payne passed up to the Speaker's desk the bulky document which had occupied the attention of Congress for four and one-half months. The Republicans applauded.

Mr. Payne will open tomorrow's proceedings with an exhaustive statement in explanation of the bill.

The moment the House convened, Chairman Payne took his seat. He did not wear any too pleased an expression and seemed impatient for the routine business to be disposed of. There was a quite full attendance on both sides of the House, while the galleries were well filled. The heat in the chamber was intense, but so great was the interest in the tariff bill that no one seemed to notice it.

REPUBLICANS CHEER.

The Republicans broke into loud applause when Chairman Payne presented the conference report. Under the rule it went over until tomorrow for printing in the record. Again the Republicans applauded when Mr. Payne said he hoped to dispose of the report before the House adjourned tomorrow.

Not a single voice was heard in objection to a motion by him that for the purpose of giving ample time for discussion, the House should meet tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

It was fully expected that Chairman Payne would make an official statement in connection with the report, but he postponed it until tomorrow after having first explained that he had prepared a personal statement. This, he asked to have printed as an official document, but owing to objection from the Democratic side, he was unsuccessful in that respect.

It is probable Mr. Clark will prepare a statement showing the Democratic view, and that the two views will be printed together as one document.

SCRAMBLE FOR COPIES.

There was a general scramble at the capitol for copies of the bill as finally agreed upon. The herculean task of printing the momentous measure was performed by the government printing office during the night.

The House leaders are planning to bring a special rule before that body tomorrow conferring upon the conferees specific authority to reduce the House rates on boots and shoes and other manufactures of leather. A careful canvass has satisfied them that this plan will go through with but little opposition.

TWO DAYS HERE.

PRESIDENT'S VISIT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Congressmen Smith and Knowland called on President Taft today and had a short talk with Secretary Carpenter. They were surprised to learn that the President is to be in San Francisco, according to present plans, on October 6, from 1:30 p.m. to 8:30 the next morning. No time seems to have been allowed Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Palo Alto, San José or Monterey. There will be a stop of two or three hours at Sacramento. Then comes Yosemite and on October 10 the pause made at Bakersfield and one at Fresno.

Los Angeles will be reached on the morning of October 11. It was thought the President would get to Los Angeles on the 12th, so this will give him two days there instead of one. That is the whole itinerary as far as the Congressmen can learn. Their feelings are almost too poignant for words.

"I think it's a great mistake," said Smith, "for President Taft to cross the continent to see California, and spend such a brief time in the State."

MYSTIFIES SANTA ANA.

Well Dressed Wanderer Does Not Know Own Name or Address.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, July 30.—The police and hospital attendants here are mystified over the case of a well-dressed and apparently intelligent man of about 45 years of age, who appeared here a week ago, and who is unable to give his name or tell anything regarding himself or his antecedents. He was at first taken to the City Jail when he was found wandering about the streets, carrying a suit case. Later he was sent to the County Hospital. While perfectly rational in some respects, he has no memory of past events.

The suit case contains clothing and underwear of a good quality, but nothing that will identify the stranger.

The man is about 5 feet 6 inches in height, of light complexion, with blue eyes, and hair turned slightly gray. He has a heavy moustache and heavy eyebrows of gray. He wears a drab coat, blue vest and dark pants.

CALIFORNIA AND TARIFF

criminate against the United States or its products.

"Secondly, the bill provides for a customs court, which will reduce the life of customs appeals from two and one-half and ten years to within one year, thereby affording all merchants opportunity of prompt decision.

"It will more promptly settle all contested points as to rates of duty, affording consumers early advantage of rates illegally assessed, and save consumers over one million dollars per year, collected from then under illegal rates, pending appeals. It will also greatly relieve the congestion of clerical work at all customs houses by reducing the number of appeals to be certified, answered and attended, and will afford more deliberate consideration of all customs appeals with ample time for the judges to investigate and consider all facts and the law attending each.

"The decisions of this court should constitute a most valuable contribution to the history of the production, manufacture and development of the industries at home and abroad, the products of which are the subject of decision.

AID FRUIT GROWERS.

"Thirdly, a provision which will be of great benefit to the fruit growers of California is an amendment to the administrative, but which provides that no allowance shall be made for decayed, damanged or injured fruit or other perishable articles imported into the United States except under such rules and regulations as shall be made by the Secretary of Treasury.

"Importers of fruit under the old act obtained allowances for the damaged fruits, and the effect of this was to permit the entry of fruit into the United States without the payment of duty. This fruit was placed on the market in competition with our fruit. Under this provision regulations will be adopted by the Treasury Department so as to prevent this discrimination.

"Fourthly, another thing that will prevent frauds is the provision that where there is no open market rate for an article in a foreign country its value for importation purposes shall be the American market price.

FRUIT PROTECTED.

"California producers have been exceptionally fortunate in having their articles protected in this bill. There have been no reductions in any of the California products and many increases. This is particularly true in the advance of figs from 2 to 2½ cents; lemons from 1 to 1½ cents; grapes from 20 to 25 cents; hops, 12 to 16 cents, and the duty on wines from 15 to 25 per cent.

"An earnest effort was made to reduce the rate on asphalt. This business has developed until California furnishes about one-half of the asphalt used in the United States. The legislative bodies in a large number of the eastern cities passed resolutions requesting that asphalt be placed on the free list.

"The present rates of duty were retained on this article. A like contest was made on Zante currants, but the rate remains the same as it does on raisins.

"There is no State in the Union where the tariff is such an important factor in its development and prosperity as in the State of California. There is not a county in the State that does not produce some article that is protected by this bill. Among the most important of these are citrus fruits, beet sugar, raisins, currants, olives, prunes, nuts, hops, wool, lumber and over fifty other articles that go to make up the wealth of our State.

"Walnuts, almonds and other nuts are unchanged. Blasting caps, which are made in California, are put at $2.25 per thousand, as asked for, instead of 30 per cent. ad valorem."

VILLAGE CLERK ACCUSED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A warrant has been issued for the arrest of William C. Davies, village clerk of Pleasant Ridge, on the charge of having embezzled $101.05 of the money. The charges were placed against him today by John J. Acomb at the direction of the Village Council. Mrs. Davies, wife of the accused official, is living now in Los Angeles, having been there for the past week. Davies has paid the amount he is said to have embezzled into the bank and will leave it there pending an investigation of the charges against him.

AERIAL RATE WAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The aërial rate war is on—ballooning is now a recognized mode of transportation in St. Louis and rate experts have issued tariff schedules to take effect at once. There is fierce rivalry between the Aëro Club of St. Louis and the South St. Louis Aëro Club. The first bomb was fired at last night's meeting of South St. Louis Aëro Club. The Aëro Club of St. Louis promptly met the competition and cut under it. This has started a downward revision which may result in establishing so low a rate that it will be as cheap to go home from work in a balloon as in a spring car and more convenient. To Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas and Iowa common points, the South St. Louis Aëro Club has established one way rate of $40 each for passengers providing that five go up at the same time in the balloon University City. This is on the basis of $200 to pay for the gas and the use of the balloon. Meeting this rate, the Aëro Club of St. Louis announces that it will offer the same transportation facilities at a flat rate of $35 a head.

AERIAL MYSTERY SOLVED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A mysterious nocturnal visitor that has been disturbing residents of the North and Northwest sides of Chicago made its appearance in daylight today and caused even more of a sensation than it did on the night trips. A lone man astride a frame swung below a huge gas bag sailed in the air over Ravenswood and then started on the first daylight test of his machine. The aëronaut was William Mattry, who invented the ship in which he made the flight. The gas bag was inflated in the Gunther Ball Park at North Clark street and Leland avenue and the airship was then towed across the park and allowed to rise. Mattry then mounted to his seat and started the machinery. Mattry guided his craft high above the roofs west as far as Warren avenue and then sweeping in a big circle he headed for the city. In making the turn however, something seemed to go wrong with the motor and although it was started several times the propellor worked erratically and when Webster avenue was reached a descent was made on the roofs of some lumber sheds.

SUSPECT IS FREED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, July 30.—Roy L. Griswold is not the man wanted for the murder of Peter Waeltz at Belleville, Ill., last November. Sheriff Charles Cashel of St. Clair County, Illinois, arrived at Georgetown where Griswold has been under arrest for the last three days and after seeing and talking with Griswold for a moment, declared positively that he was not Sidney Baker, the young photographer who is believed to have robbed Waeltz and then threw him out of a third story window to his death. Griswold was released.

LEGISLATORS TOO NEAR TO PEOPLE.

LESLIE M. SHAW BRANDS POLITICAL FADS HERESIES.

Ex-Secretary of Treasury Scores Agitation for Direct Primary, the Initiative and Referendum and Popular Election of Senators, Which Spell Revolution.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHAUTAUQUA (N. Y.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senators and Representatives are too close to the people now, according to ex-Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, who gave a red-hot speech on "Evolution in Matters Governmental" here today. Agitation for direct primary, the initiative and referendum and popular election of Senators was branded political heresy.

"The power exercised by President Roosevelt, if wielded by an unprincipled man, would enable him to perpetuate his régime for 50,000 years," said Mr. Shaw.

Popular demand for intervention by President Taft in the present tariff bill was declared revolutionary.

"We are too busy to study questions ourselves and we will not concede that those whom we have selected for this particular task who listen to evidence in committee rooms and to discussions at close range, are better prepared to judge of the merits than we, who never think, never analyse, but are controlled by sentiment," said Mr. Mr. Shaw.

"The direct primary, more especially the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, and most certainly the initiative and referendum, spell revolution from the government as founded by the fathers, and are political heresy.

"The rate bill is all right under President Roosevelt and his successor.

"Some time the American people will elect a man who, clothed with such power, can keep himself in office while he lives and perpetuate his régime for 50,000 years.

"The public congratulations at President Taft's reported intervention in the tariff bill, compelling Congress to insert measures which would not have passed either house, indicates that the people were filled with delight as they saw one of the landmarks established by the nation's founders swept away."

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

States' Rights of Way.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Congressman Smith has introduced his bill granting to the States the rights of way for transmission lines on public lands. This plan, if adopted, would take from the national government the right it now claims to make charges for such privileges, and the States could grant them free to whomever they choose.

TARIFF BILL.

PAYNE MAKES REPORT ON WORK OF MONTHS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—When Representative Payne, head of the House conference on the tariff bill which bears his name, arose in the House today to present the report of the Conference Committee of the two houses on the bill, the measure had been in conference for just three weeks.

Proceeding on the theory that the bill marks a general downward tendency from the present rates of duty, Mr. Payne presented, but did not read, an exhaustive analysis of its provisions. This statement, he said, had been prepared by himself, and he asked to have it printed as an official document. There was objection, however, from the Democratic side, and the printing was prevented for the time. In this statement, Mr. Payne undertook to show that there had been a marked decrease in the rates on the necessaries of life, while admitting that there had been an increase on luxuries.

Probably the most marked reductions as a result of the action of the two houses, and of the Conference Committee, are found in the metal schedule.

THE METAL SCHEDULE.

Beginning with a decrease in the rates on iron ore from 40 cents to 15 cents per ton, there is a general reduction throughout that portion of the bill, pig iron going down from $4 to $2.50 per ton, and scrap iron from $4 to $1.

The reduction on many of the items in the metal schedule amounts to about 50 per cent., and this reduction includes steel rails.

There is an increase on structural steel ready for use, and also a slight increase on razors, nippers and pliers and on such new metals as tungsten.

All rough lumber goes down from $2 to $1.25 per 1000 feet, with a corresponding reduction in the differential on dressed lumber.

Wool underwent no change of consequence, but the entire cotton schedule was reconstructed and the phraseology greatly changed, in the hope of preventing reductions by the courts, such as have characterized the administration of the Dingley law during the latter years.

In many instances the Dingley rates were cut by these decisions, in some instances from 60 to 8 per cent. ad valorem.

HOSIERY RATES INCREASED.

It is estimated the rates fixed by the bill are about 3 per cent. higher on an average than collected on cotton last year. The rates on cotton hosiery are generally increased.

Binding twine is retained on the free list. Cotton ties remain dutiable at three-tenths of a cent per pound, and cotton bagging at six-tenths of a cent per square yard.

On quebracho, the tanning extract, for a stiff duty on which Senator Daniel made such a strenuous fight, the House rate of 1⅛ cents per pound is retained.

In the matter of gloves, the high protectionists fail to score. They sought, through an increase made by the House, to raise the duty materially above the Dingley figures, but were antagonized by the Senate, and the Senate won, the only change made in the entire schedule being one slight reduction.

The silk schedule was reconstructed, with a view of imposing specific rather than ad valorem duties, with the result that the average duty will be somewhat higher under the new law.

Oil cloths and linoleum are heavily cut, but otherwise the changes in the flax, hemp and jute provisions were not material.

SUGAR AND TOBACCO.

A slight increased duty is provided for hemp, both crude and hackled, and also on certain high-grade laces.

On linen yarns and mattings there is a reduction.

Sugar and tobacco duties remain substantially as they are under the Dingley law.

The free importation of considerable quantities of both of these articles from the Philippines is permitted, and a material change was made in the internal revenue law by an amendment taking the tax off of the sale of tobacco in the hand.

There is a uniform increase on spirits, wines and liquors of 15 per cent.

In the agricultural schedule, hops are increased from 12 to 16 cents a pound, and there is also an increase on lemons, figs, almonds and pineapples.

The publishers win their fight for lower wood pulp and print paper, the rate on the ordinary news print paper being fixed at $3.75 per ton, instead of $6, as under the Dingley law, and on the higher grades of print paper at $3.75 instead of $8.

Mechanically-ground wood pulp is to come in free of duty instead of paying one-twelfth of a cent a pound, as under the Dingley law, but provision is made for a countervailing duty in case it becomes necessary to protect this country against Canada's inhibitions upon the exportation of woods to the United States.

HIDES AND LEATHER.

Hides come in free and there is a corresponding reduction on leather and leather goods. The House rates are practically retained on sole leather, leather for uppers, boots and shoes and harness, but the free-hides provision is based on the condition that on and after October 1, 1909, sole leather from the hides that are to be admitted free will pay a duty of 5 per cent. ad valorem; grain, buff and split leather 7½ per cent.; boots and shoes, the upper leather of which is made from such hides, 10 per cent., and harness and saddlery, 20 per cent. This will bring a reduction of 15 per cent. on boots and shoes, 20 per cent. on harness and saddlery, 15 per cent. on sole leather and 12½ per cent. on leather for uppers, if made from the hides that are put on the free list by the provision.

Bituminous coal is reduced from 67 cents per ton to 45 cents, and there is also a reduction on gunpowder, matches and cartridges.

Agricultural implements go off from 20 per cent. ad valorem to 15 per cent. and the older works of art are placed upon the free list.

Petroleum slips through without any duty, and most of its products come in under the same terms.

MAXIMUM AND MINIMUM.

The administrative features of the bill were much changed in conference. The commission of experts provided by the Senate was retained in name, but its duties are restricted to investigating discriminations against the United States by other countries for the benefit of the President in administering the maximum and minimum rate provision, and of government officers in administering the customs laws.

The Senate's maximum and minimum provision was retained in the bill. It provides an increased duty amounting to 25 per cent. ad valorem on goods brought into the United States from countries discriminating against this country.

The drawback provision of the Dingley law was restored with a slight addition controlling the use of alcohol in articles for export.

The customs court was retained and its headquarters fixed in Washington.

The principal difficulty in the way of a clearly detailed comparison between the present so-called Dingley law and the new bill, lies in the fact that in most of the more important and sharply contested provisions and schedules, a radical rearrangement of classification and a shifting from specific to ad valorem duties, leave few common terms for comparison.

CORPORATION TAX LAW.

Practically all the administrative features of the tariff bill adopted in the Senate were accepted by the conferees.

They include a new maximum and minimum feature, a corporation tax law instead of the inheritance tax adopted by the House, authorization for a bond issue to raise money to build the Panama Canal, as well as numerous other features.

The maximum and minimum provision prescribes duties in accordance with the rates named in the dutiable list until March 31, 1910, when 25 per cent. ad valorem is to be added automatically as the maximum duty.

The President is authorized to apply the minimum rates, however, to imports from a country giving its best rates to the United States products, and is made the judge as to whether a foreign country accords to the United States treatment reciprocal and equivalent. When he finds this condition to exist he is to issue a proclamation putting into effect the minimum rates.

The President is empowered to employ such persons as may be required to exist he is to issue a proclamation discharging the duties imposed upon him, and information that will be useful to officers in administering the customs laws.

The reciprocity treaty with Cuba is not affected.

The President is empowered also to abrogate those reciprocity treaties that can be terminated by diplomatic action.

RELATING TO TREATIES.

It is made his duty to give ten days' notice after the bill becomes a law of his intention to bring those treaties to an end. All other treaties containing no stipulation in regard to their termination by diplomatic action shall be abrogated by a notice of six months from the President to those countries, the notice dating from April 30, 1909, on which date Secretary Knox notified foreign governments the United States would soon ask them to enter into new tariff relations.

The Philippine free-trade provision provides for the free importation of all articles "the growth or product of, or manufactured in, the Philippines from material the growth or product of the Philippine Islands, or the United States, or both, or which do not contain foreign materials to the value of more than 20 per cent. of their total value."

Rice is the only exception to the free provisions, but restrictions are placed upon sugar and tobacco.

The free importation of sugar is limited to 300,000 tons a year. On wrapper and filler tobacco, when mixed, the annual limitation is 300,000 pounds, on filler tobacco 1,000,000 pounds and on cigars 150,000,000.

ON CUSTOMS LAWS.

A provision is included in the bill which levies on all articles upon which any foreign country pays a bounty or grant upon its exportation, an additional duty equal to the amount of such bounty.

It is required that all imported articles capable of being marked without impairment of their value, shall be stamped with the name of the manufacturer and the country of origin.

A very elaborate provision for the administration of customs laws was adopted. It is intended to prevent undervaluation of articles on which there is no foreign market by which true values may be ascertained.

Provision is made for a customs court of appeals, with headquarters in Washington. It will comprise a presiding judge and four associate judges at salaries of $10,000 a year.

The internal revenue tax on tobacco is amended, making the rates on chewing and smoking tobacco 8 cents a pound. No change was made in the tax on cigars, except those weighing under three pounds per 1000, on which the tax was increased from 54 to 75 cents per 1000.

The rates on cigarettes were increased to $1.25 per 1000.

IRONCLAD REQUIREMENTS.

The provision granting farmers the free sale of leaf tobacco places a restriction on the retail dealer which requires him to record every sale amounting to two pounds or more to one person in one day.

A number of other ironclad requirements are included in redraft of this section adopted by the Conference Committee, by which it was intended to prevent any frauds upon the internal revenues and at the same time give as much of a local market as possible to the tobacco grower.

Foreign-built yachts are subject to an excise tax of $7 per gross ton, which is to be collected annually on the first day of September.

In lieu of the excise tax, the owner of a foreign-built yacht or pleasure boat may pay a duty of 35 per cent. ad valorem on his yacht. This will entitle him to American registration. This provision was adopted because some question had been raised as to the ability of the government to collect import duties.

Every corporation, joint stock company or association organized for profit, and every insurance company, is required to pay annually an excise tax of 1 per cent. upon its entire net income over and above $5000. This feature was put into the bill to raise additional revenues to apply on the treasury deficit. It provides a form of publicity which will enable the government to exercise supervision over corporations. It is estimated that from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year will be collected under this new taxation.

PANAMA CANAL BONDS.

The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to issue Panama Canal bonds to the amount of $290,569,000, which sum, together with that already expended, equals the estimated cost of the Panama Canal.

It is not intended the bonds shall be used, except as needed to provide money to carry on the work of canal construction. The bonds are to be payable fifty years from the date of issue and will bear interest not exceeding 3 per cent. When the bonds are sold the Secretary will restore to the working balance the $50,000,000 paid originally for the canal property and canal zone.

The reënacting of the provision authorizing the issuance of treasury certificates for money borrowed to meet public expenditures increases the amount of the authorization from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000.

A large number of other provisions that are in force are included in the conference bill with a few changes in phraseology in several cases.

The drawback provision of the Dingley law is incorporated in the conference bill in lieu of the drawback of the House bill, which intended to permit the substitution of domestic material in the manufactured article for export to the same quantity of the imported material, upon which a drawback was obtainable, was used in the manufacture of similar articles for domestic consumption.

INCREASES AND DECREASES.

An additional provision was adopted entailing users of domestic alcohol in the manufacture of perfumery and cosmetics to secure a drawback of internal revenue tax to the amount of alcohol used in an exported article.

Representative Payne made a statement comprising an analysis of the bill, showing both the increase and the decreases, but this was preceded by a general summary, in which he undertook to show the extent of revenue increases and decreases according to schedules. According to this showing, the total increases were on consumption value of importations of $852,512,525, and the total decreases on consumption values amounting to $4,978,122,214.

In this preliminary statement Mr. Payne said that he had had made an investigation based on the census returns of 1905, showing the amount of domestic consumption of articles upon which duties have been raised, and also the articles upon which duties have been lowered by the bill as finally reported. This had been done because comparisons have been made based upon the amount of importations, he said.

"Duties," he said, "have been lowered where they were too high under the present law, sometimes prohibitive in character and for that reason the importations were comparatively small. On the other hand, they have been raised in some instances where the tariff was insufficient for protection, and the importations were very great."

PRESENTS TABLE.

He then gave the following table which shows the consumption value of articles on which rates of duty have been increased and decreased in all cases where the amount of production could be ascertained:

Articles—	Duty Decreased.	Duty Increased.
Chemicals	$ 432,009,846	$ 11,105,820
Earthenware	128,423,732	....
Lumber	546,870,920	31,250,272
Sugar	300,963,953	....
Tobacco—No change.
Agricultural products	483,430,637	4,380,012
Wines and liquors	....	462,001,856
Cotton	....	41,622,024
Flax, hemp, jute	22,127,145	804,445
Wool—No change.
Silk	7,797,566	106,742,646

Articles—	Duty increased.
Chemicals, including perfumeries, etc.	$ 11,105,820
Wines and liquors	462,001,856
Silks	106,742,646
Total	$579,850,322

This leaves a balance of increases not luxuries of $272,662,203.

Mr. Payne gave assurance that "in preparing this table the experts had used all of the available information from the census office and other sources."

"But all of these," he said, "are not sufficient to present the total consumption of either class of articles. If the total consumption were available, the contrast between the amount of goods on which duties were lowered and those increased would be still more striking.

COMPARED WITH DINGLEY LAW.

Taking up the schedules in their order he gave, first, the increases and then the decreases. The figures in all cases were comparisons with the Dingley law. In schedule A, relating to chemicals, he gave the increases as follows:

Liquid anhydrous ammonia, from 25 per cent. ad valorem to 5 cents per pound.

Manufactures of collodion, increased 5 per cent.

Fancy soaps increased from 15 cents per pound, to 50 per cent. ad valorem.

Boracic acid, from 5 to 2 cents per pound.

Chromic acid and lactic acid, from 3 to 2 cents per pound.

Salicylic acid, from 10 to 7 cents per pound.

Tannic acid, or tannin, from 50 to 35 cents per pound.

Sulphate of ammonia, from 3-10 cent per pound to free list.

Borax, from 5 to 2 cents per pound.

Borate of lime and other borate material, from 4 to 2 cents per pound.

Chloroform, from 20 to 10 cents per pound.

Licorice, from 4½ cents to 2½ cents per pound.

MORE SCHEDULES.

Flaxseed, linseed and poppy seed oil from 20 to 15 cents per gallon.

Peppermint oil from 50 to 25 cents per gallon.

Ocher and ochery earths, sienna and sienna earths and umber and umber earths, if ground in oil or water, from 1⅛ to 1 cent per pound.

Varnishes from 35 per cent. to 25 per cent. ad valorem.

Methylated and spirit varnishes from $1.32 per gallon, and 35 per cent. ad valorem, to 35 cents per gallon and 35 per cent. ad valorem.

White lead, acetate of lead and a number of other lead products from ⅜ to ⅛ of a cent a pound.

Bichromate and chromate of potash from 3 to 2¼ cents per pound.

Chlorate of potash from 2½ to 2 cents per pound.

Crystal carbonate of soda from 3-10 to ¼ of 1 cent per pound.

Chlorate of soda from 2½ cents per pound to 2 cents.

Hydrate of, or caustic soda, from ⅜ to ½ of 1 cent per pound.

Nitrate of soda from 2½ to 2 cents per pound.

Sulphate of soda, or salt cake, or miter cake, from $1.25 to $1 per ton.

Strychnia or strychnine, from 30 to 15 cents per ounce.

Sulphur, refined or sublimated, or flowers of, from $8 to $6 per ton.

GLASSWARE ABOUT SAME.

In earthenware and glassware there is but one increase, according to Mr. Payne's figures. This is slight and is made on the smaller sizes of plate glass.

The decreases include:

Firebrick, glazed, enameled, etc., from 45 per cent. to 35 per cent. ad valorem.

Brick, other than firebrick, if glazed, from 45 per cent. to 35 per cent. ad valorem.

Plaster, rock or gypsum, crude, from 50 to 30 cents per ton; if ground or calcined, from $2.25 to $1.25.

Unpolished, cylinder, crown and common window glass, smaller glass and cheaper values, reduced ⅛ of a cent per pound.

Marble, sawed or dressed, over two inches in thickness, from $1.10 to $1 per cubic foot.

There is a general reduction in mica to 30 per cent. ad valorem.

Structural steel, fitted for use, falls in the basket clause at 45 per cent. ad valorem.

There is also an increase on razors, and upon nippers and pliers.

SEVERAL NEW METALS.

Chrome metal, ferrosilicon, tungsten and other new metals used in the manufacture of steels, are made dutiable at not more than 15 per cent. ad valorem.

Tungsten ore is made dutiable at 10 per cent. ad valorem.

The duty on watches was readjusted, remaining at about the same as the Dingley law.

A duty of 1 cent per pound was put upon zinc in the ore where it contains more than 20 per cent. of zinc.

On zinc with less than 20 per cent. there is a lower rate of duty.

Zinc now has a duty of 20 per cent.

There was an added duty of one-half of 1 per cent. per pound upon plain bottle caps, and on decorated bottle caps an increase of 45 to 55 per cent.

The reductions in the metal schedule are more numerous. Heading the list is iron ore, decreased from 40 to 15 cents per ton.

Pig iron, iron kentledge and spiegeleisen were lowered from $4 to $2.50 per ton.

REDUCTIONS IN IRON.

Reductions were made on bar iron, round iron, slabs and blooms, structural steel not fabricated, anchors, iron steel forgings, hoop, band or scroll iron or steel, steel bands or strips.

The reduction on cotton ties is from five-tenths to three-tenths of 1 cent per pound, and railway bars and steel rails from seven-twentieths of 1 cent per pound to seven-fortieths.

Iron or steel sheets were also reduced and the duty on charcoal iron is made $6 a ton instead of $12.

Other reductions in the metal schedule affect polished sheets, rolled sheets of iron, steel, copper or nickel; steel ingots, cogged ingots, blooms and slabs; round iron or steel wire; steel bars or rods, cold rolled, cold drawn or cold-hammered or polished; anvils, axles, blacksmith hammers and sledges, track tools, wedges and crowbars, bolts, cast iron pipes, cast hollow ware, chains, lapwelded or jointed iron or steel boiler tubes, cut nails and spikes, horseshoe nails, wire nails, spikes, nuts and washers, cut tacks, steel plates engraved, rivets, crosscut saws, mill saws, circular saws, pit and drag saws, steel band saws and all other saws, screws, wheels for railway purposes, aluminum, monazite sand and thorite.

Tin plate is reduced from 1½ to 1 2-10 per pound.

TABLE KNIVES.

The minimum duty on table and carving knives is made 40 per cent. ad valorem instead of 25.

Material reductions are made in the rates on files and the duty on cash registers, jute manufacturing machinery, typesetting machines, machine tools, printing presses, typewriters and all steam engines are reduced to 30 per cent. ad valorem from the existing rate of 45 per cent.

Until January 1, 1912, embroidery and certain lace-making machines and machines used for making linen cloth and tar and oil-spreading machines, used in the construction of roads, are to be admitted free.

In the lumber schedule, the only increases were those on shingles, from 30 cents to 50 cents per 1000, and on briarwood and laurelwood for the use of pipe makers from the free list to 15 per cent. ad valorem.

The rate on sawed lumber was decreased from $2 per 1000 to $1.25 per 1000.

There was also a diminution on timber from 1 cent per cubic foot to one-half of 1 cent, and on sawed boards of white wood and kindred woods from $1 per 1000 to 50 cents.

The reduction in the differential rates in favor of dressed lumber averaged about one-third of the Dingley rate.

Paving posts, railroad ties and telephone poles are reduced from 20 to 10 per cent. ad valorem.

Clapboard from $1.50 per 1000 to $1.25.

Laths from 25 cents to 20 cents per 1000, while fence posts and kindling wood were placed on the free list.

SUGAR AND FRUITS.

The only change in the sugar schedule consisted of a reduction of five-one hundredths of a cent in the differential on refined sugar.

In agricultural products, broom corn was taken from the free list and made dutiable at $3 per ton.

Hops are increased from 12 cents to 16 cents per pound.

There are also increases on lemons, figs, almonds, pineapples and chicory root.

The reductions in the agricultural schedule covered bacon and hams, from 5 cents to 4 cents per pound; lard, from 2 to 1½ cents per pound; fresh meats, from 2 to 1½ cents, and starch, from 1½ to 1 cent per pound.

Tallow, wool grease, dextrin, peas, sugar beets, cabbage and salt were also lowered.

The wine and liquor schedule was increased to 15 per cent. over the Dingley rates.

The cotton schedule was reconstructed and readjusted to bring the duties up to those collected during the first four years of the operation of the Dingley law, and the rates then lowered, in some cases from 60 to 6 per cent. by court decisions. These new rates, Mr. Payne explained, are equivalent to an addition, on the whole, of 3 per cent. ad valorem increase over that collected under the present law for last year.

COTON HOSIERY.

Cotton hosiery valued at not more than $1 per dozen pairs is increased from 50c to 70c per dozen pairs; more than $1 and less than $1.50 per dozen pairs, from 60c to 85c per dozen pairs; more than $1.50 and not more than $2, from 70c to 90c per dozen pairs.

The remaining rates on stockings are the same as under the present law.

Hemp is increased from $20 to $22.50 per ton and hackle hemp from $40 to $45 per ton.

The cheaper laces remain as in the present law, but there is an increase from 60 to 70 per cent. on some of the higher priced laces.

In his schedule, single coarse yarns are reduced from 7c to 6c per pound and gill nettings from 25 to 20 per cent. ad valorem.

There was a general reduction in carpets and mats.

A reduction from 20c to 15c is made in hydraulic hose.

Oil cloth, including linoleum, was reduced about one-third.

There was practically no change in the wool schedule, but there was a readjustment between tops and yarns, and small decrease on cloths with a cotton warp.

Mechanically ground wood pulp was exempted from duty and placed on the free list with a provision for a countervailing duty against Canada.

COAL AND FIREWORKS.

The lower grade of print paper was reduced from $6 to $3.75 per ton, and the higher grade from $8 to $3.75.

There is an increase on surface-coated paper and lithographic print, including post cards and cigar labels.

Bituminous coal goes down from 67 cents to 45 cents per ton, and there are reductions on gunpowder, matches and cartridges.

Agricultural implements are cut from 20 to 15 per cent. ad valorem.

Hides were placed on the free list, while the rate on band and sole leather is reduced from 20 per cent. to 5 per cent. ad valorem; on dressed leather from 20 per cent. to 10 per cent.; boots and shoes from 25 to 10 per cent.

Fireworks are increased from 20 per cent. advalorem, to 12 cents per pound.

Wearing apparel, made of fur, from 35 to 50 per cent., and the higher class jewelry from 60 per cent. to 85 per cent. ad valorem.

For the first time moving picture films are named specifically in a tariff law. The bill gives the films a protective rate of 1½ cents per foot.

Petroleum, crude and refined, including kerosene, gasoline, naphtha, benzine and similar petroleum products are made free of duty, and left even without a countervailing duty.

The Dingley rates on women's and children's gloves are allowed to stand. The only change is a reduction on "Schmaschen" gloves not over 14 inches in length, on which the rate is made $1.25 a dozen pairs, instead of $1.75.

COLONIST TRAVEL IMPROVES.

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A remarkable improvement in colonist travel from the East is shown in figures submitted by the Southern Pacific Railroad. "Colonist" tickets are sold in spring and fall periods. The total number who came from the East in March and April of last year was 23,621. This year, for the same period, the report shows 27,740. These tickets are sold almost entirely to large centers, almost all of them reading either San Francisco or Los Angeles, although stop-overs are allowed. Of 15,807 who reached Sacramento this spring only 578 stopped over and of the latter number, 53 forfeited their tickets and remained. Probably two or three dozen others remained at other points in the valley. The others went on. The greater number went either direct or later to Southern California.

BLOOD WAS IMPOVERISHED

A Well-known Fort Worth Man Tells How He Was Cured.

Anaemia and Threatened Consumption Yield to the Tonic Treatment Which Has Cured So Many Cases Dependent Upon Thin Blood.

"Anaemia" is the doctor's name for lack of blood. It is readily curable by the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as is shown by the experience of Mr. D. S. Landis of No. 561 Bryan avenue, Fort Worth, Texas. He says:

"My sickness dates as far back as 1895, when an attack of bronchitis followed a severe cold. Another attack came in 1899 and was followed by hemorrhages and all the symptoms incident to anaemia. I had been under the doctor's care for about two years, taking cod-liver oil and other remedies, but was not helped. The doctors then advised a change of climate and I came to Western Texas and laid aside doctors' medicine.

"The doctors pronounced my trouble anaemia and my blood was so impoverished that I was threatened with consumption. Hemorrhage of the lungs was present and night sweats were common. I had all the varying symptoms accompanying my disease, such as palpitation of the heart, inactive liver and pressure on the chest. My kidneys also were affected. I suffered with indigestion throughout my sickness. It seemed as though I could never get sufficient air into my lungs, and there was a continual pressure about them and my heart.

"I first noticed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through reading a newspaper and bought some for a trial. Relief was apparent within a few days so far as headache and a general bloating was concerned. My other symptoms gradually grew less pronounced and I took the pills as directed until I felt cured. Even now, when well and strong, I take them as a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

QUIT YER BEEFIN'!

HOGAN WALKS OFF THE BAG.

Jaws the Umpire and Forgets His Base-Running.

Angels Again Grab Off Extra Inning Contest.

Koestner Seems to Have Lost Former Cunning.

Los Angeles, 4; Vernon, 3. (Eleven innings.)

Hogan's Hooligans again made the Angeles work overtime to beat them yesterday, and if the tail-enders had not engaged in some "bone-headed" work when they should have been up on their toes and playing the game, they might have come out on the long end, for taking the contest as a whole they were by no means outplayed.

It was anybody's game throughout, and not until the Hogan cadaver had made its last convulsive kick in the last of the eleventh, when the Angels had got a man home in their half of the same inning, did the champions' supporters yell with real delight. Even then there wasn't much yelling, for the shades of eve were falling fast and everybody began to "beat it" quick in order to avoid having a warmed-up dinner handed out at home.

McGreevy again ruled with an iron hand. In the first inning he fined Delmas ten bones and sent him to the bench for "beefing." Stovall was hit by a pitched ball and Bernard singled to right, sending Stovall to third and himself making second by the skin of his teeth. Delmas maintained that Bernard was out, and as he persisted in talking after the "ump" gave him the high sign to forget it, he was ordered off the diamond. McGreevy gave Hogan his orders before the game, and Hap behaved better than he usually does, although he broke out several times. On the whole, there was much less kicking than marred the previous games of the series. McGreevy says he means entirely to eliminate the useless jawing and the players are beginning to realize that it is to their advantage to "cut the rough stuff."

KOESTNER INEFFECTIVE.

Koestner again was on the mound for the champions, but the Hooligans began to work on his nerves in the seventh and Dillon took him out and sent in Nagle. Koestner was as wild as a March hare at times, and walked eight men. The Vernonites were not able to hit him hard, but two of the four bingles that they got off him counted for runs, and they had men on the bases almost every inning.

Brackenridge was found for twelve hits, but he pitched good ball at critical times, and, with the exception of the last inning, when the Angeles gathered in the winning tally, heaved in the form that ordinarily brings the team out on the big end.

When the Hooligans went to the bat in the last of the ninth they were one run to the bad, and many fans left the ground thinking that there would be no more scoring, but the tail-enders tied the score, and the champions had to take two more innings in order to pull out ahead. In the tenth, neither team did anything. From the second to sixth inning the score was tied. In the sixth the Angeles went ahead by one run, then the Hooligans made one in the seventh, the champions came back in the eighth, and the tail-enders retaliated in the ninth. The game belonged to the team that could sneak one over on its opponent, and this the Angels did, although the Hooligans died hard.

Vernon got the first run in its half of the opening inning, after the Angels had almost scored, Godwin being thrown out at the plate. Stovall received a dent in the ribs with a pitched ball, and Bernard followed with a single to right, on which Stovall reached third and Bernie got to second. Delmas thought he had caught his man at second, and protested so hard that McGreevy sent him to the mourners' bench. Wheeler took Delmas's place, and Howard went in at second.

GETTING WILD.

Koestner could not find the plate, and Brashear walked, filling the bases. Eagan hit a bouncer to Wheeler, and Stovall scored, Eagan being thrown out at first. Bernard started home on a squeeze play, but Haley did not hit the ball, and Bernie was easy meat. Haley fanned.

The Angels evened things up in their next attempt. After Wheeler had been carted to the morgue, Smith singled down the right field line, and Howard bingled between first and second. Coy allowed the ball to go through him, and Smith scored, Howard reaching third before the ball was returned to the diamond.

During the next three innings there was nothing doing. In the sixth the Angels broke the tie. Godwin and Dillon flew out, and then Beall singled to right. He started for second, and Hogan threw to Brashear, who made a poor throw to Eagan, and the runner was safe. Wheeler doubled to right, and Beall scored.

The Hooligans again pulled up in the seventh. Hogan hit a liner into Smith's hands. Brackenridge was passed to first, but was forced at second on Stovall's dinky bingle. Stovall stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Brashear also was given a free ticket, and Eagan hit a buncer to Smith that he beat out, Stovall scoring. The bases were full, but Haley hit to Howard, forcing Eagan at second, and retiring the side.

Dillon hit into left field in the eighth and Bernard's great one-handed stop kept the runner from reaching second. Beall went out, Wheeler singled to short center, and Haley juggled the ball, allowing Dillon to score.

QUIT YOUR BEEFING.

If Hogan had not had a nightmare at the switch in Vernon's half of the eighth the Hooligans might have cinched the game then and there. Coy flew out and Mott walked. Hogan singled to center. Dillon probably thought that this was too much, for he replaced Koestner by Nagle. Brackenridge bunted, forcing Mott at third. Hogan reached second, but was so excited over the decision regarding Mott that he walked off the bag toward the umpire and was caught. The crowd gave him the merry ha-ha.

But the Hogan incident was forgotten when the Hooligans tied the score in the ninth. The Vernon rooters had just about given up hope, and when Stovall opened by singling over second, the suburbanites began to yell. Daley allowed the ball to go through him and Stovall got to second, and then to third on Nagle's bad throw. Bernard struck out, but Brashear hit a bouncer to Smith. He did not have time to catch Stovall at home, but got the runner at first. Eagan struck out.

Wheeler scored the winning run for the Angels. He reached first on Haley's failure to handle his bouncer. Smith went out on a grounder, Wheeler going to second. Howard singled over Mott and Orendorff hit to right, sending Wheeler across the plate.

The Hooligans went out in one-two-three order in their last attempt.

The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Martinke, who was spiked by Smith Thursday, was out of the game. Bernard took his place in left field and Haley played second.

Umpire McGreevy is to officiate here next week. President Ewing sent the order yesterday.

Howard, after failing to make a hit in twenty-one trips to the plate, came through with three bingles yesterday.

Dillon and Brashear made several good stops of bad throws to first base.

Haley made a bad misplay in the sixth inning. He got a pass to first and then Coy hit a safe fly into right field. Haley started for second, and then, thinking the ball had been caught, turned around and "beat it" for first. Before he could be set right the ball was fielded to second and he was forced out.

Eagan made a great one-handed stop and throw of Godwin's grounder in the third period. The ball glanced off Mott's glove, but Truck grabbed it quick and made a perfect throw to first.

ONE BAD INNING.

OAK TWIRLER FALLS DOWN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND, July 30.—Portland overwhelmed Oakland with hits in the seventh inning today and won its game. Graney allowed only two hits during the contest, apparently because he was so wild that the visitors could not reach him. Oakland's two hits did not affect the result, their runs being secured through the local team's erratic playing. Score:

SOMETHING INTERESTING.

A Remarkable Showing and Opportunity With a Rapidly-Growing Industry.

Saturday, July 31, is the last day when you can buy "Home Builders" stock for $1.35 a share, as August 1 the price goes to $1.40.

In order that you may not miss this opportunity because of pressure of week-end business, "Home Builders" offices at 410 Mason Operahouse Bldg. will be kept open until 9 o'clock (with elevator service) Saturday evening. This will afford ample opportunity to a large number of people who have been making investigations and inquiries, who may not find it convenient to get in during the earlier business hours of Saturday and thereby miss the opportunity.

The growing demand for "Home Builders" stock by all classes of investors, evidenced by an increase of over 34 per cent. in the list of stockholders during May and June, is most encouraging, and shows unbounded confidence in the policy of dangerous speculation and costly debt avoided, now thoroughly established in the minds of the wise investors as well as with the company and its many stockholders.

The Times has inaugurated a special motor service to the above beaches, making it possible for the agent in each place to deliver the paper to patrons as early as the most exacting could wish. Patrons in either place not receiving an early morning delivery service will confer a favor by promptly advising the publishers of the fact.

ON THE MOVE.

FAST BOXING BEATS FLYNN.

Pueblo Fireman Aggressive, But Ineffective.

Dazes Jack in Second and Last Rounds.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, July 30.—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien had the better of Jim Flynn of Pueblo in a six-round go at the Auditorium tonight.

O'Brien's margin was not very great. In fact Flynn finished the stronger of the two and in the final round had O'Brien in visible distress, opening a cut over his left eye and sending him to his corner a little unsteady.

Flynn throughout the fight rushed continually. He landed hard and often on O'Brien in the second round, which went to his credit. In the first, third, fourth and fifth O'Brien got his left jab and right uppercut in working order and had a good shade in all, although Flynn was fighting all the time.

O'Brien opened an old cut over Flynn's left eye in the third round and made it his mark to the close, the eye by that time being nearly shut.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

First round—Flynn rushed and missed a left swing, O'Brien landing left and right to head as he backed away. Flynn landed a light left to the stomach and O'Brien sent him to the floor with a left flush on the paw, his forehead striking the canvas. A moment later he slipped and fell. Flynn rushed constantly, with O'Brien cool and jabbing the fireman with his left at will. O'Brien's round.

Fourth round—Flynn rushed, landing a hard right to the body and followed with a right hook to the jaw, rocking O'Brien's head. O'Brien stalled for a moment as the crowd hissed, but came with a hard right uppercut to the chin, followed by two more in the same place. O'Brien's round.

Fifth round—They exchanged lefts to the jaw and O'Brien put a hard right on Flynn's bad eye, a relic of his battle with Papke. Flynn rushed and slipped to the floor. O'Brien kept away and ripped a right uppercut to the jaw and repeated it as the gong rang. O'Brien's round.

Sixth round—Flynn came in like a whirlwind and cut O'Brien's mouth with a left hook. They exchanged rights to the head and the fireman choped a left to the jaw and a hard right jolt to the stomach. Flynn landed a hard right and left to the head and rushed O'Brien to the ropes, landing a shower of left and right hooks. They were clinched at the gong. Flynn's round.

FAST BATTLES.

HUDSON KNOCKED OUT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three cracking good fights, all resulting in knockouts, were seen at Dreamland Rink tonight, when Promoter Lercari pulled off his July matches.

The surprise was in the main event in which Lew Powell, a San Francisco lightweight, knocked out Chick Hudson of Seattle in the fifth round. Powell showed wonderful improvement. He was aggressive and had a good punch. Hudson, who never had a chance to win, was knocked down in the third and fourth rounds, and finally knocked out in the fifth with a vicious right poke.

In the second event, Kid Harrison knocked out Jack Clifford, who was recently defeated by Battling Nelson, in the ninth round of a scheduled fifteen-round affair. Clifford had a good lead for seven rounds, but tired at the close, and was put down with a straight right.

In the preliminary ten-rounder, Tony Silva was knocked down nine times before he was finally knocked out for keeps by Roscoe Taylor. Both are recent graduates from the amateur ranks.

Sol Levinson refereed all three matches. There was a poor attendance, not more than $2000 being represented.

Young Corbett was introduced and asked for donations to get back East with his wife. He received $135 from the fans in contributions.

SAN PEDRO BOUTS.

BATTELLE BEATS PICO.

Billy Battelle was given the decision over Young Pico at the end of a fifteen-round bout at the San Pedro Athletic Club last night. Battelle led all the way, reaching Pico's face with left and right chops that did considerable damage. Pico landed a good many body blows. Pico had decidedly the worst of it in the last four rounds. Both men were weak at the finish.

H. Craese of San Pedro knocked out Bob Walker of Chicago in thirty seconds. The Chicagoan was completely outclassed.

Joe Livermore of Los Angeles knocked Young Arcy of San Pedro through the ropes in the second round and the San Pedro boy hurt his shoulder so that he was unable to continue. The referee declared the bout off without giving a decision.

Jack Franks refereed the main event.

LANGFORD AND KETCHEL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion of the world, and Sam Langford will box in the star bout at the Fairmont Athletic Club this city on September 3. The men will meet at catch-weights and the bout is scheduled to go ten rounds.

When the announcement was made tonight by Manager Billy Gibson of the Fairmont Club, it created great surprise. The managers of fight clubs all over the country have been trying to get these fighters to sign for a match.

FEW PERFECT SCORES.

GLIDDEN TOUR REACHES GOAL.

Kansas City Welcomes Dust-Begrimed Pilgrims.

Autoists Finish Long Trip With Record Run.

Awards Will Not Be Made for at Least Two Days.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The longest and direst reliability test in the history of American motoring ended here this afternoon, when the sixth annual Glidden tour reached Kansas City, bringing to completion the big cross-country run which started from Detroit July 12.

Two Premiers, two Pierce-Arrows and the No. 5 Marmon, entrants for the Glidden prize, reached here without penalization, and both Premiers and the No. 100 Moline hold clean scores in the Hower cup contest. None of the three cars in competition for the Detroit trophy hold perfect scores, the American Simplex reaching Kansas City with the lowest total of points.

The final standing of the cars will not be known until the Technical Committee has finished with the examination which is a feature of the new rules in force this year.

The final day, which proved to be the hardest of the many strenuous ones experienced by the Gliddenites since the start, removed two cars from the perfect score list of the Hower cup when the final goal was in sight. By a coincidence, both were penalized for the same trouble, a broken wheel.

The Chalmers-Detroit No. 105, driven by John MacHesky, which had escaped penalization throughout the long run, met its Waterloo near the small town of Bellevue. A sharp turn, directly following a bridge, coupled with a bad tire, was responsible for the trouble. While crossing the bridge one of the front tires flew off, and the driver was unable to keep his car in the road, the machine skidding into the ditch and badly damaging the wheel.

The Chalmers press car, No. 88, which was following close behind, transferred a wheel to the disabled contestant, which will result in its disqualification unless the car is withdrawn.

The Lexington, No. 114, was within two hours' run of here when a rear wheel dropped off and nearly threw the car in the ditch. Repairs were made and the car succeeded in reaching Kansas City.

The Glidden tour, which ended today, stands without a parallel as the greatest long-distance reliability run ever undertaken by motor cars. Since leaving Detroit the tourists have crossed ten States and traveled a total distance of nearly 2700 miles over roads of every description.

HEARTY WELCOME.

Kansas City was officially in the hands of the Glidden tourists today. Amid the honking of 500 cars that assembled late this afternoon at the Kansas State line, Mayor Thomas T. Crittenden of Kansas City, Mo., met the incoming tourists and extended to them an official welcome.

Following these ceremonies, and escorted by practically every motor car in the city, the Gliddenites paraded through the principal streets and finally officially ended their tour by "checking in" at the Coates House. The Kansas City Auto Club and other organizations are carrying out an extensive programme of entertainment. The cars were taken to Convention Hall tonight, where they are being held until the Technical Committee has completed its examination.

THE TEST.

Every part of each car will be taken out and examined. Measurements will be made for the springs and frame sagging, and the result will be compared with each measurement at the start of the tour, and the winner made known.

Chairman Hower stated that while there are five perfect score cars competing for the Glidden trophy and five for the Hower, he believes every car on the tour will be given some penalties at the last test.

Wherever the examiners find the cars to be out of order the drivers and mechanics will be instructed to make all repairs necessary to put the machines in first-class running condition and penalties will be levied accordingly.

On the last leg of their 2638.8-mile journey the Glidden tourists left Salina this morning for Kansas City. The distance was 212.8 miles. The last car did not get away until 8:20 a.m. A drizzling rain was falling.

The route of the run was through a part of Kansas that has experienced heavy rains of late and the roads were in bad condition. The cars were in good condition at the start and the tourists were outspoken in their regret at the near ending of the long journey.

BAKER'S GREAT ANNUAL

SHOE SALE

Starts Saturday Morning at Both Stores

Do not fail to attend this famous shoe sale. This year it is easily the biggest bargain event we have ever conducted—which means the greatest shoe sale the city has ever known. During the past six months we showed more different shoe styles than during any previous year, and as many as any other two shoe concerns in the city combined. "Every new style every season" will continue to be the slogan of this business.

Our concern now is to weed out as many of our present lines as we have added new ones for next season. We cannot afford to give much time to a clean-up this year, as our regular business is too good to be interfered with long. So we have made the prices low enough—the reductions keen enough—to actually compel a rapid clearance.

Attend This Sale Early—Such Values Won't Last Long

Bargains for Men, Women and Children

Every section of our tremendous stock has contributed to this clearance event. You will find the very styles now most in demand at the most reduced prices, as the reductions have been graded according to the number of pairs on hand; the fewer the pairs, the bigger the reductions.

TWENTY-FOUR-HOUR EVENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Fiat led at 2 o'clock this morning in the twenty-four-hour automobile race on the Brighton Beach motordrome.

The score at 2 o'clock after five hours racing was: Fiat, 254; Simplex, Ranier, 238; P. & S., 224; Lozier, Acme, 158; Stearns, 141; Haynes.

NEW YORK, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before a crowd that grew from a modest four thousand at noon until it filled every nook and corner of the big grand stand and field inclosure by 9 o'clock, the old Brighton Beach race track, today, experienced its inaugural as a motordrome. The real interest of the programme was in the start of the twenty-four-hour race. Eight cars were lined up and, at 9:05, Fred J. Wagner, the starter, gave the word.

There was much betting among the automobilists on the outcome of the "twice around the clock" struggle with the Simplex, Lozier, Acme, Stearns, and Fiat the mediums of many wagers. From the way Mulford started with the Lozier it was evident that he intended to make a steady race of it and the big car buzzed along the inner rail without any effort to do other than hold its position.

Just before midnight the inevitable accident occurred when the Stearns car, driven by J. B. Marquis, overturned on Death Curve just as it was turning into the home stretch. It was at first thought that Marquis was killed, but the doctors said he was not fatally wounded, that as far as they could discover he only had superficial injuries on the head, including a cut over the eye and bruises all over his legs and body. Lang, his mechanician escaped with a bad shaking up and bruises.

The cars left in the following order: First, Acme, Patschke and Vantine; second, Lozier, Mulford, Cobe and ...; third, Simplex, Robertson and ...; fourth, Stearns, Gross and ...; fifth, Palmer, Singer, Howard and Lescault; sixth, Rainier, Disbrow and Land; seventh, Fiat, de Palma, Parker and Hawley; eighth, ..., Swaigert and Loonsy.

The Simplex took the lead at the start and led for six miles, when a stop for repair permitted the Stearns car to go to the front and make the pace.

Robertson, in the Simplex, at the end of the second hour had driven 102 miles, to 104 made by the Fiat. The Stearns was third, with 101 miles.

During the third hour the Simplex gained another lap on the Fiat, which remained slightly in the lead.

The race meet opened this afternoon with one mile speed trials, which were open. Ralph de Palma, in the Fiat "Cyclone," was easily first. The flying racer finished the mile in 54 3-5s., close to world-record time for circular track racing.

Again, De Palma carried off the honors in the five-mile open event, when his Fiat ran away from the field and finished in 5m. 51 3-5s., which is slow time.

The fifty-mile event was a runaway race for the Buick car, which finished alone in 59:09 2-5.

The Chalmers-Detroit car won the 100-mile race by a margin of nearly six miles; time, 1:52:31 3-5. The Spo car was second and the Midland third. Only three cars finished.

The Spo car was driven by John Jubas, and finished two laps behind. The Kissel-Kar, Wally Owens driving, quit the race in the eighth mile, something going amiss with the car.

In the thirty-third mile of the Marathon, the Acme, running third, lost a rear wheel at the top of the stretch, but Dagborn slowed the car and no one was hurt. The Chalmers completed the fiftieth mile in the lead, in 56:23.

In the ten-mile handicap motorcycle race, Edward Seery and Fred Voelker, each of whom was riding a seven horse-power machine, dashed into a fence. Seery escaped with a shaking up. Voelker sustained several bad cuts on the head, but was not seriously injured.

The ten-mile open handicap motorcycle race was won by Harold Ovington, three-and-one-half-horse-power (scratch,) 10:16:25; J. F. McLoughlin, six-horse-power (60 seconds,) second; F. B. Decker (90 seconds,) third.

DETROIT MEETING ENDS.

HAMBURG BELLE'S FAST MILE SETS TWO TROTTING RECORDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DETROIT, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hamburg Belle, paced by a runner, broke two trotting records in the closing day's racing of the Grand Circuit races here today. The mare lowered her own record by two seconds and lowered the record of Michigan, making the new mark 2:02¾.

The sons of John E. Madden, owners of the mare, were presented with a handsome silver cup.

LIFE'S SEAMY SIDE.

WIFE FORGETS DOCTOR'S DEATH.

She Cannot Remember Firing the Fatal Shot.

Smell of Powder First Memory After the Killing.

Mrs. Collins Wants to Stand Her Trial Soon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Emerging today for the first time from the hysteria which had held her since she slew her husband more than a week ago, Mrs. Kate Collins, widow of Dr. R. A. Collins, declared she had no wish to deny the crime nor to evade its consequences.

It was the first rational statement Mrs. Collins has made, and she prefaced it by saying again that she had married a man too young for her and that other women had stolen his love.

"The first thing I remember after the shooting was the smell of powder," she said. "What occurred prior to that time I do not seem to remember.

"I guess I must have killed my husband. I remember having the revolver in my hand."

Mrs. Collins was questioned as to what had occurred just prior to the shooting and what words were exchanged between herself and husband, but declared she remembered nothing about it.

"I want them to hurry up and get through with the trial," she declared. "I do not care what is done with me. I have no wish to live, now that my husband is gone."

Mrs. Collins will undergo examination on an insanity charge tomorrow.

CONDUCTOR SHOOTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—As the outcome of an altercation over payment of a fare, Charles C. Todd, a Southern Pacific brakeman, was shot through the neck today by Lloyd H. Brubaker, a United Railroads conductor in charge of the car upon which Todd was a passenger.

Todd was not seriously wounded, and when Brubaker after surrendering himself, entered the hospital where the wounded man was under treatment, the latter extended his hand and assumed responsibility for the quarrel.

Brubaker, who was charged with assault to commit murder in spite of Todd's declaration that he would refuse to prosecutt, declared that he believed Todd was about to draw a weapon when he fired.

BULLET PROOF.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MARYSVILLE, July 30.—Resenting the accusation that she had stolen $10 from him, a colored woman shot a Hindoo laborer this afternoon, near Gridley. The Hindoo's head was not more than a yard from the muzzle of the woman's rifle as she fired point-blank into his face. The bullet struck the Hindoo squarely between the eyes.

To the utter amazement of the physician who was hastily summoned, the ball was found flattened against the frontal bone and as large as silver quarter. Dr. Thompson removed the disc of lead and the Hindoo soon regained consciousness. The bullet apparently merely stunned him.

Began Too Early.

"Baron Fucash was rather exacting as to the dot."

"That wasn't what broke the engagement," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I don't object to seeing a young man look out for his interests. But when he applied for a cash advance in order to buy an engagement ring I must say it struck me as unbusinesslike."—[Washington Star.

The Japanese laborers of the Waipahu plantation on the Island of Oahu who were working on a profit-sharing basis when the strike was declared, returned to work yesterday. The plantation at Waipahu is where the strike had its origin. Other strikers are scattering and the leaders of the movement are gradually losing their control of the discontented laborers.

From the Boston Herald:

Classified Liners.

Times classified rates: The rate for inserting "Want" ads. in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word, each insertion; minimum charge, 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 50 cents: "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," Church Notices, Miscellaneous," and "Bath and Massage."

"Liner" (Classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Rates 1½c per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "Liners," as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS:
Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.
Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.
Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.
The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.
THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE LINERS—
Classified real estate advertisements for insertion in THE SUNDAY TIMES must be in the office not later than 10:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Other "want" advertisements for Sunday insertion will be taken over the counter until 11:30 p.m.
The great volume of liners printed in The Sunday Times, numbering regularly over 5000 separate announcements, makes this regulation absolutely necessary in order to get the big Sunday issue out on time. •

PERSONAL—Business.

PERSONAL—TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS: Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.
Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.
Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.
The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS:

Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.

Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.

Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.

The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS:

Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.

Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.

Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.

The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

THAW.

counsel, Charles Morschauser, showed much interest today in a report that Evelyn Thaw intended to begin a suit for divorce as soon as the present proceedings closed.

"This is the first intimation we have had of such a suit," said Mr. Morschauser, "and we have received no notice at all from Mrs. Thaw or her attorneys."

Mr. Morschauser said that so far as he knew Thaw had no intention of suing for separation or divorce.

"Will he contest his wife's suit?" the attorney was asked.

"Most certainly if she brings it," said Mr. Morschauser.

"Mrs. Thaw has no ground for divorce," he continued. "She has always been well treated. At present she is receiving from the Thaw family $6200 a year."

It is alleged Mrs. Thaw will base her suit on the revelations of the present trial regarding Thaw's alleged conduct at the house of Susan Merrill.

Mr. Morschauser called attention to the fact that Thaw had denied these stories.

"As for the 'Mrs. Reid' said to have been introduced there as his wife," said Mr. Morschauser, "that part of the story has not been substantiated."

JEROME QUIZZES THAW.

Although Dist.-Atty. Jerome announced at the close of yesterday's session of the court hearing that he was through with Thaw, he recalled him to the stand this morning.

"The two or three more questions, which Jerome said yesterday he might still have for the relator, proved to be a long string.

He probed into Thaw's own ideas of his mental condition and contrasted his answers with those of the fourteen alienists who at various times pronounced him insane. Thaw clung to his oft-repeated phrase that he was not "medically" insane, although he might have been "legally" insane when he killed White. Jerome was primed with the various opinions of the experts but Thaw seemed to have them just as accurately fixed in his mind and once or twice corrected the prosecutor. He admitted that some of the physicians might have been right. Others, he said, were "mistaken." One he declared presented wilfully a distorted verdict.

THAW'S CALM CONFIDENCE.

The courtroom was even warmer than yesterday and Thaw had worked with his counsel until 10:30 last night examining a bundle of Jerome's documentary evidence which he expected to have explained today. Nevertheless, he presented the air of a man whose task is over, a calm confidence that showed he was satisfied with his previous showing and assurance that he was a match for the District Attorney.

Thaw asked for the reports of several experts and pointed out several alleged inconsistencies in their testimony.

"Well," began Jerome, "here were all these trained specialists who thought you were insane."

"Not all of them," interrupted Thaw. "I don't think Dr. Hamilton and Dr. White did."

Thaw said the alienists thought he suffered from "defective reason," and Jerome jumped at his chance.

"What did they mean by 'defective reason?'"

"I think the term explains itself."

"Explain it," insisted Jerome, "what do you think it means?"

THAW IS CONFUSED.

Thaw looked down and was unable to find words to frame his reply. He seemed relieved when Jerome branched to the decision of Judge Morschauser before whom Thaw made his first effort for liberty from Matteawan.

"Didn't Judge Morschauser declare you were hopelessly insane?" demanded the cross-examiner.

"No," said Thaw. "He held that I had not proven myself sane."

Mr. Morschauser asked a word with his client and Jerome protested.

"This kind of thing has gone on from the first," he said. "This man gets up in the air and his counsel interrupts to give him a chance to recover himself."

"Whatever Judge Morschauser may have said in his decision," asserted Thaw, "I know that he thinks now I am perfectly sane, for I talked with him two weeks ago and he said so."

"I AM NOW SANE."

"Explain what you mean when you say 'you are legally sane,'" exclaimed Jerome.

"I am of the same opinion as I told the jury and as all the medical men who have examined me in the last three years are, and I know Judge Morschauser is—that I am now sane and there is no danger of the recurrence of my trouble."

"Do you think you were legally insane when you killed White?"

"That is my best opinion, but I don't know."

"What do you mean by being insane?"

"Defective reason," replied Thaw, and found, too late, that he had brought the discussion right back to its former troublesome question.

"What is 'defective reason?'" flashed Jerome.

Thaw pondered, and finally answered:

"Not being responsible for my acts."

Speaking of the alienists, the witness remarked:

"You can't blame them for doing their best to make out a good case for me. They were being well paid for it."

"I AM INNOCENT."

The District Attorney suddenly switched to the testimony of Clifford W. Hartridge and Susan Merrill. Thaw denied that he had ever rented rooms at the latter's houses.

"Do you think you were innocent or guilty when you killed White?" asked Jerome, nimbly jumping back again.

Justice Mills put the question this way:

"Do you think you are now an innocent man in the eyes of the law?"

"As the law is laid down for a jury," answered Thaw, "I think I am innocent."

"Why?"

Thaw, murmured something about "brainstorm."

Jerome asked about the story that he once scalded a girl in a hot bath tub, and that he had taken a girl named Ruth Lambert automobiling in Paris and brought her back naked, with welts from a beating.

"Crazy lies," said Thaw, contemptuously.

Refreshing his memory from a manuscript in his hand, the District Attorney recalled other scandalous stories about the witness that came out during his trials. Thaw's comment was the same—"lies."

The witness was again at his ease.

DENIES CRUELTY TALES.

Tales of cruelty in early youth—beating a boy and driving a horse to death, the former told the sanity commission by a cousin named Lyons, the latter told by his brother, Josiah Thaw, the witness likewise denied.

His explanation was that his relatives, in their zeal to save him on the insanity plea, might have used or exaggerated "mere rumors."

"Wasn't it true that you were known as 'Mad Harry?'" questioned Jerome.

"Yes, I might have been called that; but the same thing may be true of almost anybody. For instance, I've heard you called 'Crazy Jerome,' but for that reason I don't think you are insane."

"Why did you think you and your wife might take Pittsburgh by storm and that you might be Senator from Pennsylvania?" went on Jerome, referring to a letter in which the witness made this remark.

"I don't know. We would have settled down comfortably and got along. In my case money would not have been as much of a handicap to a political career as in most cases."

JEROME IS CONTEMPTUOUS.

"My father," explained Thaw, "made his money mainly in railroad building and in starting steamship lines. In other words, he made $10 for his country for every one for himself, and he gave twice as much to charity as he gave to me and my brothers and sisters."

"And did you think," said Jerome, contemptuously, "that a man who who could not spell and who could not use the English language correctly, could ever be Senator from Pennsylvania?"

The question passed unanswered.

Thaw explained his father's discrimination against him in his will by the fact that his father was ill when he wrote this codicil, and might have been angered by his (Harry's) failure to come and see him. Later, Thaw pleaded with Jerome not to push his examinations regarding one of the unfortunate girls mentioned in his own will.

"I have heard that she is trying to lead a better life," he explained, "and you would pull her down."

Jerome dropped this line of interrogation.

POINTS OUT JEROME'S ERRORS.

Thaw declared that his valet Bedford's death was indirectly due to his treatment by the District Attorney's office. Although Bedford was sick, the witness said, he was compelled to wait about Jerome's office for two days without food. At the end of that time he was sent to the hospital where he died of appendicitis.

The relator pointed out several mistakes that he said Jerome had made in the trial. In these remarks he referred to his wife as "poor Evelyn."

Jerome introduced Thaw's notes on the conduct of his lawyers at the two trials in which the attorneys were roundly censured.

"I hate to read this," remarked the prisoner. "I am afraid these gentlemen may come here and testify that I am insane."

"No danger," said Jerome.

Thaw was excused at noon by Jerome after two hours' questioning. His counsel said he would put him on the stand later. Then Justice Mills went to the heart of the case with a series of questions.

JUSTICE MILLS AT HELM.

"Do you thoroughly believe what you told Dr. Evans as to your belief regarding White? Were your beliefs honest?"

"Distinctly yes."

"You say Evans was given to understand by outside sources that your beliefs were unfounded and that this led him to report you as insane?"

"Yes."

"At the present time do you hold the same belief as to White's practices?"

"I have found I was mistaken in some things."

"But in substance do you believe that White committed these offenses against young girls?"

"Yes."

"Do you hold that you have ample evidence? Have you more evidence on that subject than the statements of various women who said they had lost their virtue?"

"Yes, sir; Mr. Comstock."

"But Mr. Comstock told you he could not corroborate this and make certain proof."

"No, Mr. Comstock told me he had unmistakable proof, and I thought his judgment better than mine."

THAW HESITATES.

"Did you consider the statement of abandoned women to be trustworthy evidence?"

"By no means."

"How long before White's death did you have these fixed ideas as to his acts?"

"As early as June, 1903."

"These papers and exhibits indicate that your mental attitude then was that your act in killing White was praiseworthy to be compared with the act of David in killing Goliath. Did you make this suggestion to Mr. Delmas, believing that it was right to make such an appeal to the jury?"

Thaw hesitated and began to stammer.

"You need not excuse yourself," said the justice, "for anything you did in fighting for your life. Under such circumstances a man is expected to take every chance."

Court adjourned at 4:15 p.m. until Monday at 10 a.m. Jerome was reading old evidence when court adjourned and he said he had "pages" more.

GRIM "LOCAL INDUSTRY."

Sheriff's Plan to Import Professional Hangman Meets With Opposition.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILKESBARRE (Pa.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sheriff Rhodda, when he returned here today from Scranton, where he saw the professional hangman, Van Hise, hang Damazio yesterday, found unexpected opposition to his plan of engaging Van Hise to hang Tom Willis and Stanley Hasarko.

The opposition was contained in several letters from local men, who desire to do the hanging, if the Sheriff does not care for it.

Where Long Life Is Common.

Longevity is common in Sweden and Norway. Thus in the former country, mortality, which in 1880 averaged only 17 per 1000 inhabitants, in 1906 had fallen to 14. Infant mortality shrank from 112 to 82 per 1000. In Norway the rate showed a reduction from 16 to 13 per 1000, and that of infants from 95 to 69.

For these two Scandinavian rates the hygienic habits of the population are responsible; public baths, the admirable organization of hospitals, which receive the rich as well as the poor; the cleanliness of habitation, and the widespread precautions that obtain among all classes.

Again, there is the public attitude toward inevitable sicknesses. Swede and Norwegian both have faith in recent scientific and medical discoveries. Consequently each contagious case becomes a public matter, and individual liberty is never placed in opposition to the general welfare.—[Harper's Weekly.

MEXICO SHAKEN.

city. Three bodies have been taken from the ruins. The churches, customhouses and all of the hotels in the place were rendered uninhabitable, while not a house in the city escaped damage. All of the buildings along the water front were leveled.

The first shock at Acapulco occurred at 4:10 in the morning, and the people, knowing by past experiences, what to expect, fled to the open. They had hardly gotten out when a series of six severe shocks threw the more unstable buildings to the ground.

There was no tidal wave, but the Consul added the shocks were more severe than those of 1907, which inundated a part of the city. His message said that no American was killed or injured.

A message received from Puebla reports one death, that of M. Tillimo, a guest at the Hotel Jardin, who died of fright.

Reports from Vera Cruz, Oaxaca, Tlacotalpam, Silicayoapam, Duznan, Meroteon and Pachuca indicate more or less property damage, but no loss of life.

WATER SUPPLY CUT.

The principal water main of this city was broken, and the supply will be curtailed for a few days. Many points in the State of Guerrero known to be in the earthquake zone have not yet been heard from.

A telegram from Iguala, State of Guerrero, sent tonight, says that the whole region is trembling with frequent severe shocks. The people are terrified. The earthquakes have been continuous for nearly fourteen hours. No deaths have occurred.

Each new shock is leveling buildings in Chilpancingo. Such telegraph offices as were open throughout Guerrero during the afternoon and early evening closed at 10 o'clock tonight, ending communication with the stricken district.

Only in the towns of Guerrero, where there are stone buildings, has there been much loss of life.

The earthquake is said to have been heavier than that of 1902, when the towns of Chilpancingo and Chilapa were destroyed with the loss of hundreds of lives. The earthquakes which have been experienced today were similar to those which wrought so much damage in San Francisco in 1906 in that the movement was both trepidatory and oscillatory.

TIDAL WAVE CARRIES MANY VICTIMS AWAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Late official and private dispatches tonight confirm reports of heavy loss of life and great destruction to property in Central and Southwestern Mexico early this morning.

The disaster at Acapulco today was not alone from the earthquake but from a tidal wave also. This wave did more damage than the quake, for it swept the bamboo houses that line the shore from their foundations and carried many of the inhabitants away, mostly women and children.

The city is right on the bay, the more substantial houses built back on cliffs and the smaller houses running down to the water front. There is a prison near the water on an island and this is reported inundated. A fire started, it is learned, in a part of the town, following the earthquake. Whether it was checked is unknown.

This is the second catastrophe in Acapulco recently. Only a few months ago the Flores Theater burned from a moving-picture film and several hundred persons who had gathered to do honor to Gov. Demien Flores, were thrown into a panic and many killed and injured.

Between the City of Mexico and the city of Acapulco, a distance of 300 kilometers in an air line south, are many large towns, from all of which come reports of loss of life and great destruction of property. Cuernavaca, near the City of Mexico and the country home of Maximilian when he set himself up as Emperor of the Mexicans, suffered considerable damage and several lives are reported lost. It is reported that considerable damage was done to the Maximillian castle, which is now maintained as museum.

MANY TOWNS IN LIST.

Toluca, Puebla, Morelos and Chilpancingo are the other biggest towns that suffered. At Chilpancingo, about 100 kilometers inland from Acapulco, half a hundred persons were reported late this afternoon as killed or seriously injured.

The town of Manzanillo (not the seaport) near there, which was recently wiped out by fire and where the people were just rebuilding, suffered again, but as there were few substantial houses to be shaken down, only a few persons were injured.

Rio Balsas, the southern terminus of the Cuernavaca road, was hard hit and several persons were buried beneath the falling buildings. It is a very old town on the banks of the river, and many of the adobe structures were frail and many having suffered in previous earthquakes, it did not require any great shock to topple them over.

Reports from interior towns of Reopan, Atoyac, Zapote, Providencia, Ayutla, Nexpa, Acatian and Chilapa say that heavy damage was done and that there was great loss of life. Teloiapan, Iguala, Cocula, Chiatla, Cutzumala, Amatepec, Sultepec and other towns north of the Balsas River are also reported as heavy sufferers, but only rumors carried through the country by natives are responsible for many of the reports, although Federal wires run to some of them and direct communication has been had.

GREAT FISSURES.

Great fissures are reported in the ground in many places and bridges are reported as thrown out of plumb along the line of the Cuernavaca Railroad at the southern end near the Balsas River. The shock was felt as far southeast as Oaxaca, where there was some damage, but not of a heavy nature.

Whether any damage was done in the interior of the State of Oaxaca or on down in Chiapas is not known, as wires are down all over that part of the country. So many of the towns are isolated that it will be weeks before complete reports are in. Many of them will come in by mail from the officials before the extent of the damage is known.

Many Americans are in the earthquake zone on summer tours, and fear is felt for the safety of many of them. Robert Silverburg of El Paso was in Mexico City en route to Acapulco with a party of British capitalists to inspect some big timber tracts in Guerrero during the earthquake today and was only prevented from being in Acapulco by the delay of the party in reaching here.

Americans fill the parks in Mexico City tonight, afraid to return to their homes, as secondary shocks usually follow a first shock in this country, and they are afraid to remain inside their hotels.

The last disastrous earthquake in Southeastern Mexico was on March 28, last year, when 500 people were killed and the cities of Chilpancingo and Chilapa were practically destroyed and three villages wrecked.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

His address was devoted chiefly to consolidation. R. P. Probasco, vice-president, spoke about the chances for trade with the west coast of Mexico and Central America, in connection with the free harbor project.

W.C.T.U. Entertainment.

Preparing for Druggists.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is making arrangements for the entertainment of the members of the American Pharmaceutical Association, which is to convene here on August 16, and continue in session until August 20. A public reception will be tendered the visitors at the Chamber of Commerce, and several excursions to nearby points of interest will be given. It is expected that at least 5000 people will be attracted to Los Angeles by this gathering of pharmacists.

Grand Army to Salt Lake.

The local members of the G.A.R., Ladies of the G.A.R., W.R.C., Daughters of Veterans and other affiliated organizations are preparing for the trip to the National Encampment at Salt Lake City. A special train will leave by the Salt Lake route on Saturday, August 7, at 8 p.m. A large number of reservations are made. Department Commander Daubenspeck of the G.A.R.; Mrs. Ella Van Horne, president of the W.R.C.; Mrs. Lizzie Belle Cross, president of the Daughters of Veterans, and other prominent officers of the patriotic organizations will go with the party.

Surprise for Mrs. Murphy.

Mrs. Francis Murphy has returned from her beach home for a short time, and is living at her residence at the corner of Eighteenth street and Wilton Place. On Thursday evening she was given a surprise party by the Francis Murphy Harvesters and their friends, filling the large residence to overflowing. Splendid refreshments were served and the evening was spent in social enjoyment and music. It was a reunion of the original helpers in the gospel temperance work in this city, and Mrs. Murphy received her self-appointed guests most joyously.

BREVITIES.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in the Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1¼c Sunday. Close calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

There are none better. Buy and Boost, and keep your money at home where it will do you and yours the most good!

FOES NOW AGREE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) July 30.—Plans are being outlined for the reorganization of the Idaho Smelting and Refining Company. If they work out, all the warring factions will be included in the deal and the plant at Ponderay, Idaho, will again be in operation.

It is believed here that Greenough brothers, J. Herbert Anderson and the prominent men in the Fidelity National Bank will coöperate in the new organization. This would mean a settlement of the sensational Greenough-Anderson fights in the United States and the State courts of Washington and Idaho.

UNION OBJECTS TO AUTO.

Journeyman Plumber Uses Car to Ride to and From Work Called a Scab.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) July 30.—Because he was rich enough to buy an automobile and then used it to convey himself to and from his work, Otto Klessig, a journeyman plumber, got into trouble with his union and today was arrested for trying to whip the secretary of the local branch for calling him a scab.

After the purchase of the automobile Klessig was fined $25 for using it to ride to and from work in alleged violation of the union rules.

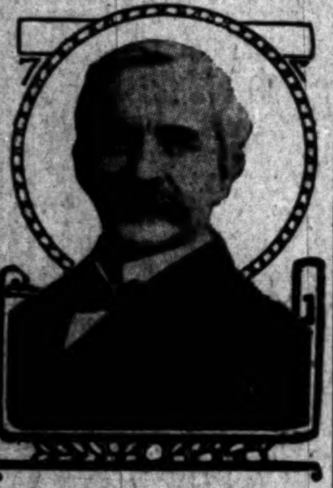
BROWN GOES INTO MEXICO.

Assistant Pastor Leaves the Temple Church.

Large Camp Ready for the Adventists.

Noted Chicago Preacher to Be Heard Tomorrow.

Rev. Edwin R. Brown, assistant pastor of Temple Baptist Church, has tendered his resignation and accepted an appointment to take charge of an English-speaking Baptist Church in the City of Mexico. Mr. Brown came to Temple Church directly after his graduation from the seminary, a little more than two years ago, and has become a favorite with the people of the church and others who enjoy his acquaintance. He has been offered several good congregations in and about Los Angeles, but when the offer of the Baptist Mission Board came to him at the Portland convention, a few weeks ago, to send him to Mexico, he at once determined to accept.



Rev. Dr. A. C. Dixon, who will preach in this city three times tomorrow.

"There are not many fellows who care to go there," he said yesterday, "and I thought there may be a chance to do more good than in some easier places. I know I will like it, and go there expecting to stay."

As Dr. Burdette's assistant, Mr. Brown has had charge of a great many details in connection with the activities of Temple Church, and has been in charge of the Temple-street mission, where he has preached once every Sunday, and also conducted a Sunday-school.

ADVENTIST CAMP.

AGAIN SEE WORLD'S END.

On a picturesque spot at the junction of Santa Monica and Western avenues, the Seventh Day Adventists have erected a city of about 200 tents, in preparation for their camp meeting, which will open on August 5 and continue for ten days. In the center is a large pavilion, under which the meetings will be held, capable of seating 2000 people. The entire camp will be lighted with electricity, and have other modern conveniences.

The announcement for the camp-meeting calls attention to the fulfillment of prophecy in the present day. It says:

"Signs of the approaching end are thickening all around us. Never since the fall of ancient Babylon has prophecy fulfilled so rapidly as it is being fulfilled today. The future of Turkey is most minutely outlined in the prophecies of Daniel and Revelation, and the daily papers bring records of the fulfillment of the word of God. The most important events in the history of the world are to follow the fall of the Turk."

Two blocks from the Advent camp, the German Methodists are holding their camp meeting, on Santa Monica avenue, where they have erected a large number of tents.

DIXON TO SPEAK.

TEMPLE AUDITORIUM TOMORROW

Rev. Dr. A. C. Dixon, pastor of Moody's Church, Chicago, where he succeeded Dr. R. A. Torrey, began his work at the Baptist Assembly on Friday, and will be heard in this city three times tomorrow. He will preach morning and evening in Temple Auditorium, as a substitute for Dr. Burdette, and will address the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. in the afternoon.

Dr. Dixon is a southern man and comes of a noted family, his father and one brother being well-known Baptist preachers, and he is a brother of Tom Dixon, author of "The Clansman" and "The Leopard's Spots." He has a reputation as a great orator. Before coming to Chicago, he was pastor of churches in New York, Brooklyn and Boston. While he is a Baptist, it is declared that he "has the ear" of every denomination in America and England.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

MOVING PICTURES IN PULPIT.

Fred C. Hagin, who spent nine years in Japan, and who has traveled widely over the world, will give a remarkably interesting moving picture show at the First Christian Church, Eleventh and Hope streets, tomorrow evening. His topic is "The Needs of the Heathen World." He will show ten or twelve rolls of moving pictures of India, Africa, China and Japan, and also about 100 stereopticon slides. The entertainment is free, the purpose of the lecturer being to create sentiment in the interest of foreign missions.

The Highland Park Baptist Church has called a new pastor named Copas, but the Orchard-avenue church is still vacant, with many applicants.

Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will begin his summer vacation on Monday. Tomorrow he will preach in the morning on "Peculiar People," and in the evening on "Can Poverty be Abolished?" The latter is the last of his series on "The Man With the Hoe."

Group meetings will be held at the Young Women's Christian Association, Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5:30 o'clock. All women are invited.

Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker and Rev. Dana Bartlett are spending their vacations on Catalina Island. Rev. Baker P. Lee and Dr. Robert J. Burdette are at Redondo.

Rev. Daniel T. Thomas, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational Church of Portland, Or., is visiting his brother, D. M. Thomas, of No. 1027 West Thirty-fourth street.

Dr. J. Q. A. Henry, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will spend August in the East, on his "vacation," but the peculiar part about his season of rest, is that he will preach three Sundays in New York, and spend one week at the Northfield conference of Christian Workers. While Dr. Henry is absent his pulpit will be filled by Rev. Robert Bruce Smith of El Paso, Tex., and Rev. J. Kitridge Wheeler of Philadelphia. Tomorrow Dr. Henry will preach his final sermons before going East, both in his own church and in the tent on Boyle Heights.

Dr. William Horace Day is now in the high Sierras on his vacation, and Mrs. Day is spending her vacation at Forest Home, in the San Bernardino Mountains.

Prof. Dungan of Drake University, a distinguished educator and preacher, is visiting relatives here. He will preach in the Broadway Christian Church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

BANDITS NOW SORROWFUL.

Tackle for Yale Baseball Man—Two in Jail and One in the Hospital.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BARMEN (Rhenish Prussia) July 30.—Five bandits made the mistake of tackling a former Yale baseball player today and in about two minutes learned what "muscular Christianity" means.

James L. Houghteling of Chicago, a former member of the Yale baseball squad, on his way to a conference of Young Men's Christian Associations here, was set upon by thieves on the Italian frontier.

The encounter was brief, but in every way decisive. Houghteling used two fists at the end of two muscular arms. There were five robbers in the band. Two ran away after getting plenty. Another is in the hospital here and two others are in jail, captured by Houghteling.

UNION SMITES HAY'S RECORD.

Hundreds Spent Monthly for Automobile Hire.

Riotous Campaign to Close City Is Expensive.

Why Labor Federation Agent Is on the Grill.

It developed yesterday that Typographical Union No. 174 repudiated Arthur A. Hay, local representative of the American Federation of Labor, because he has been throwing good money to the birds—and worse.

He has been spending $800 or so a month for automobile hire in his task of "unionizing" Los Angeles, and there isn't a label yet in an important shop. There isn't a union that dares lift its head and demand anything in the way of the closed shop, though Hay has been on the job for several years, with a fortune at his command.

It was only after the Typographical Union had received a detailed report of Hay's operations, including the statement of the money poured into his hands, that it got on its ear.

Now it has gone on record against the A. F. of L. representative and his methods. It wants to know something about results.

Members of various local unions have been arrayed against Hay for a long time. They didn't like his tactics, but were obliged to accept his statement that he was running the fight and that he would win.

THE LAST STRAW.

A few days ago there came into the hands of the local Typographical Union a copy of Hay's report to the international union. This is the straw that broke the camel's back.

One of the big items in his expense account is that of from $500 to $800 a month for automobile hire. This is an average of from $20 to $30 a day, or from $6000 to nearly $10,000 a year for carrying this very busy man from place to place—probably more than is expended by the President of the United States in all his important travels.

It may be that Hay spent this much in traveling around the city in autos while the men who footed the bills were using street cars or were walking to and from their work. But it seems to be a whole lot of money, and the union which finally repudiated Hay evidently made up its mind that the game wasn't worth the gasoline.

The sum of about $80,000 was intrusted to Hay to be used in "downing The Times" and in unionizing Los Angeles. His report tells something of the cost of the war he waged, but those who contributed to the fund and heard how it was expended were so dissatisfied as to start a fire under Hay.

VISITS THAT NEVER WERE.

Item—"To visiting the Carpenters' Union and talking, $10."

Many entries of this kind appear in the report, yet it is alleged that Hay visited very few of the unions named.

On the report, though, he seems to have made out that he was busy every night, at so much a night, the money credits therefor diminishing by just that much the amount charged to him.

Another portion of the report is said to indicate that Hay paid from $18 to $20 a week to printers out of employment through strikes and other conditions due to his campaign to unionize the city. As a matter of fact, it is said that these men received only $5 to $8 a week.

It may be that the remainder was used legally in the cause, but the report does not seem to give any such indication.

WHISKY "DOWNED."

One of the stories that has been current for a long time is that Hay and a few of his cronies lived sumptuously at a swell café, at the expense of the men putting up the money, and that he and his consorts, instead of "downing The Times," were downing large quantities of a certain brand of whisky at a local bar.

Bars, autos, swell "feeds" and all that—together with the heavy charge for addressing unions which never knew anything about it—ate rapidly into the $80,000 fund.

It got so bad that Stanley B. Wilson, once union-labor candidate for Mayor, and now editor of the labor organization paper, could not stand it any longer. He has been "roasting" Hay steadily for weeks; likewise giving a slam here and there to "Red" Fennessey, hay's lieutenant. Even "Doc" Howton, who flirts with the laborites on every occasion when votes are needed, has joined in the fight on Hay.

And the end is not yet.

FIGHT OVER WATER.

Burbank Man Uses Monkeywrench, Cracks Another's Ribs, Is Charged With Assault.

Frank W. Grow is thankful that he was not arraigned yesterday on a charge of murder instead of being held for trial in the Superior Court for assault with a deadly weapon. In a quarrel over water rights in Burbank, Grow struck Gilbert Simpson, a ranchman, with a large monkey wrench and broke two of his ribs. If he had hit him on the head his victim would have been killed on the spot.

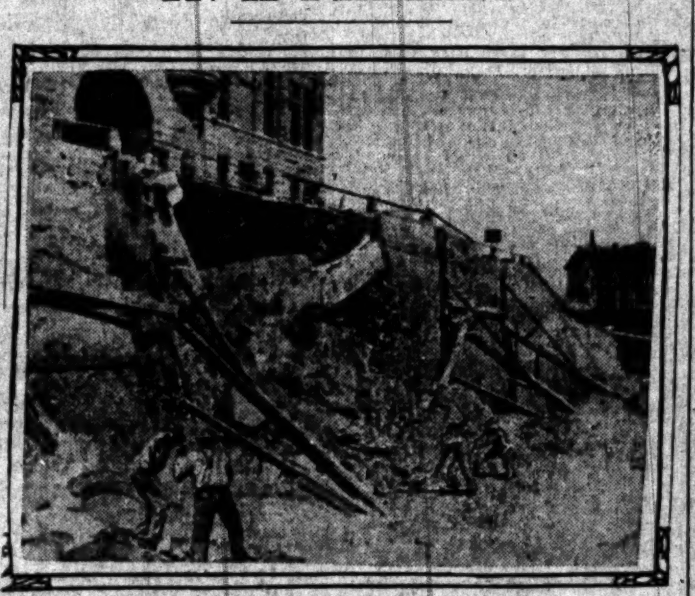
Deputy District Attorney Blair yesterday prosecuted the case before Justice Melrose at Burbank. Grow was held in $500 bail.

According to the evidence Grow was in charge of a pumping plant on one of the celebrated Burbank alfalfa farms, and the water was flowing in a steady stream over the green fields, when Johnson entered and stopped the engine.

Johnson owns a one-third interest in the water, and charged Grow with stealing the fluid. This the latter denied and the men had bitter words. Johnson sat down in a chair near the engine-house and Grow went inside, and procuring an eighteen-inch monkey wrench, advanced on Johnson and struck at him, but missed. Then he caught Johnson by the right whist and made a sweeping blow which landed on his chest.

DOWN.

EARTH SLIPS OUT IN A FREAKY WAY.



Sidewalk Left in the Air by Cave-in.

WITH a roar that caused court clerks, bailiffs and other attachés of the Superior Court departments, as well as the girls in the County Recorder's office, to rush to the windows of the Courthouse yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, a great mass of rock and earth crashed down into the excavation for the Hall of Records from under the sidewalk at the south end of the Courthouse, leaving the cement sidewalk suspended in the air, and exposing the pipes leading to the Courthouse near the foundations.

It was only by the prompt action of George W. Harding, the engineer in charge of the work for contractor Leonardt, that there was no loss of life in the trench dug for the foundations of the new building. Harding was working right under the spot where the landslide occurred with a number of men, sinking test holes where a vein of very fine blue clay has been uncovered.

Suddenly he heard a curious squeaking noise and a rending grind. Pebbles and bits of earth began to roll into the trench. Harding ordered the men to get out of the trench and away from the bank as fast as they could and was himself the last to leave.

He had barely reached a place of safety when the whole bank tumbled with a crash, the great 12x12 inch beams and braces used to prevent such a cave-in snapping like matches.

The cave-in was in the shape of a funnel, narrower at the bottom and was caused by the fall of a mass of loose earth and rock from a niche the sides of which are smooth shale, affording little support after it was cut down the center.

A telephone message was sent Contractor Leonardt and he quickly took charge of clearing away the wreck of the retaining wall above the sidewalk, thirty feet over the excavation.

Supervisor Manning was also quickly on the spot, and was much interested to know if the foundations of the Courthouse had been in any way weakened. Leonardt and Harding made a superficial examination, and stated that there is no danger to the foundations.

Meanwhile the south entrance has been closed and locked, and nobody is allowed to wander around that end of the building, as the cement sidewalk may go down at any time.

Leonardt stated that there would be very little delay in the work and that the only difference the cave-in will make is an added expense to the contractor in putting a solid retaining wall. Everything possible, he said, was done to obviate just such an accident.

DRAGON TURNS.

GUIDES' TALES ARE RESENTED.

MERCHANTS OF CHINATOWN CALL MEETING.

Accounts of Subterranean Passages, Opium Hells and White Slaves as Poured Into Ears of Eastern Tourists, Declared to Be Grossly Exaggerated.

Wealthy and influential merchants of Chinatown and the members of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce have called a meeting to be held in the Reform Hall on Apablasa street tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock to take action against the alleged falsehoods told by the Chinatown guides.

For years the celestials have remained passive while guides and amateur guides have recited horrible tales to Eastern tourists who visit the yellow quarter. But the Chinese worm has turned at last and promises to be a dragon to the guides before the fight is ended.

Visitors get a wrong impression of the Chinese in general and the local Orientals in particular, according to the allegations of the merchants.

In order to earn their fee the guides pour forth tales of imaginary bloodshed, underground passages, opium hells and white slaves, into the ready ears of the visitors, who have read of such things and want to see them.

The guides know that such things do not exist in the local yellow quarter and yet they refer to them and warn their patrons that it would be worth their lives to enter these holes.

The fact of the matter is that there is only one place in Chinatown that might rise to the dignity of a subterranean passage. This is in Ferguson alley, on the north side. A red doorway in the wall opens on a narrow stairway. The place is creepy, but only because it has been vacated a long time, and is full of rats. The stairway leads downward about fifteen feet or more to a cemented room. It was used as a gambling hall in the old days when Chinatown was in its prime. It has been covered with dust two years or more.

There are two small rooms in Chinatown where opium is smoked. One of these owes its existence chiefly to the patronage of tourists who are conducted there and who pay the proprietor a small fee to see him smoke a pill.

Frequently he is required to leave his supper to perform for the visitors, much as a little child is called upon to give a parlor recitation and as a result he is oft times sick at his stomach from mixing opium with his food.

Some of the Chinese smoke opium in their private rooms, but there are no dens in Chinatown.

The late tong war was bloody enough to satisfy the longings of the most exacting tourist looking for sensation, but in that war the Chinese simply killed one another as fast as possible and no white man was involved.

White slaves have never been known in the Chinatown and probably never will be. White women who are opium fiends have always had their drugs taken to them by Chinese messengers, and have not been seen about the opium rooms for many years.

DRAMATIC.

FINDS FATHER IN LAST SLEEP.

THIRTY YEARS PARTED SHE IDENTIFIES HIM.

Daughter, Looking on the Coffined Face at Funeral, Declares Body of Veteran to Be That of Her Parent Whom She Had Not Seen in Three Decades—Remarkable Incident.

Gazing on a coffined face yesterday, Mrs. Florence Grange of No. 3030 Foster street, Los Angeles, recognized the features as those of her father, whom she had not seen in thirty years.

It happened in Pasadena. The body was that of Frederick Fackner, a Civil War veteran, who fell and broke his neck in South Pasadena Wednesday. The identification occurred at the funeral.

Seeing a notice yesterday morning of the funeral of the veteran, Mr. Grange, without telling his wife, made a trip to Pasadena to view the body. The likeness, as compared with photographs which his wife had of her father was strong. He hurried back to Los Angeles and told her that he had found her father, and that he was about to be buried.

With many emotions, the couple quickly returned to the undertaking establishment of Adams, Turner & Stevens in Pasadena, and, just as the funeral services were to begin, the shroud was drawn back and Mrs. Grange said, positively and quietly, "It is my father."

After the ceremony, which was largely attended by the John F. Godfrey Post, G.A.R., of which Fackner was a member, Mrs. Grange had a conversation with Mrs. Sophia Jackson, who has lived with the veteran for a number of years. Mrs. Grange succeeded in convincing her that she was the daughter of Fackner. Many memories of thirty years ago came flooding back to Mrs. Grange, and many of the things which she recounted Mrs. Jackson knew about. The daughter has sent for her father's papers of discharge from the army and other data to further substantiate her claim.

Fackner left his family of three daughters and one son when they were young. For a short while he sent remittances back home, and then nothing more was heard of him and his life became a blank to the family. During his stay in Pasadena he gave his name as Faulkner, and maintained that he had no relatives living, and was loath to discuss his past at all. He leaves a small estate. Mr. and Mrs. Grange recently came from Brooklyn, N. Y.

POLITICAL INDEPENDENTS.

Club Prepares for Campaign by Electing Officers and Taking in Many New Members.

The Independent Political Club of Los Angeles is getting in trim for the municipal campaign, in which it expects to cut a large figure. It has elected officers for the coming year and has admitted many new members. A hall is to be rented at once and a mass meeting will be held at an early date, when the policy of the organization will be outlined. Officers have been elected as follows:

Chairman, M. Stutz; vice-chairman, S. T. Friedman; treasurer, A. Cohn; secretary, R. Danning; directors, A. Yager, I. Kaufman, I. Scherer, S. Horwit, A. Cohn, I. Margolis, G. Warshaw, F. Wolf.

SPECTACULAR.

DO BIG HONOR TO THE WEST.

Native Sons and Daughters in Demonstration.

In a Great Installation Ten Parlors Join.

City and Seashore Towns Unite in Function.

From the city and its suburbs and from towns by the sea, Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West gathered last night at the biggest installation the order ever had in Southern California.

Seven parlors of the sons and three parlors of the daughters joined in a demonstration impressive and notable. The officers participating represented a membership of between 2500 and 3000 Native Sons and probably half as many Native Daughters. The spectacular function took place in Blanchard Hall.

There was a setting of bright hues—the red, white and blue of patriotism—the chosen colors of the two orders. Across the archway over the stage were hung the bear flag and the American flag, while red, white and blue bunting formed festoons diagonally across the large hall. The various parlor banners appeared in the spaces between the windows.

Never in the history of the order has such an installation been undertaken here before. The Native Sons parlors participating were Los Angeles, No. 45; Ramona, No. 109; La Fiesta, No. 236; Corona, No. 196; Grizzly Bear, No. 239, of Long Beach; Santa Monica, No. 237. Three parlors of the Native Daughters participated. They were: Esperanza, No. 24; Los Angeles, No. 124, and Long Beach, No. 154.

SPEAKS OF AIMS.

The grand second vice-president, H. T. Lichtenberger, presided, and delivered an address in which he set forth the virtues and aims of the Native Sons, and then introduced Mrs. Lillie, grand president of the Native Daughters, who is a resident of Lodi, and is making her official visitation to the parlors of Southern California. Mrs. Lillie reviewed the work accomplished by the order and then took charge of the installation of officers for the three parlors of the Native Daughters.

Miss Anna Dempsey of Los Angeles Parlor acted as Past Grand President; Mrs. Ella Borden of Long Beach Parlor served as Grand Marshal; Miss Jane Burgess of Los Angeles Parlor was chairman, and Miss Tillie Wolff of Arrowhead Parlor No. 149, San Bernardino, served as Grand Secretary. During the past few months the Native Sons of the Golden West have been forging ahead as an organization in Southern California. The membership in the city lodges has been growing. The parlors at Long Beach and Santa Monica were instituted recently. A parlor in San Diego, which had lost its charter, has been reinstituted with sixty members; and one in Riverside has been instituted with thirty-five members. A parlor will be established in Colton next week.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council is to consider a Public Utilities Commission next Tuesday, and Councilman Lyon will propose a compromise method of choosing its members.

Teresa Maier brought an action yesterday in the Superior Court contesting the will of her husband, J. F. Maier, president of the Maier Brewing Company. She alleges that the instrument that was to have been offered for probate was not his will and that he did not sign it.

Judge Bordwell decided a case against C. K. Ingersoll, a Monrovia rancher, involving $21,000, and declared that the testimony given by Ingersoll at the hearing was false, as related to a transaction involving the sale of shares of certain bank stock.

The Superior Court judges have arranged for their annual vacations from August 16 to September 16.

W. B. Judson, a taxpayer, brought suit against City Treasurer C. H. Hance, to prevent the sale of his property on an assessment charge for the improvement of Branch street.

AT THE CITY HALL.

FIX RATES BY COMMISSION.

LYON'S PLAN MAY BE ADOPTED BY THE COUNCIL.

Commission of Five Representative of Many Interests to Investigate Public Service Corporations and Advise Council of Conditions as Found.

What kind of a public utilities commission to name, what powers and duties to give it and how far it may go in learning the facts about gas, light and telephone corporations, are questions that the Council will take up next Tuesday afternoon.

A majority of the members at least is agreed that a commission must be created to study the rate question officially and report to the new Council which will take office in January. In its annual work heretofore the Council has pleaded that it could not fix rates intelligently without a careful presentment of the facts, and this has not been possible without delegated authority from the Council.

To put the commission idea in a form that is likely to meet approval, Councilman Lyon will present a resolution at the opening of the special session Tuesday authorizing the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance naming a commission of five. Of this number two are to be named by the Council and three by the civic organizations—the Chamber of Commerce, the Municipal League and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association each choosing one. It is likely Councilman Wallace will seek to alter this by having the Council name one and the Mayor one, but his success is doubtful for several reasons.

Lion holds that the Mayor should have nothing to do with the appointments because he should be free to approve or veto the rate ordinance after it is passed by the Council. As the Commission is intended to be a functionary of the Council only, he believes that body should do all the appointing, of course adhering to the recommendations of the three civic bodies named.

The Lyons measure is a compromise of the Wallace plan to have the Auditor, Attorney, Assessor and Engineer compose the commission, submitted a month ago. Wallace's idea was that this would make a really official body as a Council adjunct, but the corporations made the point that it would be an interested and possibly prejudiced body and not likely to work without friction. Wallace will probably try to retain some part of his plan, but expressions of other members justify inference that the Lyon plan will be adopted.

If it is, the City Attorney will then be asked to advise the Council as to the power to be delegated to it. City Attorney Hewitt said yesterday that he had no doubt of the ability of the Council to create such a commission and delegate the power to it to investigate and report its conclusions and even to recommend rates. But he will also hold that the Council may not delegate its power to fix the rates and must regard the work of the commission as wholly advisory. Hewitt said he had serious doubt as to the power of the Council to delegate inquisitorial powers to a commission and would take his time to reach a decision.

AT TEMPLE BLOCK.

MUSHET'S CITY HALL IDEA.

A new City Hall replacing the Temple Block and extending as far south as Court street is the idea City Auditor Mushet is supporting as one of the solutions of the city's home problem.

He believes that it would be well for the city to make provision for the purchase of all the land bounded by Temple and Court streets and Spring and Main streets and build a modern building facing Court and Temple streets. The sale of the present site on Broadway, he thinks, would make the financial arrangements easy.

"This would give a building with street exposure on all sides and an abundance of light and air. It would be directly across from the new postoffice, near to the Courthouse and add to the general convenience of the public in attending to public business. The building could be made large enough to accommodate all the city's business family and would serve for many years to come in the center of the city."

If this arrangement cannot be made, Mushet feels that the finances will permit only of the scheme of building on the present site, as discussed by the Board of Public Works. Any scheme to buy a large area and spend a great amount of money in an ornamental, as well as a useful building, must be rejected because of the financial inability of the city in the next decade. Mushet says the first duty of the city is to care for the aqueduct debt and interest without increasing the public burthen in another direction. And it is his view that either of the schemes mentioned might come within the city's means.

Councilman Lyon, who has been working for months on the new City Hall plan, says the Temple Block scheme is not a bad one, and has decided points above building on the present site, particularly in the matter of air and light. But Lyon is about decided that the scheme to build on the present site fits the city's means better than any other, and at the same time offers abundant opportunity for an artistically-planned new building.

The Budget Committee will not begin its work until Wednesday morning, and will continue its sessions daily until its work is done. This will be about August 15. Last year the budget was passed August 14, after a ten days' session in the stifling atmosphere of the Auditor's little plastered room in the garret. This room has been enlarged now and real air is admitted, so it is hoped to take more time to the work.

The Budget Committee may also give attention to the project for a new City Jail. Several sites are in the minds of Councilmen, and most of them may be acquired by only a small payment and annual payments within the ability of the city to meet. It is not deemed desirable to sell the present City Jail now, but rather to wait until the new one is about ready for occupancy, when a much larger price is expected. The completion of the Hill-street tunnel and the construction of another, known as the Stephens tunnell, piercing the hill between First and Second street, from Hill west, are expected to contribute value to the First-street property. The Stephens tunnel is planned to branch at the west end and connect with both First and Second streets, west of Figueroa. While the city property would bear a part of the cost of this tunnel, the Council thinks it will be gaining abundantly more in its appreciated value.

DR. GIBBONS WINS.

The Board of Health at its session yesterday made a choice between Dr. Powers, Health Officer, and Dr. Sherwin Gibbons, one of its members, as to ideas for nursing indigent contagious diseases. Dr. Gibbons found that cases of measles in the poorer districts were diagnosed by the health department and then forgotten, and he proposed that one of the district nurses, working under the College Settlement Association, be required to take care of them. Dr. Powers opposed this because he says there are not enough nurses for school work. After a long discussion the board decided against Powers and adopted Gibbons's idea. The board also sent a request to Senator H. S. G. McCartney, Pure Food Commissioner of the State, asking an inspection of the soda fountains of Los Angeles under the pure food law.

Engineer Has New Auto.

The City Engineer has a new automobile. It was bought by the Board of Public Works yesterday for $1767.50, and the Tourist Company, which made the price, agreed to give a credit of $600 for the old one used by the engineer.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

BRANDS MAN AS FALSIFIER.

JUDGE PAYS RESPECTS TO A MONROVIA DEFENDANT.

Latter Is the Loser in a Suit Brought by the Executor Against Him to Compel Him to Restore Twenty-one Thousand Dollars to the Estate of His Wife.

Judge Bordwell yesterday decided the case of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, executor of the estate of Rosetta Ingersoll, against C. V. Ingersoll, her widower, in favor of the plaintiff and, in the course of the opinion, gave the defendant a certificate of character that was hardly appreciated.

The action was originally brought by Rosetta Ingersoll, to compel her husband to restore to her estate about $21,000. She died at Racine, Wis., later, leaving a will. The plaintiff corporation qualified as executor of her estate and was substituted as the plaintiff in the action against the widower.

C. V. Ingersoll is a rancher living at Monrovia. His wealth is estimated at $80,000. After the repayment of the money found due his wife's estate he will still have a comfortable fortune. It was alleged that the wife had entrusted her husband with the money claimed and that he had used it in the conduct of his own business and for his own profit. The money was inherited by Mrs. Ingersoll. The husband made the defense that the money had become his absolutely and refused to surrender. The court finds that he is indebted to her estate $21,000, and judgment for that sum with interest is rendered.

In the course of his opinion Judge Bordwell, speaking of the testimony of Ingersoll in relation to the sale of shares of the First National Bank of Monrovia, had this to say: "The defendant gave no testimony with more assurance than that concerning the sale of the stock for and the receipt and deposit of the sum of $1400. The matter was very thoroughly investigated during the trial, and I had not then, nor have I now, the slightest hesitation in coming to a conclusion that this testimony of the defendant concerning the receipt of the $1400 for this stock was false, and I regret to say, that he knew it was false at the time he gave it. It is true that ten shares of this stock was transferred to a third party in September, 1903, but it was a mere pretense of a sale and the stock was retransferred to the defendant within two or three days.

"The statements of the defendant as to the repurchase of this stock contain within themselves elements of such improbability as to satisfy any fair-minded person, capable of estimating the value of evidence, that they were spurious, and, taken with other evidence in this case concerning the transaction, that the defendant's testimony of the repurchase is entirely untrue. Believing as I do that the defendant was willfully false in the testimony which he gave concerning this transaction, I must and do distrust all the testimony he has given in this cause."

VACATION PLANS.

FORMAL ACTION BY COURTS.

The official vacation will run in the Superior Court from August 16 to September 16, but during that period there will be one civil and one criminal judge to attend to pressing business in these departments. During that time no contested cases will be heard in any of the courts. The probate calendar will be suspended from August 6 to August 30.

All the judges have arranged to spend their vacations out of the city, and Judge Willis has already begun his outing, there being nothing in his department until September 1.

Judge Monroe and wife will leave next week for Europe, expecting to make a sixty-day trip through France before returning.

Judge Conrey will go back to his dear old Indiana, and renew the acquaintances of his youth. The judge is a Hoosier born and has not forgotten the bailiwick of "Blue Jeans" Williams, Dan Voorhees, Ben Harrison and other celebrities of the State.

Judge Rives will spend his vacation season at the old home at Downey and on Catalina Island, the family having a cottage at the latter. Judge Rives is an advocate of rest during vacations. He said yesterday: "I would not take that trip of Judge Monroe's to Europe if some one would pay my way across the big pond and back. I would put in all my time worrying lest I miss one of my trains and would surely be late at the dock when the steamer sailed."

Judge Hutton will attend the National Irrigation Congress in Spokane, Wash., August 7. He will leave next Wednesday. The judge is a delegate to the congress by appointment of the Mayor. From there he will go into the Yellowstone country and see the big geysers spout. Judge Hutton has made a study of the water question, and, in his career on the bench, has heard a number of important water cases. He also lectures to students on the subject of water, its uses, conservation, flow, etc.

Judge James will spend the time in and about Los Angeles, making a number of small trips here and there, and enjoying himself generally. He hopes to get to some quiet spot where he will not be disturbed with the hearing of divorce cases, and not be compelled to say to litigants: "Take your decree."

Judge Houser is so busy with the hearing of the case of the Southern Pacific and Southern California Development Company, that he has made no plans for the future. It is doubtful if he gets away at all, but it is possible he may do so later on in the summer or fall.

Judge Hervey will go East on a business and pleasure trip some time in October.

Judge Wilbur will swing around the circle of the great republic, going to New Orleans, thence to New York and Washington, and from there homeward through the West and Northwest. He expects to put in much of his time studying the workings of the juvenile courts in the various cities he visits.

Judge Bordwell expects to take his family for a trip to Seattle, but beyond that he has no definite plans. Judge Bordwell is an inveterate worker, and he no doubt will spend much of his time in chambers digging out decisions on cases submitted in his breathing spell.

Judge Moss has made no arrangements for his vacation, but expects to line out an itinerary that will place him in close proximity to some of the interesting spots on the Coast, or perhaps in the East during his playtime.

Judge Davis will not be able to get away before September 10, as he has the Broadhead, Schenck and Carlson trials on his hands, which will not be disposed of until that date, if then.

WILL CONTEST.

INVOLVES MAIER ESTATE.

It was expected that the petition for the probate of the will of Joseph F. Maier, president of the Maier Brewing Company, would be heard in Judge Rives's court yesterday, but a contest appeared in a petition filed by the widow, Teresa Maier, and the matter was postponed until September 1.

The allegations of Mrs. Maier set forth that there is likelihood to be much delay in the settlement of the estate of her husband. She asks that she be appointed special administratrix. This petition will be heard at the same time as the original petition filed following the death of Maier, by his brother, Edward R. Maier.

Mrs. Maier further gave notice of her intention to contest the probate of her husband's will on the ground that the instrument was not entirely written by him, neither was it dated nor signed by himself; that it was not executed by him; not intended to be the will of Joseph F. Maier, and that the preparation and execution of the will was not completed nor consummated by the testator. She therefore prays that the will offered by Edward R. Maier be not admitted to probate.

The husband died April 11, last, and the will sought to be defeated was dated April 2, nine days before his death, but was not signed. It is an olographic instrument, written on a letter-head of the Maier Brewing Company. Under its provisions but $500 is left to the widow, Teresa Maier, and all the remainder of the estate is bequeathed to the mother, Mary Maier.

In her petition Mrs. Maier states that the property left by her husband consists of lot No. 8, block 8, in the West Adams Heights Tract, valued at $15,000, together with shares of the capital stock of the Maier Brewing Company and money due from that corporation, but she says she has no actual knowledge of the number of shares or the amount of money due from that corporation.

The will purporting to be that of J. F. Maier, is a short document, and reads thus:

"I, J. Fred Maier, being of sound and disposing mind, do hereby make and declare this document to be my last will and testament made entirely in my own writing. I hereby give, devise and bequeath to my wife, Teresa Maier, the sum of $500; all of the rest, residue and remainder of my property, both real and personal, I give, devise and bequeath to my dear mother, Mary Maier, as a slight token of the love, affection and esteem I bear her."

Some time before the death of Maier he became estranged from his wife and they lived apart. It was understood, however, that they became reconciled some time before his death.

NOT DETERMINED.

QUESTION OF A TRUST.

In the case of the California Fruit Growers' Association against the California Pine Box and Lumber Company Judge Bordwell yesterday allowed the defendants time to amend their demurrer on points other than the charge that the plaintiff corporation is a trust. The court decided that the question at issue is not whether either of the corporations is a trust and denied that question has anything to do with the issue of equity.

The case was originally brought against the defendants to collect $30,000 alleged to be due on overcharges involving a contract for $100,000 worth of pine boxes used in the fruit trade of California. The plaintiffs said an overcharge of 4 cents a box had been made by the defendants. The matter came before Judge Bordwell on a demurrer to an answer to a cross-complaint. The plaintiffs asserted that they could not buy boxes from any other firm because the defendants were a trust; the defendants in their demurrer alleged that the California Fruit Growers' Association was also in the trust class, and that nothing was due. So the question whether either of the corporations is a member of the octopus family is yet in the air.

GRAND JURY DATE.

CHANGED BY JUDGES.

The Superior judges of Los Angeles county, at a meeting held yesterday to consider assignments of cases and other matters of interest to litigants, made an important change in regard to the date for the meeting of the grand jury.

The rule taking effect April 22, provided that "a grand jury shall be drawn and impaneled prior to June 1 of each year, in the department of the presiding judge."

The date has been shifted to December, for the greater convenience of those interested. It was pointed out that under the old arrangement the grand jury was convened right on the heels of the summer vacation, and this was not favored by either the judiciary or others. The former arrangement spoiled the summer plans of too many people—the court attorneys and litigants, so it was deemed best to make the change. The new arrangement will take effect next winter.

HUBBY FREED.

JUDGE WOULD KNOW WHY.

Judge James wants to know about the conduct of some of the officials of San Francisco.

About a year ago a divorce was granted in the Los Angeles Superior Court to Mary Barbee in an action brought against Robert Barbee. With the decree an order was issued allowing the wife alimony. The unfortunate woman is almost entirely blind, and an object of the charity of her friends. Barbee paid the money adjudged by the court for some time, and then went to San Francisco, where he ceased his contributions to his needy wife. It appears that he is a steamship agent in San Francisco.

With his failure to comply with the order of Judge James, a warrant was issued out of this court for the arrest of Barbee in San Francisco, and his return to this jurisdiction to be dealt with. The warrant was left by the Sheriff with the police department for service, but nothing was heard of the disposition of the case.

About ten days ago, Judge James learned that Barbee had been taken into custody in San Francisco. Further investigation disclosed that he had been set free. On July 12, he was arrested by Officer McAfee there, when his attorney, Frank Drury, procured an order from Judge Deasy, ordering his release on a cash bond of $50, which was paid, the money being deposited with Thomas K. Kennedy, assistant bond and warrant clerk of the police department. No return of either the money or the transaction was ever made to the courts of Los Angeles county. Meantime, Barbee has disappeared.

Judge James has been busy on the case for several days, and a request has been made for an explanation. There is no authority for the acceptance of a cash bond in such cases, but a surety bond should have been sent to the court where the warrant originated.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

MUST STOP. Judge Hervey has decided in favor of the plaintiff the action brought by the Henry Albers Company against the Aggeler & Musser Seed Company. The suit was to restrain the defendants from using an insect powder under the name of "Devil's Dust," or vend any composition along that line in a package similar to that used by the plaintiff in the sale of "Devil's Dust."

DRIGGS CASE. Gertrude Driggs will be in Judge Davis's court this morning for sentence, but it is likely another postponement of judgment will be secured. A motion for a new trial will probably be filed, and, if that does not operate as a stay of execution, a motion will be offered to admit the woman to probation. Under the law, Mrs. Driggs has a right to present such a motion. Whether she will secure a suspension of sentence in her case—that is another story.

DID NOT APPEAR. Charles Wesley McCrossan, charged with issuing false reports concerning the output of the Cordillera Mining and Development Company, was to have pleaded to the information in Judge Davis's court yesterday, but for some reason the defendant did not appear. It is expected that he will be in court this morning.

TO ANSWER TODAY. E. Ellsworth Rowell, charged with having defrauded J. C. Benedit and J. M. Poundstone, in connection with a fake Mexican mining scheme, will also be in Judge Davis's court today to answer to the complaint. This is the case that has been hanging against Rowell since last winter, that culminated in the arrest of Rowell, R. A. Johnson and A. C. LeBaron. LeBaron and Johnson were afterward discharged on the statement of Rowell that he alone was to blame for the trouble.

INCORPORATIONS. Papers for the following incorporations were filed in the office of the County Clerk, yesterday: Southern California Securities Corporation, capital stock, $75,000, by Lew W. Collins, A. E. Ensign and A. Schleichter; Homor Motor Car Company, capital stock, $75,000, by John P. Barker, E. S. Pillsbury, L. M. Barker, O. G. Kirk and S. N. Ball.

INSURANCE SUIT. A. M. Bernhardt brought an action in the Superior Court yesterday against J. F. Goodenow. It is alleged that Goodenow, as agent of the plaintiff, secured a fire policy of $800 in the Northwestern National Fire Insurance Company, on a cottage situated in the Dayton Heights tract of Los Angeles; that, the house becoming vacant, the defendant failed to secure a vacancy permit from the company, and the policy was made void by the act, and that the house was destroyed by fire in August, 1907. It is sought to recover the value of the policy from the agent on account of his alleged acts of dereliction.

SULLIVAN CASE. Judge Bordwell will finally dispose of the case against Stephen Sullivan, the attorney charged with violating his parole, this morning. The matter was up yesterday, but, there being some doubt as to the authority of the court to extend the probation period beyond the two years ending September 1, the case went over. "It is no crime for a man to get drunk," said the court, "but it is the old game of getting money on checks that is to be guarded against." It is believed that Sullivan will get another chance to make good.

FIGHTING ASSESSMENT. W. B. Judson filed an action in the Superior Court yesterday against C. H. Hance, City Treasurer, seeking to enjoin that official from the sale of the plaintiff's property, lot No. 18, block 37, in Garvanza addition No. 1, for an unpaid assessment. The assessment is for the improvement of Branch street from the north line of New York street to the northern boundary line of Los Angeles. The amount of the claim is $532.35. The property was to have been sold yesterday at 10 o'clock. A temporary restraining order was issued.

WANTS A DEED. Litigation growing out of the affairs of the Santa Gertrudes Land Association appeared in the Superior Court yesterday. On Thursday Judge Wilbur appointed Walter L. Wotkyns trustee, to look after a piece of property that still remained supposed to have been sold. The suit of G. Roscoe Thomas says the plaintiff bought certain property belonging to John W. Gardner and Elmer A. Clarke, in April, 1889, and held the titles in trust, meantime paying taxes on it. He alleges that he paid $8000 for the real estate, and asks the court to compel the trustee to execute to him a conveyance.

LEAVE TO MORTGAGE. Judge Wilbur yesterday granted the petitions of the Union Methodist Episcopal and Covina Methodist Episcopal churches to mortgage the real estate held in the name of the respective congregations for purposes set out in the petitions. There was no opposition in either case.

CRUEL DRIVERS CAUGHT IN ACT.

OFFICERS IN CRUSADE IN THE RIVERBED.

Four of Them Pay Penalties in the Form of Fines in the Police Court. Try to Force Animals to Pull Overloaded Wagons Out of Gravel Pits. Whips and Shovels Used.

Humane officers yesterday began a crusade against riverbed gravel teamsters, against whom complaints have been repeatedly made by near-by residents for mistreating their mules and horses. Shortly after daylight yesterday morning three officers hid themselves in the riverbed and saw drivers pound their teams with whips and heavy shovels to make them pull overloaded wagons out of the gravel pits. Four of the drivers were placed under arrest. When arraigned before Police Justice Rose all pleaded guilty and paid fines. J. H. Crabtree was assessed $15, while John Greenwood, Jeff Wilkinson and Guy Bingham each paid $10. Cano Mareno was fined $10 for driving a horse with a sore shoulder.

Accused of Robbery.

Ed Mosely, colored, was yesterday held for the Superior Court by Police Justice Rose on a charge of robbery. Ball was fixed at $5000. The evidence indicated that last Sunday afternoon Mosely attempted to entice three other colored men into a crap game with him, and when they refused to participate in the game, he held them up at the point of a revolver and took $7 from the trio.

Mediums Arraigned.

Four spiritualist mediums, who were arrested by the police on a charge of giving an exhibition without a license, and for employing child labor, were arraigned before Police Justice Rose yesterday afternoon and given until August 5 to enter their pleas. The defendants are Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Norcross and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dean. They were conducting a meeting at Burbank Hall when the police raided the place. An 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norcross was being used as the materializing medium.

To Leave Town.

Charged with lewd and lascivious conduct toward a 7-year-old girl, E. L. Goldman, a street-car motorman, was yesterday given a 180-day sentence by Police Justice Frederickson, the sentence being suspended under the provision that Goldman should leave town. The defendant stated he would go.

HIS LONG DELAY.

Alleged Perjuror Will Not Be Examined Until Last of September. Other Cases.

Justice Ling was a busy man in the Township Court yesterday, where a number of criminal cases were acted upon. Frank M. Bell, charged with perjury, was to have had his preliminary examination yesterday, but the case went over until September 23. He is also charged with throwing a deputy constable off his yacht in San Pedro harbor, a year ago, and sailing away to Mexico.

William Boydson, a colored man, was brought back from Kansas Thursday to face a charge of grand larceny for stealing a horse from his father and selling it to Frank Johnson for $160. The latter swore to a complaint, and had Boydson extradited. Yesterday Boydson was before Justice Ling, and his examination was set for August 12. The prisoner was locked in the County Jail.

Charged with petty larceny for stealing two loads of gravel, according to the complaint, G. H. Kimmerle was arraigned before Justice Ling yesterday, but on motion the case was dismissed and Kimmerle was set free with a caution.

MINES AND MINING.

GUGGENHEIMS NOT BUYERS.

Ray Consolidated Sale Was Not to Them.

Grant-Wiseman Interest Was Taken by Baruch.

John Hays Hammond Gets Big Pachuca Property.

Denial is made of repeated rumors that the Guggenheims have acquired control of the Ray Consolidated and will close this immense Arizona low-grade copper mine.

When Phillip Wiseman and Robert E. Grant of Los Angeles, a few weeks ago disposed of the American Mines and Exploration Company interest in the Ray Consolidated for $1,000,000, it was declared that Benard Baruch, the purchaser, represented the Guggenheim interests.

This has been denied by Wiseman and Grant, and officials say no other deal has been made. The sale of the Wiseman-Grant interest occurred about a month ago, at which time full particulars were published.

Salt Lake and Denver parties are asserted to be the real holders of the big block of stock recently sold. Phillip Wiseman is said to be forming another large company for active development of Arizona properties.

The Ray is asserted to be one of the largest low-grade copper properties in Arizona, if not in the world. While not producing it has passed the development stage, and has approximately 40,000,000 tons of ore developed.

There are 1000 acres of mineral ground at Ray, and a 200-ton test mill at Kelvin, the two connected by a narrow-gauge railway, which is to be electrified.

The mine is opened by seven tunnels and eight shafts. During the past two years a large amount of development has been done.

At the present time eleven drills are in operation, the reserves being rapidly increased. Ore is blocked by cross cuts at hundred-foot intervals. A steel concentrating plant with an initial daily capacity of 3000 tons is to be erected, contracts calling for completion inside of eighteen months. Later the capacity is to be increased to 5000 tons. An electric power plant is to be built on the Gila River to supply operating power.

Hammond Buys Mine.

John Hays Hammond, who has been in Mexico for several weeks negotiating for properties on behalf of the Camp Bird, Limited, of London has closed a deal for the purchase of the Santa Gertrudis, one of the famous old Pachuca mines, paying $9,000,000 (Mexican currency) therefor.

The price was based on $150 per share. A deposit of $200,000 was made to bind the deal, the balance to be paid in five months.

The La Blanca mine, adjoining, is also sought by the Londoners, as the two can be operated as cheaply and conveniently as one. The entrance of the Camp Bird people into Pachuca has sent prices on all kinds of property soaring, and will undoubtedly result in renewed activity in this camp, always one of the richest in the republic.

Will Build Plant.

R. D. Clancy, president, and C. I. McReynolds, attorney, of the Santa Rosalia Mining Company, in the Arizpe district, Sonora, a gold and silver property, are in the city.

The Santa Rosalia is building a road to the mines from Arizpe, where it has 300 men at work. It is installing a $12,000 Nordburg duplex double drum hoist, with automatic skips, to sink a triple compartment shaft, and Mr. Clancey is receiving bids on a crushing and cyanide plant to be erected at once. This will cost approximately $150,000. Work will start within sixty days, and the plant be in operation within six months.

The mill will have a daily capacity of 250 tons and will treat the second-grade ore averaging $60. This high-grade shipped to El Paso runs better than $2000. There is more than $5,000,000 of this grade blocked.

The mine was a big producer, but for sometime until taken over by Mr. Clancy's company, was tied up in litigation and idle.

Mr. McReynolds is also attorney for the Willey-Cananea and says everything is in shape for active economical operation of the Ortega mine of the company, the ore showing in the past few weeks' development being exceptionally good. A large force is at work and good ore taken out which ranks the Ortega with the best Cananea properties.

Copper Claims Sold.

[illegible] H. Renfro and associates have sold to a New York syndicate, represented by E. E. Beebe, a mining engineer of this city, twenty-two copper claims in Pinal and Gila counties, Arizona. The consideration is not given but is understood to be a substantial one.

Negotiations for the sale of this group have been pending for some months and a strong company will be worked to operate the properties.

The same parties are looking over other properties in the same district, and expect to add largely to their present holdings.

Some good properties are being developed in Northwestern Arizona, Mohave, Yuma, Maricopa and Pinal counties, showing mines that should make those districts in time as important as Morenci, Globe or Bisbee.

CURIOUS COMPLICATION.

Principal Witness Against Old Friend Does Not Want to Prosecute. Case Postponed.

The Township Court was crowded yesterday when William Benson was arraigned before Justice Summerfield on a charge of forgery. President Fishburn of the National Bank of California is the prosecuting witness, and charges that Benson forged the name of Felix Mayhew to a check for $250.

Attorneys Wideman and Herald came into the case yesterday with Attorney Keefer, and asked for a postponement until the end of August, until they can become familiar with the case. Deputy District Attorney Keyes made no objection, and the hearing was postponed until August 31. At the same time Justice Summerfield reduced the bail from $5000 to $3000.

A curious complication in the case is that Mayhew, whose name is alleged to have been forged, is reported to have declared that he will not prosecute his old friend. When Mayhew was brought to Los Angeles from Yuma, Ariz., last year, all cut and slashed by a man named Hodges, he was not expected to live, but recovered, and has made his home in this city ever since. He was in court yesterday, and was brought before Justice Summerfield to promise that he will be present at the trial.

The uncle of Benson and his sister, Mrs. Detlor, have come here from Arizona, and will stand by the young man through his troubles. He hopes to be able to get out on bail today.

FISHER NERVOUS.

Young Chauffeur, Arraigned in the Township Court, Not Sure That He Has an Attorney.

Amand Fisher, alias Carl Fisher, was arraigned before Justice Summerfield, in the Township Court, yesterday, on a charge of manslaughter, for causing the death of Mrs. Dora Feller on San Pedro street, the night of July 15, by running her down with an automobile. His examination was set for next Thursday afternoon, and his bail was continued at $15,000. He was returned to the City Jail and locked up.

When the young chauffeur was called before Justice Summerfield he was very nervous, and kept pulling his under lip. He stated his true name to be Amand Fischer, and the justice changed it in the complaint.

"When do you want your examination set?" asked the justice.

"Any time," replied the prisoner, in an almost inaudible voice.

When asked if he had an attorney to represent him, Fischer thought he had, but did not know his name. He is relying on Fred A. Cornell, his former employer, to stand by him in his troubles, but Cornell has troubles of his own, being charged in the same court with being an accessory after the fact to the crime of manslaughter. Deputy District Attorney Horton is prosecuting the case.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

BENEDICT OUT IN M'KITTRICK.

LONDON PETROLEUM TAKES HIS TWENTY-YEAR LEASE.

Price Said to Have Been About Fifteen Thousand Dollars—How Apparent Mistake in the June Production Figures Is Explained in Full—State Notes.

R. P. Benedict has sold his twenty-year lease on twenty acres and one well on the southwest quarter of 11 at McKittrick to the London Petroleum Company. The price is quoted to have been about $15,000. The land is owned by the Yellowstone. Mr. Benedict intends to look for some other opening in oil.

Discrepancy Explained.

In the figures for June production, given as 4,885,000 barrels, it was not explained that in the several fields it was sometimes necessary to vary the figures for reasons of policy slightly, in no case sufficiently to make the slightest practical difference in their value, not much over 1000 barrels in any case—very seldom as much—from what The Times has obtained. When added, as published, they give a total of 4,871,100, or 14,000 barrels less than the State's total. The discrepancy is thus explained and the data are correct.

Even were there such a decrease in the month's total as apparently shown, it would have been due solely to June's having only thirty days instead of thirty-one.

Pinal's Capital Stock.

The Pinal's stockholders will meet August 19 at Santa Maria to act upon the directors' proposition to increase the capital stock from $200,000 to $2,000,000. The company now pays 15 per cent., the whole amounting to $752,341 or over 500 per cent. It is supposed that the acquisition of other property is contemplated in the near future.

Western Union Change.

John D. Bicknell has resigned as president of the Western Union Oil Company and C. Modini Wood has been elected his successor. Judge Bicknell remains a director.

Coalinga Reports.

COALINGA, July 29.—The Los Angeles-Coalinga Oil Syndicate, composed of Angeleños who recently purchased the St. Clair property on 6-21-15, met here this week to arrange to develop the ten acres just west of the Red Top. The officers elected were W. C. Elderton, president; John W. Zallee, vice-president; W. W. Pedder, secretary and treasurer; Broadway Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles, depository, and Bank of Coalinga, subdepository. First-class accommodations for their employés and a comfortable bungalow and office for the officers will be erected. The company is capitalized for $60,000, and $35,000 has been actually subscribed. It is a close corporation and the stock, which was sold at $1 a share, is held by twenty-five Los Angeles business men and bankers. Warren Gillelen of the Broadway Bank and Trust Company and Felix Levy are two of the members.

The officers of the Bohemian, which recently took over the Coalinga Alpha property, have been elected as follows: L. S. Chittenden, president; W. J. Wilson, vice-president; A. F. Flory, secretary; Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Hanford, treasurer, and H. L. Seavers, superintendent.

The leasers on section six are constructing an oiled boulevard from the new county road west through that section. Z. L. Phelps is overseeing the work. The main county road which was recently oiled is in fine condition. The county road to the Limited-Standard properties is being graded and oiled.

Drilling has been suspended on wells No. 4 and 5 on the California Oil and Gas property on 6-21-15, following instructions from New York.

New York Coalinga No. 5 is down close to 1000 feet and it is hoped to have it in by the first of the month. The rig is up for No. 6 and it will be spudded as soon as the well now drilling is completed.

The People Associated, south of town, is down 2175 feet in sand and shale. Tests produce good colors.

Despite the work in progress to clean out the Amy, that well continues to give a production.

The Aladdin's second rig has been ordered.

The Standard is to enter the field as a retailer and the receiving station has been practically completed. There will be six tanks, one each for gasoline, kerosene and distillate and three for lubricating oils.

The Homestake, which last week took over the Cawdor property, made its first delivery to the Agency Thursday. This company has a large storage on hand and is selling its oil almost before any stock has been placed on the market.

The Bohemian, formerly the Coalinga Alpha, is down more than one hundred feet with the twelve and one-half casing. The old hole had to be abandoned because of a lost joint of casing.

The Lucile, No. 3, has not been thoroughly cleaned yet. Wednesday it was giving a nice stream of oil, but Thursday sanded. In a short time, however, it will be striking its stride.

The Valley is down 2250 feet. Early in the week the water was lost and later repairs were made to the crown block. Work is now under way again.

Zier, No. 10, is down more than 600 feet.

Fire destroyed the rig of Claremont No. 12 on section 24-20-14, last Saturday night. The loss is a heavy one, as the rig was drilling and had a string of tools in the hole. They were in the neighborhood of 1400 feet deep. The cause of the fire is much of a mystery. Work was closed down at 8 o'clock in the evening and four hours later the fire occurred. Lumber was on the ground a few days later for the new rig.

Midway Work.

The Greenlee Consolidated, drilling in the west half of the northwest quarter of 15-22-32, lost its tools down the hole, yesterday, and the drillers are now fishing for them.

The Haraford, on 320 acres in the east half of 16-22-32, brought in a new well this week, and immediately rigged another string on the southwest corner of the plot, spudding Tuesday. The new producer is in the middle of the acreage.

La Belle, in 4-32-23, is down 1425 feet and its eight-inch casing has reached that point. Considerable water has been found, but the drill is going much deeper in search of the oil-bearing sand.

The Burke on the northeast quarter of 22-32-23, Midway, has just brought in a 185-barrel well of 15 gravity at a depth of 1200 feet.

The Fairbanks, on the same quarter of the same section, has brought in a well, at 1400 feet. The oil is of 15 gravity and the capacity is about 125 barrels.

Alvarado, on the south half of the southwest quarter of 15-32-23, also brought in a well early this week, with capacity about 125 barrels, minus water and with a gravity said to be about 22.

The Jennings well, on 15, spudded, Tuesday, on the Rex lease, with a sixteen-inch casing.

Superintendent E. R. Jennings of the Alvarado is planning the organization of a company to develop on the Rex lease, next to the Burke property. Organization is to be effected at once.

Development of the State well No. 6, on 19-30-22, is watched with interest by oil men in that locality, for, like the same concern's No. 5, it is being pushed deeper than the other wells. It is now down 825 feet and will be drilled to the depth of 1100 feet before the casing will be stopped. The drill has met with excellent indications. The company's No. 5 is doing between 250 and 300 barrels daily and the total output per month of the five wells on the section is 15,000 barrels.

SPEEDY OFFICER WINS.

Deputy Constable Sprints and Captures Man Accused of Having Seduced His Cousin.

Dashing up New High street at the gait of a champion sprinter, Deputy Constable Benjamin broke all records for the office yesterday in a chase for Asa A. Cook, a teamster for the Stevens Lumber Company, who is charged by Dr. Caroline C. Walters with the seduction of Mary J. Cook under promise of marriage.

Miss Cook is a first cousin of the man who is alleged to be the father of her unborn child and is really the prosecuting witness. But Dr. Walters, who has had the young woman in her care, swore to the complaint before Justice Summerfield recently. It was in April, 1908, that the alleged seduction occurred.

Since the warrant was issued three days ago all efforts to find the man have failed, although Deputy Benjamin hunted from one end of the city to the other. Yesterday morning, while Fisher, the chauffeur, was being arraigned on a charge of manslaughter, a telephone message came from North Main street that Cook was passing the place on a load of lumber.

Grabbing the warrant with one hand and his hat with the other, Benjamin rushed out, and before the surprised court officials could learn what was the matter, the deputy was speeding up the street at a rate which would cause an automobile owner to plead guilty to violation of the speed limit.

Benjamin caught his man on Macy street and locked him up in the County Jail. He telephoned the lumber company and it sent another man to take in the load of lumber.

ONCE WILL BE ENOUGH.

Only One Charge of Murder Made Against Officer of Western Federation of Miners.

Albert Ryan, an organizer for the Western Federation of Miners, was arraigned before Justice Summerfield yesterday on a charge of murder in the first degree for killing Otto Miller in the United States Hotel during Elks' week. He also shot and killed a man named Snyder, but he will be tried for only one death.

"We don't want to hang him twice," remarked the District Attorney yesterday.

Attorney F. W. Morrison represented Ryan and asked for a continuance until he could get a transcript of the hearing before the Coroner's jury, and this was granted, the preliminary examination being set for next Friday.

Speaking of a strong appeal to the nobility of human nature, where is the man or woman who will not help a boy or girl to acquire an education? Get behind The Times scholarship youngsters.

A woman has been elected Superintendent of the Chicago public schools. It might be a good idea for Los Angeles to elect a woman to that office. Certainly she would be an improvement on what we have now.

The mistake was made in the first place by the honorable Governor, Felipe de Neve, who failed to include San Pedro and Wilmington in the city limits when he laid out the old pueblo of the Queen of the Angels.

A NOBLE LITTLE ARMY.

For nearly ten years, with each recurring good old summer time, The Times has opened opportunities for many young people to get free scholarships in one or another of the many fine schools, general and special, which are maintained in this part of the State. Year by year dozens of boys and girls, some mere children, others nearly men and women, have entered heartily into this contest, and always a goodly number of them have won prizes of great value. Besides the scholarships, cash awards are distributed, affording substantial aid to those who win them to support themselves while pursuing their studies.

There is no room to doubt for a moment the advantages gained by all those who engage in these scholarship contests. It is a struggle in which the defeated gain a victory, a contest for prizes in which there are no blanks. We have been able to follow the careers of the boys and girls who have made these efforts year after year, and know there are very many young men and women now earning a livelihood in some gainful occupation, in art, or other vocation, who got their preparation through The Times scholarship prizes, and who could not have had the proper training in any other way. These young men and women know this better than any one else, and they are keen, ardent advocates of the contests. They never fail to encourage other boys and girls, often younger brothers and sisters or less close relatives, to enter into the struggle.

Those who lose? There are none. The contest itself is a training of the highest order. No boy or girl can enter into the effort to win a prize and not realize from the start that diligence, patience, persistence and politeness are conditions on which success depends. They acquire habits of industry, tact, address and perseverance, which tell on their lives throughout all future years. There are hundreds of young people in Southern California who failed to win a prize, yet who say they acquired an experience and training during the contest which have been most useful to them in after life.

The competition is always carried on under the direction of a person of mature mind, of high principle and of sympathetic nature. The spirit of the manager is felt all through the ranks, and while the struggle is keen no rancor is felt by those who fail toward those who win. This contest is of great use to the schools, in that it makes known to all the quarter of a million persons who read The Times daily, to the half million who read our Sunday issues, the educational advantages to be had in the city and near-by. That is of much benefit to all who dwell in this section or city and who do business here.

These are facts too well known to the whole community to call for emphatic statement, or to be denied. Therefore, the readers of The Times in tens of thousands become earnestly interested in the contest. They have favorites among the noble little army of young folks fighting so gallantly for an education. They solicit subscriptions for these boys and girls in whom they are interested. Many, many persons who otherwise would pay for The Times by the month pay for a year to encourage those in whom they are interested. They would do none of these things if they did not approve of the cause and see the advantages it opens up to young people.

A narrow, jealous, dishonest, disgruntled, outclassed, stupid would-be rival is welcome to void its venom on these children. It will do the children no harm, nor injure so good a cause. The wounded serpent stings itself and dies; the jealous rival discovers its defeat by its outcry.

Let the sore, vindictive and unhappy Earl's belated Oxpress rumble on in the gloaming. The Times scholarship contest will bear the full light of the clear noonday and is prospering gloriously.

MISCHIEF OF UNNECESSARY NOISE.

The world is getting too noisy. The street car going around a corner is a perpetual annoyance; the shrill whistle of the locomotive is prevalent, and the "honk" of the automobile keeps the nerves in tension all day long and most of the night.

The bull, thinking he can whip the whole herd, bellows out his challenge in bass tones that shake the field; and the peacock, with his tail spread in the sun, squawks in raucous tones his demand for attention. The follow with a new idea adopts now the menace of the taurine tyrant, and anon the call of the feathered biped.

At last it seems as if those charged with the making of a new tariff law had got near the end of their labors. The work was undertaken in reply to a very loud noise. Certain selfish interests in the West became possessed with the idea that some one was robbing them and that the tariff law was aiding the thieves. Fellows whose thoughts never get back of their double teeth got up a roar about tariffs and trusts. All those more or less imbued with Cobdenism, citizens from free-trade countries, Populists who have no interests to protect, the big rabble always ready to follow anything that makes a noise, joined in the demand to remove the protection from something they had no interest in. Like Taurus bellicosus, or Pavo brillans, they roared and squawked. The circumambient air was torn from zenith to nadir with their cries. There is no doubt of the power of noise. If for no other reason than to get rest, men are disposed to give the howling babe an "all-day sucker" to stop its mouth.

So while the free-trade drums beat and the low-tariff fifes squeaked and the revision fiddles shrilled, the business world held its hands over its ears and said: "Have your will." Platforms promised revision or demanded free trade. Disabled editors, always with their ears to the ground to catch the cry they think is popular, declared that a prosperous country was suffering business stagnation because rich people paid too much for imported wines or cigars, for diamond tiaras or ropes of pearls. A Congress was elected on this burning issue and called in extraordinary session to make answer to the challenge of the free-trade bovines or to the squawk of the low-tariff peacocks. The assembly of the solons took place more than one hundred days ago. The committee of the House of Representatives, able, honest, conscientious men, had been studying the subject for nearly a year before. All the interests of the country sent delegations to Washington, and such men as Sereno Payne, associated with Mr. McKinley in making a tariff bill twenty years ago, and again with Mr. Dingley eleven years ago, sat and gave attentive ear to the facts laid before them by those who manage our industries and from those who find employment in the mills and factories. The cry still went up to the stars for lower tariff schedules all along the line, with much confused sound in which the only distinguishable articulate vocable was "consumers." The fact is, there was not a person in any delegation who was not both a consumer and a producer. The earnest, sincere men who knew something about the subject in hand listened attentively, thought quietly, studied deeply and said little. But the bulls bellowed on, and still the peacocks with spangled tail feathers shrilled. The House Committee on Ways and Means completed its labors; the bill went to the Senate, where many changes were made; the two committees met in conference and could not agree; the President came into the discussion, and it looks as if he would have his views incorporated in the new law.

And what will be the net result of the loud clamor, of the broad study of the subject, of the various hearings, the many discussions, the conferences between the committees and the pleadings of the President? A tariff bill so little different from the one in force that experts are in doubt as to whether the net result will be a higher tariff in the main, or a slight reduction. Some who know from actual experience in the administration of tariff laws, and are as nearly expert authority as there is, declare that the bill as it stands imposes duties as a whole 3 to 5 per cent. higher than the Dingley act, alleged to be doing the country so much injury and robbing the people so shamelessly. No one sets up the contention that the duties are materially lower except in the case of half a dozen items in the schedules, and those not the ones in which the masses of the people are most interested.

It requires a little reflection to grasp the meaning of this. Exhaustive study has been given to the subject. All interests have had a hearing by a Congress elected on a promise of tariff revision. There have been struggles on the part of those interested in certain industries to get advantage in the new law. There always are. But, as a matter of fact, there never was so little effort in any Congress to get free-trade features into the bill. The very persons who were most clamorous for lower duties where they were not interested made just as much outcry as any for high duties where they were interested. The need and usefulness of protection through the tariff were never so nearly generally recognized. It was a little greedier scramble for selfish advantages than before, and none were so greedy as those who made most noise for lower tariff duties.

Hides go on the free list! That is the one notable victory of the insurgents in a battle in which they lost at every other point. It is a hardship on livestock men, and they claim in retaliation lower duties on leather and are likely to get them. That will hit the tanners, shoe and harness men, which will extend to all the employés in these industries. For the whole country it would have been better to let the present schedules stand.

And the insurgents do not see any other points on which they want duties lowered after all their outcry. They secured the influence of our broad-minded President to get their views in the new law, and he is getting about all the changes he saw fit to ask for. What do they all amount to? Free hides; a trifle lower duty on rough lumber, which will not make a house cost $10 less, if it does $1; probably free crude oil, in which the people generally have little interest; and the old Dingley tariffs on gloves, hosiery and one or two other things.

And for these trifling changes the roaring bovines and squawking peacocks made the world ring with noise for two years, held our industries in suspense and stood in the way of Gen. Prosperity.

SPAIN'S DIFFICULTIES.

The civilized world will sympathize with the young King of Spain and, indeed, with all his people, in the difficulties which beset the crown and the country. They amount almost, if not quite, to a revolution.

The troubles have their root in the war in Morocco. The time is past when a foreign war necessarily cements a people in the bonds of patriotism. In this day there is no such thing as a blind devotion to a country merely for its name, its mountains, vales and streams. Even in the countries least advanced the people think more than before, and government has more to do with patriotism than territorial expansion. So it is with wars; the people will reflect on the motives for which they are set up to be shot at, or to shoot their fellows. The ardor of the Russian soldiers was not fiery, because the government of Russia was not benign.

The war in Morocco is not popular in Spain. The government was restive when France was policing the Mohammedan peoples of North Africa, and claimed equal rights for Spain. Doubtless international intrigues and jealousies lay at the root of this policy. France might get too much influence in the countries south of the Mediterranean. So Spain got what her rulers coveted, and seems to have got more than they can handle. France is not worrying now over the conventions reached at Algeciras.

The Spanish soldiers do not care to lose life in a cause which does not appeal to them. What business have Europeans in Africa, anyway? They mutiny when ordered to the front, and do not fight too hard when there.

At home, socialists, who would overthrow society—and others who would fain have a republic seize the opportunity to rebel against the dynasty, and then the pretenders, the Bourbons of the Carlos tribe—think it is their time to assert their rights.

The situation is bad, very bad, all around. The King is a mere boy, after all. He has had but a few years' experience on the throne, and none in war. He seems to be a manly fellow as kings go. His impulses are good and he is patriotic. But he will need to develop unusual wisdom, tact and courage to stem all the adverse currents that swell to sweep away his throne.

The people of Spain are poor as a whole. Industries are not far advanced and the taxes are heavy. The war for Cuba cost the nation its fleet and left a tax burden hard to bear. The conflict in Morocco is exhausting the treasury.

At any angle from which one looks at it, the fate of the country seems none too bright. The worst of all is the divisions that exist among the people themselves. United, the war in Morocco would tax the strength of the nation; with the people split into factions, the struggle may become intolerable, and Spain may be driven out of Morocco to the great loss of national prestige.

THE NEW ETIQUETTE.

In the upper reaches of "society" a plain book of etiquette would be scorned; is scorned, in fact. Those in the Upper Crust rely for social guidance upon the dramas of Clyde Fitch and the novels of Robert W. Chambers, who are guaranteed to be absolutely the correct thing, if not always very weighty in other particulars.

So rapidly do the customs of Society change that Mr. Chambers is obliged to write novels at a furious pace to keep up with the modes. In his latest novel Mr. Chambers presents what we must assume to be the latest word on the proper pose and bearing of a society belle. In the first episode the young lady has a dispute with her brother and orders him to bring out the boxing gloves. The Social Mentor describes the encounter with such intricate detail that no society girl can be left in doubt as to the "correct thing" to do with an unruly brother.

Her brother first began leading viciously at long distance, but Society's pet countered so swiftly that he soon changed to in-fighting. Mr. Chambers tenderly observes that the lady's superior foot work at once became evident. Whenever her brother tried to bore in with intent to give her the scissors blow, she feinted and upper-cut him in the face.

At last, the novelist describes how the beautiful belle "got him going," as they say at Naud Junction, and, when he was groggy, jumped in and finished him with a rapid series of straight punches to the nose and jaw. As the young man was coming to she stood over his bloody carcass and asked with compassion: "Did I hurt you much, dear?"

Somewhat later in the story the young lady comes into possession of her fortune. She is represented as sitting in gentle, abstracted reflection upon that event.

"I can buy what I like," she says; "I can do this or that, or I can stand on my head. I think I will stand on my head."

With the same faithful accuracy of detail with which he described how she handed her brother the knock-out, Mr. Chambers then proceeds to relate the somewhat delicate incident of the fair child of Society placing her head on the floor and elevating her heels into the air.

This seems to be a modern variation of the passage in the old-time three-decker novel of Society where the heroine "drew herself up to her full height." She does the same thing now, it seems, only upside down.

Regarding these various—well, what seem to be eccentricities—we haven't a word to say. We are humbly thankful to be able to spread the information. There may be Society buds who may have missed the Chambers novel, but who will see this note in The Times. Mr. Chambers is a great man—a great expert in his line. If the heroine of his latest society novel stands on her head and biffs her brother in the nose until he melts off into dreamland, it is not for us to reason why. You can bank on it; it's the proper thing.

Only we imagine that the foreign counts who marry society girls and then mistreat them may be somewhat stirred to emotion and alarm by what we have read with calmness. We also imagine that the correct introduction among society people will now be: "Allow me to present Miss Bluestocking. You have heard of her famous left hook, I am sure. She fights at 133, ring-side weight."

UNCLE WALT, WARBLER.

BY UNCLE WALT MASON OF EMPORIA
Where Grows the Sunflower.

The weather's simply frightful; the sun is sizzling now, and ne'er a breeze delightful brings coolness to your brow; the horses, marked for slaughter, around the pasture totter; and, standing in the water, you see the panting cow. The cat that erstwhile lilted, upon the roof its woe, is looking sick and wilted; the roosters cease to crow, and where the street is shaded the loafer's looking jaded; the village cop has faded, where thirsty peelers go. Meanwhile the gifted printer is swearing at his press and longing for the winter to finish his distress; the ice consumer winces, and all the merchant princes who deal in prunes and quinces are praying, more or less. We sigh for sparkling fountains, for igloos in the snows, for Greenland's icy mountains, and other things like those; but little boots our sighing, and little shoes our crying; our present stunt is frying until the dog days close.

BOILING BARCELONA.

BY ARTHUR R. HINTON.

Barcelona, the scene of the Spanish riots, is the largest city of Spain, with a population of some 700,000 people, larger than Madrid, and the third largest Latin city of the world—Paris being the first, and Buenos Ayres, Argentina, the second. Barcelona is a great commercial city on the Mediterranean. Its wharves are immense, modern and accessible to the largest vessels afloat. It is a manufacturing city, rich, lively and devoted to business. Madrid is a political center, with far less of the modern bustle; but, being the capital, it has received, so Spaniards from other parts say, more than its share of governmental favor. There is a saying that whatever Madrid favors, Barcelona opposes.

Barcelona is the least Spanish of the Spanish cities. It is but 110 miles from the French frontier and 425 miles from Madrid. The latter journey takes sixteen hours by first-class train, on which extra fares are charged, and thirty hours by the second and third-class trains that drag along on the Spanish railroads like a freight, stopping at every whistling post.

Visit Barcelona and you will likely find three persons speaking English to one in Madrid. There are several thousand English and a score or two of Americans in Barcelona, against, perhaps, 200 Englishmen and four Americans domiciled in Madrid. The four Americans in the Spanish capital are all dentists, viz.: Drs. Highland, Taylor, Cadwallader and Fox; besides which there are, of course, the attachés of the consulate and legation. In Barcelona quite a few American dentists are also located. They do well, as everywhere abroad, American dentistry being world-famous.

When I was there three years ago I was dumbfounded to find an American employed as an interpreter at a leading hotel. He was from New Orleans, of French extraction, and had come to Barcelona some twenty years before after wandering over much of Europe. He had married there and become a fixture. He added, however, that he had found Barcelona "somewhat unhealthy" during the late unpleasantness between King Alfonso and Uncle Sam and had moved into France for awhile. He expressed a hope of some day adjusting his affairs so as to permit him to return to America.

Barcelona has always been a hotbed of anarchy, republicanism and revolutionary sentiments of every description. In fact, it is the home of one of the leading international anarchist "groups." Here have been hatched several plots of assassination, among them that of Cánovas del Castillo, the Premier under whom Weyler was sent to Cuba and the series of events began that ended in the American war. That Barcelona was the center of much opposition, chiefly of a passive nature, to the Cuban, Philippine and American wars is generally recognized. Being a commercial, manufacturing city, Barcelona's instincts are for peace—except those of the revolutionaries.

Barcelona has magnificent public grounds, buildings and monuments. Like Madrid—and incidentally, we may say, like Los Angeles and many other American cities—it has many unpaved streets. It has a good electric car system, but still retains a service of antediluvian stage coaches of a type unknown in any other place. They seem to be well patronized, by the lower classes chiefly.

Railroads enter Barcelona from all parts of Spain. One line runs south and west along the coast to Tarragona, where it branches, one route going south to Valencia, Cartagena, Malaga, Granada and Gibraltar, with connections for all parts of Southern Spain and Portugal, the other almost due to Saragossa, where it again branches, one line to the southwest by south to Madrid, the other going almost due west to Miranda, where it connects with the Spanish Northern Railway, the main line of travel from Paris to Madrid, and with all parts of Northwestern Spain and Portugal. Another line runs north from Barcelona to Port Bou, the last Spanish station, where it crosses the French frontier and connects at Cerbere for Paris, Toulouse, Marseilles, Nice and all parts of France. This line has quite a number of local branches.

Barcelona is the chief city of the Catalan provinces, which are of some local interest in California, as they were the home of all the Spanish Catholic bishops and padres who came here in the early days. From that city or its immediate vicinity came Archbishop Alemany, Bishops Amat and Mora, the late vicar-general, Father Adam, and a score of others now rapidly passing away. One of the last Catalonian padres was Father [illegible], pastor at San Luis Obispo, who died while visiting relatives at Barcelona some two years ago.

Spain is almost the only country in Europe, except Ireland, that has been losing population; this not because of low birth rate or high death rate, but on account of emigration to Spanish America. Since the end of the colonial and American wars, with the revival of industry, this tide has been somewhat checked and it seems plain enough that the people have had more war than they want.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

Mr. Farwell, accompanied by his father, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning. Both are guests of Charles F. Lummis.

Farwell's position in reference to the furtherance of patriotic interests in American art is a matter of national knowledge. He believes that it is time that measures should be taken to arouse the American people to the knowledge that they have many composers of high order in their midst, and that the cultivation of this creative art is one of the loftiest of the nation's artistic responsibilities and opportunities.

Mr. Farwell is at present devoting his energies to the American Music Society, and to his editorial department in Musical America. During the past five years Mr. Farwell has spent many months on the Southwest Coast, and he has many friends here. He has played recitals of his compositions on Indian melodies and has worked extensively with Mr. Lummis for the American Institute of Archeology, collecting and transcribing the songs of the Indians and the Spanish-Californians.

Mr. Farwell will be the guest of the Gamut Club at its regular monthly dinner on Wednesday evening.

An informal meeting of the local Center of the American Music Society—which, by the way, is next in size to the Center in New York City—will be held in the parlors of the Gamut Club, Wednesday afternoon.

In a recent interview in the New York Sun Walter Hoff Seeley stated that he was now in partnership with William Morris, and that twenty-five theaters have been acquired in the West for the Morris vaudeville circuit—or six more than any other circuit in the western territory.

Seeley says that Los Angeles is included.

The Walker Theater has been mentioned as a possible Morris playhouse for the present, at least.

David M. Hartford, who will play the role of Gen. "Buck" Warren in the production of "The Warrens of Virginia," which will open at the Belasco Theater Monday night, received yesterday from David Belasco the sword worn by Frank Keenan when he created the role of Gen. Warren in the original production of the play in New York, and which he used all during the run of the piece. The sword is a much-prized relic of the Civil War and previous to its being used by Mr. Keenen was one of David Belasco's collection. At the close of the local production it will be returned to Mr. Belasco's famous green-room collection at the Belasco-Stuyvesant Theater, New York.

The management of the Grand Operahouse announced last night that instead of opening its next week's production of "The Octoroon" on Monday night, as has been announced, it will go back to the previous rule of opening on Sunday afternoon, which has long been the day for opening new productions at the Grand until the recent special engagement of the Princess company.

WONDERS OF TWO YEARS.

The Beaumont Land and Water Company has issued invitations for a homemakers' day celebration, to be held in Edgar Cañon on Monday. The morning will be spent in a drive through the valley, and lunch will be served under the trees in Cottonwood Grove. An address of welcome will be delivered by C. B. Eyer, president of the company, to which responses will be made by Senator Estudillo, A. G. Kimball and Rev. W. M. [illegible]. An original poem will be read by A. J. Burdick. In the evening an inspection will be made of the pumping plants and water system. If 125 persons signify their intention of going from this city, by an early hour this morning a special train will leave over the Southern Pacific Railroad at 7 o'clock on Monday morning. If not, it will be best to take the train leaving this city at 4:10 Sunday evening.

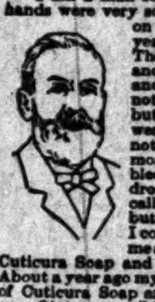
ITCHED A YEAR: CURED IN A WEEK

Hands Cracked Open, Bled, Burned and Ached—Could Not Sleep nor Even Dress Himself—Professional Treatment Failed to Help Him.

MAN OF 70 OWES SKIN COMFORT TO CUTICURA



"I am a man seventy years old. My hands were very sore and cracked open on the insides for over a year with large sores. They would crack open and bleed, itch, burn and ache so that I could not sleep and could do but little work. They were so bad that I could not dress myself in the morning. They would bleed and the blood dropped on the floor. I called on two doctors, but they did me no good. I could get nothing to do me any good till I got the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. About a year ago my daughter got a cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in one week from the time I began to use them my hands were all healed up and they have not been a mite sore since. I would not be without the Cuticura Remedies.

"They also cured a bad sore on the hand of one of my neighbor's children, and they think very highly of the Cuticura Remedies. John W. Hasty, So. Effingham, N. H., Mar. 5 and Apr. 11, '09."

For Baby's Skin

The purest, sweetest and most economical method of preserving, purifying and beautifying baby's delicate skin, scalp and hair is the constant use of Cuticura Soap, assisted, when necessary, by gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment. For rashes, itchings, inflammations and chafings of infants, children and adults, as well as for shaving, shampooing, sanative, antiseptic cleansing and all purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery Cuticura Soap and Ointment are unrivaled.

BIBLE LESSONS.

FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHERS AND OTHER BIBLE STUDENTS.

Prepared for The Times by J. S. Kirtley.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 1.

Acts xviii, 1-22: "The Church at Corinth."

THE CONNECTION.

Paul went on from Athens forty-five miles to Corinth. Both are on the isthmus that separates the Aegean from the Adriatic Sea, Athens at the upper northeastern end, Corinth at the lower southwestern end. Athens was the intellectual, Corinth the commercial center of Greece.

THE LESSON.

I.

"Work With the Corinthian Jews." (Verses 1-4.)

"After these things Paul departed from Athens and came to Corinth;

"And found a certain Jew named Aquilla, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, with his wife, Priscilla (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome,) and came unto them.

"And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, and wrought: for by their occupation they were tentmakers.

"And he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and persuaded the Jews and the Greeks."

(1.) Defeated and Depressed.

"After these things" anybody would have left Athens who wanted to spread the gospel. An inactive, conceited old university town was a poor place for success just then, for they were interested only in the speculative phases of Paul's message; while active, commercial, political, practical Corinth, even though reeking with moral filth, will be more hospitable to the demands of the gospel. He obeys Christ's command to leave the city that will not hear. His entrance upon his work in Corinth was, as he afterward wrote them, in weakness and in fear and in much trembling." He had a rough time in Europe since he landed at Philippi; scourged and imprisoned at the latter place, driven out of Thessalonica and Berea, and laughed out of Athens, this was too much for his spirit, and the Lord had to be constantly encouraging him there. The laugh of indifference they gave him at Athens was harder to bear than all the rest.

(2.) Determined and Resourceful.

It is easy to see how, after such a series of hardships, he would enter upon his work at Corinth with depression of spirit. It was a very large city; it was a bustling, commercial city, with its two ports commanding eastern and western waters; it was a political city, the capital of the southern portion of Greece, and was therefore a very corrupt and wicked city, with its hundreds of girls in the temple of Venus, who supported the priests with the income from their shame and with the vices which flourish when wealth is luxurious; it was a mass of discordant elements—Italians, who first settled it, 140 B.C., Greeks, Asiatics, Jews, many slaves, and a large floating population, drifting in and out with the tides of trade. It was the Paris of ancient times, as Dr. Stalker says.

(3.) Reinforced by congenial friends.

He was fortunate in getting employment at once, and among such excellent fellow-artisans.

Aquilla, whose name means "eagle," and his wife, Priscilla, had evidently been converted in their native Pontus in Asia or at Rome, where they had worked at their trade of tent making. They were journeymen tent makers, and had lived at Rome till Claudius decreed that he would have no more Jews there crawling over their creeds and leaders. He had caught the name Christus—Christ—in their controversies; and regarding Christians as only a sect of the Jews, had driven them all out of his city. Rome's loss was Corinth's and Paul's gain. How he found them we know not, but probably in the synagogue which they still attended, or through the guild of tent makers of the city. They were congenial friends and encouraging. As they worked together they talked; and as the days went by Paul began to recover his sunny hope and purpose. That was one of God's ways of encouraging him—with wholesome, strong Christian companions.

(4.) Refreshed and at strenuous work.

When this had gone on long enough for Paul to get in good financial condition—"a little ahead"—and to get the spring restored to his gait, he has stirring work on hand, though he seems to have stayed and worked with these two cultured Christians during the whole eighteen months of his stay. All Jewish boys learned a trade, and Paul's was a great blessing to him. His work in public preaching seems almost suspended for a while, and his trade was his principal business. Besides the preparation for his own work his hosts were being fitted for a large work. Follow them in xviii, 18-26; I. Cor., xvi, 19; Rom., xvi, 3; II Tim., vii, 19; and see how those days with Paul were to open up larger lines of work for them. Paul was not idle. We may expect something brisk after this showing up.

Though for a time and for reasons, mostly engaged at his trade, he was at work with much of his old zeal, and in his accustomed manner, namely, laboring with the Jews in the synagogue and seeking to persuade them and the purer-minded Gentiles, who attended the worship there. He reasoned out the Messiahship of the historic Jews in such a way that the Jews had to accept him or—get mad. Most of them did the latter.

II.

"Work With the Gentiles." (Verses 5-7.)

"And when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul was pressed in the spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus was Christ.

"And when they opposed themselves, and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean, from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles.

"And he departed thence, and entered into a certain man's house, named Justus, one that worshiped God, whose house joined hard to the synagogue."

1. The Rage of the Jews.

Silas and Timothy rejoined him here. Timothy had come to him at Athens, but Paul had sent him back to Thessalonica to comfort and teach the disciples, and Silas was probably left behind at some other town—probably Berea—to do the same thing. This was Paul's way of continuing his work when he must leave a place. As the lonely and burdened man felt the thrill of their sympathetic presence he had a paroxysm of anxiety and enthusiasm for their salvation. The Greek word is the same that Christ used when He said He was "straitened" till His baptism. It was a passion that made Him irresistible in his speech. His preparatory work was done with Aquilla and Priscilla, and with the attendants of the synagogue, the coming of his fellow-laborer marks an epoch, and his great work opens. The pressure within him is sure to result in something radical in his work. A crisis is approaching. When the gospel is gripping a man within and giving him the pain of its urgency, a shock against the environment is inevitable. The word within him is a fire, and its flames startle his enemies. As he grows more zealous they grow more blindly angry, till their opposition is concerted and determined, and they rail at his Lord, Jesus, in such a way as to blaspheme.

2. His Abandonment of the Jews.

That symbolical action of his, shaking out his flowing robe in repudiation of his own race as it was represented at Corinth, was judicial and tragical. For another instance of it see Neh. v., 13. This kind of opposition was not so hard to bear as the indifference of the Athenians. He could well say that they were responsible for their loss of salvation in the striking phase he used, not in vindictive imprecation, but in solemn judgment of their suicidal rejection of the Messiah. Once before at Antioch he had turned from them to the Gentiles, and now he leaves them to the consequences of their own decision. He has a right to do so; he ought to do so. Work must be done which will bring the largest results. He afterward preaches to Jews at Ephesus and other places, but no more at Antioch. From this time he preaches very little in synagogues, but much to the populace.

III.

"God's Support of Paul." (Verses 8-11.)

And Crispus, the chief ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord with all his house; and many of the Corinthians hearing believed and were baptized.

"Then spake the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision. Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace;

"For I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee; for I have much people in this city.

"And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them."

(1.) Some Notable Conversions.

By this time he did not need much assistance from his trade, and he moved his audience room to the home of Titus Justus, a Greek proselyte, who lived so close to the synagogue that he could draw many Greeks to this private home. The Jews grew more curious. The chief man of the synagogue, Crispus, was converted in spite of the general frenzy against the gospel. Their frenzy grew still worse. The house of Justus proved a strategic place to hold meetings. The household of Crispus accepted the gospel likewise. Paul was afterward glad that he did not with his own hands baptize many of these converts (1 Cor. i, 14-16,) because there arose a great division in the church over their preachers. Many of the Corinthians witnessed this anger of the Jews, and saw its injustice, respected the courage of Justus and Crispus, and were persuaded, heard the testimony of Paul and believed. The work among the Gentiles opens beautifully. How "many" no one knows, but so many that the church grew rapidly and became powerful. But it is still a depressing period with Paul. He needs a little more encouragement.

(2.) A Cheering Vision.

God never gives visions when anything else will do; that is to say, unless they are needed; yet needed help is never withheld. Despite the two prominent men and the many, Paul is in a heavy frame of mind. He was for once disposed to fear the face of man, for the Lord would not have said, "be not afraid." He was disposed to think it hardly worth while to speak, after his countrymen sealed their own doom in ferocious rejection of their Messiah, and was disposed to hold his peace, and God speaks in this vision to tell him not to stop. After Philippi and Thessalonica and Berea and Athens, who is surprised at a little suspicion of misanthropy and shrinking in the brave apostle? And the Lord assures him that men would not be able to harm him. After his people so thoroughly shut themselves off from love and life, small wonder that Paul should begin to feel as if he was hoping against hope in working at Corinth. And the Lord assures him that there were many prospective converts in that city. The vision was given to Paul for his own sake, not ours. It shows that the bravest and the faithfulest may get sore and shrink in facing work and danger. It is a little touch of humanness in the superb man that makes us feel a kinship with him. It was Jesus that spoke to him, not in bodily form, but in heavenly vision. The encouragement was twofold—that He would be with His servant, and that he would succeed in finding souls for his beloved Master. These words were also spoken for our comfort that we may find the Lord Christ, working with us in the hardest places, and that He already has people who will hear us for our cause.

(3.) A Good Harvest.

The hero plucks up heart of hope then and preaches on, notwithstanding the wrath of men, the isolation of his life, the poor, uninfluential class of converts, in the main, the reviling Jews, and the daily danger of death. For a year and a half he preached there, and gathered a great church. While there the letter-writing period of his life began, and First and Second Thessalonians were written. To that church two of his most important letters were written several years later. Corinth introduces a new epoch in his life.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Corinth is to Athens very much what Glasgow is to Edinburgh. The one was the commercial, the other the intellectual capital of the country. Even the situations of the two places in Greece resembled in some respects those of these two cities in Scotland. But the Corinthians also were full of disputations, curiosity and intellectual hauteur. Paul dreaded the same kind of reception as he had met with in Athens. Could it be that there were people for whom the gospel had no message? This was the staggering question which was making him tremble.—[Stalker.

On its conquest by the Roman general, Mummius (B. C. 146) many of its buildings had been destroyed, and its finest statues had been carried off to Rome. A century later Julius Caesar determined to restore it to its former splendor, and thousands of freed men were employed in the work of construction. Such was the scene of the apostle's new labors, less promising at first sight than Athens, but ultimately far more fruitful in results.—[Plumptre.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Is there any nation for whom the gospel has no message?
2. Is there any single person for whom the gospel has no message?
3. Does a business career make one more hospitable to the gospel than a professional career?
4. Is our depression ever due to God's real absence from us?
5. Is there any mission field too difficult to enter today?

Christian Endeavor.

FACTS AND THEIR MOTIVE POWER.

Terse Comments Upon the Christian Endeavor Topic for August 1: "Life Lessons for Me From the Book of Acts."—[Acts xxvii, 13-44.

By William T. Ellis.

The Book of Acts is a book of facts. Its value as religious literature consists chiefly in its historical narrations. There is power in a fact. Some persons who are forever "spiritualizing" all things, and trying to "draw a lesson," need to be reminded of the dynamics residents in sheer fact. The gospel itself, in its early simplicity, was the mere narration of certain historical facts. Those facts—carrying in their train, to be sure, a great body of truth—have conquered the nations that govern the world; and they seem likely by their telling to bring all peoples in subjection to the Christ, concerning whom the Good News is told. No argument is equal to a proved experiment. Down in the rescue missions, in the slums of the great cities, it is not eloquence that reclaims men from sodden vice, but the reiterated testimonies of persons who had been in like case, and whom the power of Jesus had made over into new men. If any company of Christians undertake to study seriously the Book of Acts, they are certain to be animated to new efficiency in their own Church work.

The titles of the books of the Scriptural canon are not inspired. The appellation "The Book of Acts of the Apostles" is a palpable misnomer, for at the outset this history dismisses most of the apostles with a mere mention, giving far more space to some men who were not apostles than to most of the members of that body. Peter and Paul are the principal figures, the latter occupying the larger part of the author's attention. One commentator has pointed out that the book is more truly a record of the acts of the Holy Spirit than of the acts of the apostles.

First-century Christianity is revealed as of heroic stuff by the Book of Acts. It dared and did and died that the gospel might grow.

Dr. Luke was a great historian. Doubtless it was his theme that caught him up to heights of ability of which neither he nor his friends had dreamed; even as men in public life, when called upon to produce state papers, suddenly develop uncommon literary ability. His subject matter aside, however, Dr. Drake must be credited with a simple, direct and natural literary style. His unconscious allusions to contemporaneous matters have come to be profound arguments for the authenticity of his work.

Who was Theophilus, to whom two books of the New Testament were written by Dr. Luke? We do not know. He was simply an interested disciple, with a great friend. Possibly it is to his thirst for knowledge that we owe the third gospel and the Book of Acts. Because of his quest for truth, his name is forever embalmed in the New Testament, the greatest literature of humanity.

All kinds of characters move through the pages of the Book of Acts. Its heroes are not demi-gods, but "men in a world of men." The sane naturalness of Christianity in practice is one of the proofs of its divine origin. It is a possible religion.

When some Chinese converts were studying the Book of Acts one of them naively remarked "We like this book. Its people are just like ourselves. They had the same sort of temptations we have, and sometimes they stumbled just as we do." For this peerless history depicts, with rare fidelity, the infant church against a somber background of environing heathendom.

The Book of Acts is incomplete. It is a "continued-in-our-next" story. The author purports only to tell of beginnings and continuings, but not of endings. All the significant aspects of early Christian history which Luke touches, he leaves unfinished. The end is not yet. The Book of Acts is still in the writing. We know some of the later chapters—the persecution of the early church, the dispersion over the known world, the great gospel triumphs, the gradual corruption of ecclesiasticism, the Reformation, and the new missionary era. Does it not all, like a thrilling story, make one eager to learn the end? That end we can only reach when we come to "know fully." In the meantime, we are permitted to help make the history which this unfinished volume is yet to record.

The world is keen to hear a man talk who has been a part of his own story. That is why adventurers and explorers are such popular lecturers. Now Luke figured in the events he described; occasionally he lapses into the "we" of a participant. Like Caesar, he could say, "Of which things I also was a part." This book is journalistic in that it is so largely the story of an eye-witness.

Life is best learned by living with the best people. Whoso keeps company with the characters in the Book of Acts is not likely to descend to ignoble and cowardly conduct.

The are of letter-writing is disappearing from our times. Even close friends are sending dictated, typewritten letters to one another. These are mere bulletins of news. The full, heart-revealing, historic-recording chronicles of older days have passed with the leisure of our grandfathers. We do not often nowadays entitle biographies "Life and Letters" for the modern man is not writing letters. Yet this great Book of Acts was really designed only as a letter to a friend. It belongs to the epistolary writings which form the bulk of the New Testament. Dr. Luke had an eager, inquiring friend. For the latter's information he set down, leisurely and in order, the history of Christ's risen work up to date. Little did Luke know that the same Spirit whose mysterious movings he recorded was guiding his pen to the narration of a document which should be for the instruction and inspiration of the church through all ages. But, then, we never do know which of our acts God is going to use most greatly for his glory.

News and Notes.

A Tokyo newspaper recently offered prizes for the six best poems, the subjects to be chosen by the authors. There were six hundred competitors, but the six which received the prizes were Christian poems, and many of the others offered were full of Christian sentiment. This is a side-light upon the way in which Christian teaching has permeated the empire.

The Sunday baseball question has been interestingly met by the churchmen of Schuylkill county, Pa., who have organized Brotherhood and Sunday-school teams among the young miners. One of the qualifications is that in order to be eligible to play on the team each player must attend a Sunday-school or a Brotherhood meeting two Sundays each month, and must not play ball with anybody on Sunday. In Mahanoy City there are nine such teams in the league.

Two of the numerous Lutheran bodies in the United States have agreed to consolidate—the Synod of Missouri and the German Lutheran Synod, which covers both Canada and the United States. A Philadelphia Methodist preacher, who was not welcomed to the church to which the bishop had appointed him, had to face a "walk out" on the part of the choir and a number of the officials. To overcome the lack of musicians he has lately installed a large phonograph, and sacred hymns are rendered by grand opera singers.

"She's the Lily of the Valley, a bright and rising star." By thus paraphrasing the refrain of a popular gospel song, the above quotation is made to fit Miss Lillian Waite of San Fernando as she appears in the line-up for The Times scholarships today.

Although still pale and somewhat weak from the effects of her late illness, the "Lily of the Valley" has resumed work in the contest with a vim and vigor that shows that she is still to be reckoned with in the winning of the scholarship and cash prizes.

Miss Waite's star is shining brighter than ever before and is clearly in the ascendant, as she rose eight degrees in the score list yesterday and shines today in fifteenth place. This result was accomplished by registering a gain of 21,485 points, which is more than half of the total number of points recorded yesterday in behalf of all the contestants, the grand total being but 37,501.

Miss Waite desires to thank the good people of the town of Lankershim for generous support. She also acknowledges favors from friends in various parts of California. Miss Lillian is one of five sisters all of whom are popular in the social life of San Fernando. An elder sister graduated from the State University at Berkeley, recently, and Lillian is eager to follow in her footsteps. She graduated from the Union High School at Fernando last term with the class honors, and is now striving for a collegiate education.

MAKING HASTE SLOWLY.

Miss Arah F. Small of Soldiers' Home advanced two degrees in the line-up yesterday, by making the small gain of 142 points, which took her ahead of Emma Tenneson and Fannie Swem, two very deserving young girls, who, like Miss Small, are making haste slowly.

Miss Small should have at least ten times as large a score by this time as she has, since she is the only contestant from the vicinity of the Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle, West Gate, Beverly, Palisades, Santa Monica, etc. Besides having all this fine territory to work in, she is also the daughter of one of the oldest and most trusted passenger locomotive engineers in the employ of the Southern Pacific. The daughter of the veteran engineman should put on more steam, and go after one of the big prizes, instead of poking along with the tail-enders.

Soldiers' Home contestants have nearly always done remarkably well in former contests. Miss Small is a good girl, and deserving of rising higher in the score list.

A NAME TO CONJURE WITH.

Master John Keble Thursby has advanced two numbers by registering a gain of 1022 points, taking him up to thirty-sixth place. Master Thursby is one of the youngest, as well as one of the brightest boys in the contest. His extreme youth makes it impracticable for him to do as effective work as most of the older contestants, and he, therefore, has to depend chiefly on the generosity of his and his parents' friends to send in their subscriptions in his behalf voluntarily. Some have already done so, but he is still compelled to keep company with the tail-enders in spite of the distinguished name he bears. He is a son of Rev. John W. Thursby, rector of the Church of the Ascension, Boyle Heights, and was christened in honor of the great English Anglican poet-clergyman whose hymns are sung wherever the English language is used in worshipping Almighty God and Christ Jesus.

The Rev. Erastus De Wolf has taken up the cudgels in behalf of the son of his fellow-cleric, as the following letter shows:

"1428 E. 14th St., Los Angeles, Cal.,

"Manager Scholarship Contest:

"Dear Sir—Inclosed please find package coupons in scholarship contest. Place them to the credit of John Keble Thursby, No. 426 St. Louis street. Why is the bright son of a noble sire—indorsed by his bishop (Johnson) permitted to remain so near the tail of the list? Then look at his name—John Keble—a name that ought to thrill and fire with enthusiasm every true churchman's heart. Wake up, John Keble! Wake up, all ye friends, and let us see if we cannot send this name (itself an inspiration) up by leaps and bounds. More anon.

"(REV.) ERASTUS DE WOLF."

Miss Byam of No. 1616 Georgia avenue, Los Angeles, and Mrs. B. M. Wotkyns of Pasadena are assisting Master Thursby, as are also various other friends in Pasadena, Hollywood and Los Angeles. Some of the other churches are doing yeoman work for contestants connected with them. There is no denying the fact that the Episcopal churchmen and churchwomen could very easily advance Master John Keble Thursby to a high position among the prize-winners, by concerted effort.

NOW COMES TUG OF WAR.

The leaders for the three special prizes for best results in the contest this week remain as before: Alice Capron, Edith Tidball and Stanley Carnahan, with scores for the week of 57,936, 35,336 and 28,520 points, respectively.

Many who have been unable to surpass these figures have been holding their gains in reserve. Today comes the real tug of war for the $5 gold pieces offered as special prizes. All points to be included in the week's gains must be in The Times office in time to be included in Sunday's score.

TWENTY-FIVE-DOLLAR BONUS.

There are only two entries as yet for the special prize of $25 that will be awarded to the new contestant entering after July 20 and making the largest score in excess of 15,000 points before August 15. The two new recruits are Sherman Hall of No. 811 South Union avenue, this city, and Miss Marion Henderson of No. 479 Fifth street, San Pedro. There is time yet for others to get in the race and win this special prize and a good scholarship besides.

'Arah F. Small,

Lillian Waite,

John Keble Thursby,

Russian of Fresno Also Takes Little One by Leg and Whirls Him About Head, Threatening to Dash Him to Death Against the Ground. Drunk at the Time.

[BY ~~DIRECT~~ WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When his wife refused to return to their shack because she and her four-months-old baby, who are both ill, were tormented by flies, Henry Dermer, a Russian, seized the child by the right leg and whirled him around his head several times, threatening to dash it to death against the ground. He was drunk.

Stricken with fear, the wife started to run away. Dermer hurled the child into its cradle and picked up bricks, which he threw at his wife. She was untouched. Enraged because of his failure to hit her, he threw several bricks at the cradle in which the child was lying screaming. One of the missiles struck the infant, seriously injuring him.

Mrs. Dermer rushed to the Police Station and swore to a complaint for her husband's arrest and tonight he is in jail. An examination of the child by physicians showed that one leg was severely wrenched and that he had been seriously hurt by the brick, which struck him in the side. The injuries will not prove fatal, however, unless complications set in.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.

MAJOR MAKES WONDROUS FIND.

INTERESTING DISCOVERY AMID AZTEC RUINS.

Chief Forester Pinchot Will Arrive in September to Continue Examination, With Scientists, of San Clemente Island and to Enjoy Fishing at Catalina.

Office of The Times, No. 25 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, July 31.—Maj. Frederick R. Burnham was in Pasadena yesterday, having just returned from a visit to the City of Mexico with John Hays Hammond, who is to join the Presidential party in September.

Burnham, Hammond and the American Ambassador took a trip in Hammond's car to Cuernavaca, about five hundred miles south of the City of Mexico, to make an examination of the wonderful Aztec ruins of that region. While there Burnham made another interesting archeological discovery, nothing less than a stone bearing an inscription similar to the markings on the Esperanza stone, which he discovered in 1908 and over which a number of museums are pondering. The new find was taken to Esperanza to be compared with the larger stone, and later an effort is to be made to bring both here.

Last April Burnham invited Charles Frederick Holder to make a trip to the State of Sonora and inspect the big stone. It was found lying in the heart of the great cactus forest of the Yaqui River delta. The odd part is that for miles and miles there is not another stone of any description in delta.

Holder believes that the inscription, photographs of which have been sent to the leading archeological authorities of the world, is the work of the Mayas, a wonderful tribe of Indians who flourished in Yucatan and had a written language, centuries ago. The inscriptions are numerous and show a great snake, the figure of a god, and numerous other figures interwoven with a double scroll or volute, which in the old Aztec sign language doubtless meant water or a whirlpool. Holder says that he has found most of these figures on the ancient Maya Codex, a copy of which he has. He concludes that 1000 or more years ago an expedition of Mayas reached the present site of Esperanza, Sonora, and that they brought this rock down from the mountains and engraved upon it the figures which tell that they had found a rich land between two rivers, indicated by the double scroll. In a word, this was a record of their discovery of the famous delta of the Yaqui, which they probably settled. The south river is now called the Maya.

Burnham's newly discovered stone bears the same sign of the double scroll, and on the opposite face is the double cross of the swastika, a singular figure supposed to indicate good luck and found in many lands. Burnham left yesterday for the La Cuesta ranch at Three Rivers, Tulare county.

PINCHOT COMING WEST.

Chief Forester Pinchot will arrive in Los Angeles in September with a party of distinguished scientists, including an ethnologist, a geologist, and other scientific men, who plan to make an examination of San Clemente Island.

Prof. Charles Frederic Holder will join the party, and is making arrangements for the trip, which will be the third annual expedition to this interesting island. A particular feature of interest there is the fact that on the eastern end are a succession of pronounced terraces or ancient beaches, showing that the island had been periodically pushed upward. Pinchot's fishing tackle has been received by the Tuna Club of Catalina, of which he is a member. Mexican Joe and guides have been engaged for the trip, and the party will camp at the east end of the island. Last year the party included Pinchot, Senator Flint, Holder, Asst. Atty.-Gen. Woodruff and Dr. Houghton of Boston.

Later Pinchot and Holder will join Maj. Burnham on a hunt in the Sierra Madres of Sonora, Mex., for wild turkey, Mexican tigers and mountain lions.

REGRETS PUBLICITY.

Mrs. E. T. Barnum, the wealthy widow of Orange Grove boulevard, laughs at the idea that Elizabeth McDonald, the wife of her former coachman, will try to secure judgment in the courts for $112, alleged to be due for services during her absence abroad.

"Why that suit was filed four or five months ago, has never been set for trial, and was practically forgotten until raked up by a local newspaper," said Mrs. Barnum to a Times reporter last night. "The whole thing is ridiculous, and is merely another bit of sensationalism in connection with my exposé of Mr. Watters.

"The facts of the case are that I discharged Mrs. McDonald's husband as coachman before I went abroad, and my horses were turned out to pasture. I told the man that he might live in the stable until he was able to find employment. Upon my return I discovered that the couple had been living there during all of my six months' absence. I called up the Lowe Gas Company to find out why my bills for gas were so big, and was informed that the coachman and his wife had been using gas to cook with, and had charged the bill to me for seven months. I at once ordered them to vacate the stable, and Mrs. McDonald told me that she would sue me for taking care of Watters. She tried to get several different attorneys to take up a case against me without success. Then an attorney named Crump took it up, but withdrew. I have heard nothing of it for months until today and there are absolutely no grounds for action.

"I regret the continued publicity that is being devoted to me by the newspapers, and in the future I intend to refer all inquiries to my attorneys. Since the accounts in regard to Watters were published all over the Coast, I have received letters from Santa Barbara, Oakland, San Francisco and other places inquiring for the history of the man and recounting similar adventurous acts on his part. I will say that I am glad that he has been exposed, and I did so willingly at the expense of my own peace of mind."

BOY WEDGED IN HOLE.

Carl Beam, 12 years old, son of Motorman Beam of North Pasadena, while playing on a telegraph pole that had been set in a freshly dug hole but not tamped into place, slid from a point fifteen feet above ground and landed in the hole with such force that a pick and shovel were necessary to extricate him.

The frightened cries of the boy, when he discovered that he was securely wedged with his head barely above ground, brought F. C. Jones to the corner of Orange Grove and Winona avenues. Appreciating the humor of the situation, in no way dangerous, Jones hurried to the rear of his residence at No. 629 Winona avenue, secured a pick and a shovel, and spent thirty minutes in hard work digging the boy out.

OLD SETTLER DIES.

Andrew Ryan of No. 198 North Pasadena avenue, who had lived here sixteen years and who had a wide circle of friends, died near midnight Thursday. Some time ago he suffered a paralytic stroke and as he was 76 years old, his chances of recovery were small and he slowly failed.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning at St. Andrew's Catholic Church and interment will follow in Mountain View Cemetery. He leaves three sons and one daughter, all living in Pasadena—A. J. Ryan, F. A. Ryan, C. H. Ryan and Mrs. P. F. Heartt.

FAREWELL FUNCTION.

Miss Harriet Judd, daughter of Mrs. Ernest B. Hoag, who will leave for Berkeley within two weeks, was the guest of honor yesterday at a prettily appointed five hundred party given by Miss Alice Earley of South Marengo avenue.

The card tables were placed on the wide veranda, which was appropriately decorated in the Berkeley colors, blue and gold, and the score cards and accessories were in these colors.

Miss Mildred Harrah won the prize given for the highest score and after the games a collation was served at the small tables.

Those present were Mrs. Roderick Burnham, Misses Helene Fitzgerald, Jessie McCament, Kate Smith, Lucy Smith, Mildred Harrah, Wilma Robbins, Frances Kendall, Jessie Earley, Helen Sickler, Helen Gatch, Louise Gatch.

Mrs. Ira C. Goodridge gave a pretty juvenile party at "Alta Vista," her Altadena home, yesterday afternoon, for her little daughter, Harriet. Daisy chains and ferns were conspicuous in decoration and supper was served under an oak tree. The children were accompanied by their mothers, about twenty being present.

Miss Genevieve Stehman was the hostess at an informal tea given Wednesday at her home on South Grand avenue for her sister, Miss Elizabeth Stehman, who has recently returned from a long visit in the East. Those present were thirty of the younger matrons and maids of the society set.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

Mike Schnurr was fined $10 yesterday as the one responsible for the horse that was turned out to die.

A. N. Fisher officiating. John F. Godfrey Post arranged the funeral, as Mr. Faulkner served through the Civil War and was a member of the G.A.R. The post had charge of the services at the grave in Mountain View Cemetery.

It will include all the orange groves north of the Santa Fé Railroad and east of San Antonio avenue in Los Angeles county. The object is to pack choice fruit under a brand exclusively its own. The movement is meeting with enthusiastic support of the growers. The association will be a part of the San Antonio Fruit Exchange.

The Times has inaugurated a special motor service to the above beaches, making it possible for the agent in each place to deliver the paper to patrons as early as the most exacting could wish. Patrons in either place not receiving an early morning delivery service will confer a favor by promptly advising the publishers of the fact.

THE greatest land raffle ever held in this country is about to take place. Read about it in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday.

LONG BEACH.

HARRIMAN ON THE WARPATH.

WILL TAKE SALARY CASES TO THE SUPREME COURT.

Councilman Will Ask Court for Restraining Order to Prevent Auditor Paying Out Warrants to Assistants of Mayor and City Officials—Bathers in Danger.

LONG BEACH, July 30.—Suit will be filed in the Superior Court Saturday or Monday by Attorney T. G. Harriman on behalf of a property owner, asking an order restraining City Auditor Hatch from drawing and paying out any warrants for Mayor Windham, his clerk, J. H. Kenner, City Attorney S. G. Long and his assistant, Percy Hight, City Clerk Boynton and his deputy, L. A. Paine, and Edith Rhea; City Auditor Hatch and his clerk, Eva Bibeou; Tax Collector Malcom and his deputy, E. F. Davis.

The complaint alleges that the officials were duly elected under the city charter, which defines their duties and fixes their salary. Since their incumbency, they have been allowed deputies, clerks and assistants in direct violation of the law and the charter. The salaries have been paid regularly and the complaint alleges that for the auditor to continue to do so is unlawful.

The suit is the outcome of Councilman Harriman's assertion that the State law provides that salaries of an office shall not be raised during incumbency, and that the appointment of deputies is, in effect, an increase in the salary of an office. The lower courts have decided both ways, with a leaning toward the allowance of the deputies, but the Supreme Court decisions are all to the effect that deputies are on increase of salary. Mr. Harriman says his client will press the case to the Supreme Court should the lower court give an adverse ruling.

Salary demands for July will be presented to the Council, Monday, and it is the intention to have the restraining order served before the audited claims are ready for the issuance of warrants.

HEAVY TIDE RIPS.

Heavy tide rips were prevalent today and bathers were constantly warned to keep close in shore. This afternoon a portly man grew careless and was caught in a tide rip. G. A. Wells went to his assistance and was seized with cramp. His arm turned black and began to swell alarmingly. Both men were in sore straits when the life guards reached them. Guard Falla is sick and Ebrite has resigned so substitutes Paul McCrary and Jack Hall were in charge of the station, but handled their duties well.

Bert Warner was engaged in cleaning a garment with gasoline, this morning, when the fumes ignited from a gasoline stove and the can he was holding exploded. He was badly burned about the face and hands.

IOWA OUTING.

The annual summer outing of the Iowa Society of Southern California will be held here tomorrow and 10,000 Hawkeyes are expected. Secretary Parsons was here all day in conferance with President Townsend regarding the programme. Dinner will be enjoyed at noon. In the afternoon there will be speaking and music in the auditorium. Addresses will be made by Judges Willis and Wilbur of Los Angeles and George A. Cates of Claremont.

W. F. Rice, vice-president of the State Bank of Long Beach, is lying at the point of death at his home on Cedar avenue. He has long been a sufferer from rheumatism of the heart and pleuro pneumonia. Mr. Rice is 68 years of age and has been with the bank since its organization. He was elected vice-president when Assemblyman Barndollar resigned a few months ago to attend the Legislature.

ADVERTISING FUND.

A petition signed by over 1000 voters will be presented to the Council, Monday, by a Chamber of Commerce Committee asking for a special tax levy of 10 cents on the $100 to provide an advertising and entertainment fund.

In two weeks the Harbor Land Company will ask for bids for a five-story pressed brick hotel building on the bluff directly west of the depot pavilion. The site is small and the hotel will contain only fifty rooms. It is expected to cost $30,000.

A big bunch of new delegates to the Baptist assembly arrived today to remain during the balance of the sessions. Dr. Rider discussed foreign missions and Rev. A. H. Bailey of Fullerton spoke on home missions. Tonight Dr. Dixon delivered his lecture on "Europe Through Green Glasses." Tomorrow morning Rev. A. M. Petty will discuss "Christian Stewardship," followed by Dr. Dixon in Bible study. In the evening there will be a rally of young people on the beach.

ANNEXES STRIP.

Long Beach, today, extended its borders westward by annexation, taking in a strip of land which includes the San Pedro Salt Works, the oil refinery at Ostend and the west jetty of the San Gabriel channel. This was omitted from the territory annexed by San Pedro three years ago. It gives the city control of both sides of the ocean entrance to the inner harbor. The vote was very light, both in the city and in the annexed territory. There was no organized opposition.

Hood of Hollywood, was celebrated on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. L. R. Dooley on East Bent street, Rev. T. T. Oreswell officiating. The bride was a teacher in the local schools and is a member of the Pomona Fruit and Flower Mission. The groom is a contractor and builder, and a nephew of the late Carl Schurz.

SUDDEN DEATH.

News of the sudden death of Miss Millie Bowler yesterday at the home of her sister-in-law in Deming, N. M., shocked the young woman's numerous friends in this city, where she lived for fifteen years. Miss Bowler went to Deming for a visit a short time ago, and few here knew of her illness. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bowler of Fifth avenue, and came with the family from Flora, Ill. She was an active worker in the Universalist and later the Unitarian church. The body will be sent here for interment.

Last evening, at the home of Mrs. Martha E. Bray, on West Holt avenue, a kitchen shower was given for Miss Pearl Hanlin, niece of Dr. Hanna Scott Turner, whose engagement to Carleton Fritz was recently announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark will leave soon for Minneapolis to attend the national convention of bakers, and will then go to Omaha, Chicago and Beloit, Wis., for visits with relatives.

MERRY BY MOONLIGHT.

A merry outing by moonlight was enjoyed last night at Ganesha Park by the local Homestead of American Yeomen. A special programme of entertainment was furnished, and supper served. The Pacific Electric company ran special cars to the park, the last ones returning after midnight.

PALMS.

PALMS, July 30.—While drilling a well for John Pohl on the old Juan Lugo rancho, about a mile and a half south of this place, yesterday, David S. Bryant struck artesian water at a depth of fourteen and a half feet. This is the first artesian well in this locality, and its discovery is of considerable importance to this community.

The school board of Palms district has issued bonds for $1000. With the money it intends to fence in the grounds, enlarge the library and make other improvements.

GOES TO IOWA.

Man Who Raised Musical Standard of Whittier College Leaves for Oskaloosa, Ia.

WHITTIER, July 30.—Prof. Howard Leslie Hockett, for three years in charge of the department of music of Whittier College, has gone to Oskaloosa, Iowa, where he will occupy a similar position in another and older Friends' institution, Penn College. Prof. Hockett is an alumnus of the latter institution and has a large acquaintance in the Iowa city. As a member of the Penn College Glee Club and other musical organizations he acquired a reputation as a soloist in the Middle West, and in assuming the new and larger responsibilities, he will not find himself among strangers.

Prof. Hockett's presence in Whittier has been an inspiration to music-lovers here. Besides developing the present high musical standard of the college itself he has played a large part in the musical life of the community. Notable among his achievements were the presentation of the "Rose Maiden" by Cowan and of the "Holy City," by Gaul. Both were local triumphs thanks to Prof. Hockett's careful and competent drilling of practically untrained singers. In each instance a number of the best soloists in California were introduced. The Whittier Glee Club, under Prof. Hockett's leadership, has made a reputation throughout the Southwest. Prof. Hockett has also personally conducted a Friday evening course in musical lectures and concerts.

Although but a young man Prof. Hockett has also played a prominent part in musical circles in Los Angeles, having been a member of a number of the leading musical societies of that city, notably the Ellis Club. In quartette work and as a soloist his success has been fully as pronounced as in leadership and instruction, and his voice has been heard in many important entertainments. For two years he has been a member of the quartette of the Magnolia-avenue Christian Church of Los Angeles.

The best part of Prof. Hockett's musical education was obtained in Chicago under William Castle in the Chicago Musical College. As a student of the University of Chicago he sang in the glee club of that university, and frequently appeared to advantage in solo work in the city.

LORDSBURG.

LORDSBURG, July 30.—The La Verne Orange Growers' Association has been incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000. The board of directors consists of D. C. Crookshank, V. W. Baker, J. F. Cumberland, C. E. Straight, L. H. Bixby, W. C. Sheppard, Jr., and S. H. Miner. The association has been organized by the foothill orange growers of La Verne. These men formerly shipped their fruit through the Indian Hill Citrus Association, and the San Dimas Orange Growers' Association, both of which have grown to such an extent that it was felt that better results would be obtained if the La Verne growers formed a separate exchange.

The new association will be a part of the San Antonio Fruit Exchange and of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and the fruit will be shipped at Lordsburg.

HEARING FOR LEAVITT.

Requisition for Automobile Man Wanted in Seattle for a Killing Not Yet Honored.

Police Officer Zimmerman of Seattle arrived in Sacramento, today, with requisition papers for Ralph J. Leavitt of Los Angeles, wanted on a charge of manslaughter. He called at the Capitol and saw the Governor's secretary. The Governor is in Eureka, and is not expected back for some time.

It is customary for the Governor's secretary to act for him on such matters. Leavitt, however, had sent in a protest against the granting of the request from Washington, alleging that it was his chauffeur, and not himself, who ran over the pedestrian in Seattle. Leavitt jumped his bail when arrested, and went to Los Angeles. Secretary Cooper refused, for the present to honor the requisition. He will communicate with the Governor and probably give Leavitt a hearing next week.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

ORANGE COUNTY.

"HE'S THE MAN," SAYS WOMAN.

VICTIM OF ASSAULT IDENTIFIES ASSAILANT.

Mexican Arrested at Buena Park Charged With Murderous Attack Upon Mrs. Du Vo—Scrap of Paper Helps to Fasten Crime Upon Him. Fight Over Estate.

SANTA ANA, July 30.—Valentine Zuniga, a Mexican, was arrested at Buena Park today by Deputy Sheriff Teofilo Cervantes, charged with a murderous assault upon a French woman, Mrs. Eugenia Du Vo, at Cypress, Tuesday night. He was identified late this afternoon by Mrs. Du Vo, as the man who attempted to kill her Tuesday night. He has been identified by a Pacific Electric conductor as the man who rode in the car with the woman. Zuniga declares he was in Santa Monica, Tuesday night.

The attack upon the woman was exceedingly brutal. Having enticed her from the electric car under promise of giving her a ride to Talbert, where her husband works, Zuniga walked with her along the car tracks. When she refused to comply with his demand, he attacked her with a short stake, beat her over the head, and when she fell into a pool of water struck at her again. Begging him not to kill her, the woman seized the club and the Mexican let go and disappeared.

On the car the man gave the woman his address, written on paper torn from a notebook.

Zuniga was in charge of a beet-topping gang at Buena Park, and was paying his men off preparatory to leaving when Cervantes arrested him. Zuniga's handwriting is the same as that on the paper given the woman by the Mexican. Zuniga on Tuesday left a bicycle at the Cypress store, but has been afraid to call for it. The officers expect to send him to the penitentiary. His victim says she is 60 years old. Zuniga is about 28.

LIVELY LEGAL FIGHT.

A lively legal fight has been begun in the Superior Court in the settlement of the estate of A. J. Towner. Augusta E. Towner, widow, is attempting to break her daughter's hold on the property. A. J. Towner and his wife separated eleven years ago, the wife going to New York City to live, after property was divided. Towner put a homestead on property here. His stepdaughter, Esther J. Towner, remained with him. Towner left a deed in escrow to his property, naming his stepdaughter as grantee. After his death Esther settled with his son, H. F. Towner, by giving him one-fourth of the estate. Then came the widow, for the first time in eleven years interested in her husband's estate, and petitioned for $30 a month allowance and for an order setting apart the estate to her, asserting Towner's homestead was illegal. Today in the Superior Court, Attorney Keetch declared that if the widow's petition is allowed the interests of Esther J. Towner, his client, instead of being worth $3000, will amount to nothing. He declared that under the California laws, the wife, by living apart from her husband, lost all rights in the estate.

ANAHEIM ANXIOUS.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Water Conservation Association in Riverside yesterday, the Orange county members proposed a by-law on which there was a division, though a majority with the Orange county men. The association is formed by San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties to store water by spreading it on lands adjacent to the channel, allowing it to percolate through to the channel for summer use. Orange county proposed as a by-law that no water be taken for spreading purposes unless there is surface water flowing as far down as the Olive road bridge. Engineers claim that the water sinking into the ground near that point supplies the pumping plants about Anaheim, and should water be taken from the river and none left to soak in at Olive, Anaheim users would be damaged. The directors did not settle the matter. The association organized by electing Francis Cuttle of Riverside, president; E. E. Keech, Santa Ana, vice-president; E. J. Yo[illegible], Highland, secretary; E. D. Rob[illegible], San Bernardino, treasurer.

SCALE CLEAN-UP.

The County Horticultural Commissioners in their report to the Supervisors today, state that fumigation of orange and lemon trees is now in full blast. There are fifteen outfits at work in the county, making a clean-up of the scale pests. The black scale is on the increase, owing to weather conditions. A spell of hot weather would greatly reduce the black scale crop.

The Bryan Club of Santa Ana last night passed a resolution indorsing an income tax. It will not support any nominee for a legislative office who will not pledge himself to favor the tax. The club next winter expects to drop Bryan's name from the title and adopt some other.

WALNUT CROP.

[illegible] E. Gowen, one of the leading packing-house men of the county, said today that the walnut crop in Orange county this year will be a normal crop. Reports hitherto have been that the crop would be short. Gowen says that early indications were that it would be, but owing to exceptionally favorable spring and summer weather it will be normal, though not as heavy as last year. The quality is of the finest. Gowen estimates that the dried apricot output of the county for the season now ending will be 2000 tons, which will bring 7 to 8 cents per pound, no less than $150,000 all told.

FATAL FIGHT OVER BEER.

One of the Men Shot in Drunken Row at Bly Camp Dies at Riverside Hospital.

RIVERSIDE, July 30.—Jesus Espinoso, the Mexican who was shot by Pedro Rodrigues in a drunken melee at the Bly Camp of the California Construction Company, Wednesday night, died at the County Hospital, last night, as the result of his wounds. Octavio Aguirre, who was shot in the side at the same time, is recovering.

When questioned by Deputy Sheriff Nelson, Rodrigues admitted that he fired the shots. He said that he had been selling liquor to the two men and that the quarrel arose over an attempt which Espinoso and Aguirre made to get more beer after their money was gone.

ACTION OVER LAND.

Action for $50,000 damages was commenced in the Superior Court, today, by H. A. Landwehr against the First National Bank of Riverside and Stanley J. Castleman, cashier, on the ground that the bank sold, without the consent of Landwehr, a tract of fifty-six acres in Orange county, which, it is alleged, was held in trust as security for the payment of a loan of $824.75 and other sums, made to Landwehr. It is alleged in the complaint that this land, which is a portion of the Sepulveda tract, was conveyed in trust to the bank, and that the bank sold it last November to C. W. Hawk of Los Angeles, without notice to the plaintiff.

The contract was let, yesterday, for an attractive new residence, which H. Mills Fraser is to erect on Rubidoux Drive, on the lot adjoining the new home of W. B. Clancy on Rubidoux Heights. Travers & Son the contractors. Broad verandas and balconies, and a sleeping porch for each bedroom are features. The residence will be two stories in height and will contain nine large rooms.

HIGH PRICE FOR MELONS.

Three Corona Cantaloupes Cost Men Who Stole Them Fifty Dollars in Fines.

CORONA, July 30.—Corona cantaloupes reached the top notch in fancy prices, yesterday, when $50 was paid for three melons grown by Carlos Ford.

Franch Cati and Sam Cabibbi were the men who paid for the expensive melons. Had they taken the precaution to inquire the cost beforehand they probably would not have stolen the melons from the Ford garden. When brought into court Justice Hull fined each man $25.

DILUTE TOIL WITH TEA.

SANTA BARBARA, July 30.—It is expected that the Choral Club, organized this week to raise funds for acquiring the old De la Guerra mansion for the home of the Natural History Society, will be the cause of a great deal of social activity. The committee meetings, rehearsals, etc., that go with the task of arranging public performances on a large scale will have a social side apart from the work; toil will be diluted with tea.

The Choral Club has about one hundred and fifty members already. At a meeting this week Mrs. Christian Herter was elected president and these women were chosen directors: Mrs. Bowman H. McCalla, Mrs. E. A. Gilbert, Mrs. Clinton B. Hale, Mrs. W. R. Porter and Mrs. George Edwards. George Edwards was elected treasurer. A cantata will be the first public offering and the best singers in town will take part. Reginald Martin, organist of Trinity Episcopal Church, will be the director of the various musical entertainments.

NEEDLES, July 30.—Chester Rice, the man who escaped from New Mexico officers and was recaptured, is near death tonight. This morning he made a sensational, but unsuccessful, effort to escape from jail and was shot by a policeman.

When food was taken to him this forenoon he struck the officer a stunning blow on the head, ran through the door and jumped from jail. The officer fired four shots at him. One struck near the heart and went clear through Rice. Doctors say he has a chance to live.

ANOTHER HUNT FOR TREASURE.

PARTY OUTFITS AT SAN DIEGO TO SEARCH FOR IT.

Aged Mariner Believes He Will Be Able to Locate Cocos Island Gold. Negro Sentenced to One Hour in Jail for Playing Craps—Stahl Not Dead.

SAN DIEGO, July 30.—Believing that the searchers for treasure on Cocos Island are mistaken as to location, Capt. A. C. Johnston, an old seaman of this city, will start next week on a cruise to the Cook, Henderson and Cooper groups, off the coast of Costa Rico.

Capt. Johnston has just completed for the voyage a two-masted schooner, built in San Diego.

While the main object will be to search for treasure, Capt. Johnston and party will prospect for minerals on other islands they intend to visit. Mrs. Johnston, the captain's wife, will be the only woman of the party, which will be composed of seven persons. The schooner is known as the Emma. It is eighty-four feet in length, and draws three feet of water forward and four feet aft. The beam is twenty-four feet. The purpose of building a boat so flat is to be able to sail into the coves and up the small streams of the islands.

ONE HOUR IN JAIL.

Following a trial in Police Court, lasting practically all day, E. Smith, a negro, arrested in a raid on a crap game, was found guilty and sentenced to spend one hour in jail. This decision was reached by the judge shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at which time Smith entered upon his sentenced. He completed same and walked out a free man in time to eat his supper at the usual hour.

LAGUNA BEACH BANQUET.

Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County Holds Monthly Meeting at the Resort.

LAGUNA BEACH, July 30.—The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county held its fifth monthly meeting here day before yesterday. About one hundred delegates and their ladies were present. Santa Ana, Tustin, Garden Grove, Laguna, Orange, Fullerton, Westminster, Huntington Beach, Anaheim and Newport Beach were represented. A banquet was served at 1:30 o'clock p.m. in the Laguna Beach hotel, wild honeysuckle and English brake fern making attractive decorations. The salad course was served in abalone shells, which were kept as souvenirs.

W. W. Wilson, president of the Associated Chambers, presided and called upon Samuel Dungan, the chairman of the Laguna Beach Improvement Association, who welcomed the guests. Col. O. H. Coulter, the beach delegate, made a witty speech.

The question of raising the road tax rate from 40 to 60 cents was discussed, also a road between Laguna and Balboa. Secretary Carl Jorn of Orange told of the road work being done in San Diego county and thought that county would join Orange for a coast boulevard.

The next meeting will be held next month in Orange.

The beach is filling up, nearly all the cottages being taken for the month of August and many reservations being made at the hotel.

Misses Lavon Scoggin of Bondville, Ill., Luella Merritt and Mary M. Lepps of Chicago and Mrs. H. A. Wilkins of Champaign, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Gielow ond J. W. Crowther of Los Angeles are recent arrivals at the hotel.

CAMP ABOUT TO CLOSE.

Col. Bullard Reviews the Militia at Bay City—Officers Make Farewell Calls.

BAY CITY, July 30.—The camp of the Seventh Regiment is about to close after a useful if strenuous fortnight. This afternoon Col. Bullard, U.S.A., reviewed the regiment.

The enemy was attacked last evening upon landing at the inlet leading into Alamitos Bay. The entire regiment participated in the demonstration, the three battalions occupying different positions on the point. For more than two hours a fusillade was poured into the attacking party and the repulse was considered a good one strategically.

The bombardment was so fierce that sleep was impossible to residents, and they crowded balconies and windows to watch the proceedings.

Women friends and relatives are making the most of these last days of the encampment and each khaki-clad figure on the beach, at the dance or in camp is surrounded by an admiring group.

Capt. Prescott issued the last rations today, and officers and men made farewell calls this afternoon.

Yesterday was considered the most strenuous day of the whole encampment, and the men were so weary that drill was omitted this morning.

The members of the Santa Ana Board of Trade accompanied by other interested citizens, arrived at the camp yesterday in a special car, and were guests of Company H. After luncheon they were shown through the camp.

VENTURA CHAUTAUQUA.

Meeting Opens in Big Tent on the Beach, Attended by Three Hundred Persons.

VENTURA, July 30.—The ten days' session of the Ventura Chautauqua opened in the big tent on the Beach tract, night before last, with a lecture on "Astronomical Photography," illustrated with lantern slides, by Prof. G. W. Ritchey. More than 300 filled the benches in the tent when Rev. John Oliver, of Santa Paula, billed for the introductory address, took the platform and welcomed the people to the meeting. Then Prof. Ritchey was introduced by D. W. Huffman, presiding officer for the evening, and held his hearers for an hour most entertainingly.

Yesterday morning Rev. G. A. Miller spoke on the "Bright Side of Life in the Orient." In the afternoon Superior Judge Clarke presided at a meeting at which the speakers were Dr. Charles Edward Locke and Prof. J. H. Hoose. In the evening's session, Prof. Twining delivered an illustrated lecture on "Wireless Telegraphy," the pictures showing the apparatus used.

The Chautauqua is being held in a big tent, capable of comfortably seating 400 people, erected close to the ocean front on the newly opened addition to Ventura, the "Beach Tract." Around the big tent there has sprung up a veritable tent city, where about 400 strangers from various interior points find temporary homes under canvas. The Chautauqua is about the biggest thing ever held in the town of Ventura.

At the morning meeting today Prof. Hector Alliott, professor of art history at the University of Southern California, spoke on "Home Decoration." At the evening session the same speaker's theme was "The Evolution of Art." Prof. J. H. Hoose was the afternoon speaker, his topic being "The Struggle of the Child for Its Place in Educational Systems."

Tomorrow evening will be "Ventura County Night" and the programme of entertainment will be entirely in the hands of local people.

BIGGEST APRICOT SEASON.

The apricot picking season this year is lasting longer that it ever did before, the pickers and pitters having now been out in the orchards for more than three weeks. There are two reasons for this, the first being that the foggy weather delayed the ripening of the fruit somewhat. The second, and greater, reason is that the apricot crop this year is the biggest in the history of the county. The trees were so heavily laden at the beginning of the season that the weight of their richness broke many of them down. In many orchards, although picking has gone on without ceasing, there still seem to be hundreds of tons of fruit on the trees. Pickers and pitters are in demand at the fruit camps.

LIMA BEAN MANAGER.

Julius M. Waterman has been elected manager of the Ventura County Lima Bean Growers' Association. Mr. Waterman will be the man, therefore, who will place Ventura county's next big crop of limas, and in effect control the market. The crop this year promises to be even larger than that of last, when the product amounted to 750,000 sacks. The acreage for 1909 is not so great, but the yield per acre will probably be heavier as the bean fields are free of any pest.

TRAIN HITS A COW.

Gasoline Motor 19, tried out on the Southern Pacific branch between Ventura and Nordhoff, made the run between the two points in two hours, the regular train time being one. The motor had to stop for water, however, on the way. It seemed to negotiate the grades on the line without a great deal of trouble. The motor was taken back to Los Angeles after the test.

MOTORCYCLIST HITS WAGON.

Whirling along Thompson boulevard into town at the rate of forty miles an hour, Carl Fowler rode his motorcycle into one of Sifford's transfer trucks yesterday, smashing the motor, damaging the wagon and throwing the driver, William Quinlan, from his seat. Fowler sustained injuries so serious that he is now lying unconscious at the Bard Hospital and the doctors fear that he has a fractured skull. Quinlan was only bruised.

WIFE FORGIVES ARNOLD.

Ontario Man Who Ran Away With Girl Accordingly Allowed Out on Probation.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 30.—Edgar Arnold, who was arrested in Arizona, charged with deserting his wife at Ontario for his paramour, Miss Annabelle Turnbull, was released on probation in the Superior Court today, on promising to provide for his wife, and keep away from other women.

This development came as a result of the wife's plea. She had a long conference with Arnold in the County Jail prior to his being taken into court, and their troubles were patched up. He made no statement to the court, other than pleading guilty, and promising to mend his ways.

Former Supervisor Nelson, today, announced that work will be commenced at once both on the new corewall below the Bear Valley Reservoir, and on the corewall below Filleree Flats. Within will be impounded an immense amount of surplus water for the use of the orange growers connected with the Bear Valley Mutual Water Company. The wall below the Bear Valley Reservoir will double the present source of supply from that source. At Filleree Flats it is intended to create a magnificent lake. Clubhouses will be built on its borders.

Jesus Hemanas was sentenced to serve twenty-five days in the County Jail this morning, having pleaded guilty before Justice Thomas to shooting quail out of season. The accused was caught late last night by Game Warden Vale.

Clair Jerome, a professional crook from the East, who was attracted to Los Angeles by the Elks' reunion, pleaded guilty, this morning, in the Superior Court, to burglary, and was sentenced to five years at Folsom.

COLTON.

Mrs. M. G. Jackson and daughter, Frances, returned to their home in Glendale today.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The beach trade is the one steady trade at the present time. Local dealers are very fluctuating in their daily demands on the local market. Yesterday business was about normal, when it should have been the heaviest of the week. The people fail to take advantage of the season when fruits are cheap, to buy heavily. As a result the fruit lies and rots, is thrown to the dump heaps without having benefited a single human being, in addition to having caused a loss to the grower. The beach stores are all buying more heavily than at any season of the year, which is merely natural with the increased population at these summer resorts.

Egg receipts yesterday were above those of the day previous by a hundred cases at least, having totaled 269 cases. Case count eggs were not obtainable for a cent less than 27 cents a dozen. Eastern fresh eggs were well called for.

Butter was slow in movement. Receipts were 25,205 pounds. There were no changes in prices. Cheese was little called for, only four or five varieties on the list being at all in demand. Receipts were 12,210 pounds.

Potato arrivals were 1223 pounds. There was little call for spuds and prices were weak. The price on Yellow Danver onions dropped from 15 to 25 cents a hundred. The new selling price ranges from $1.25 to $1.35 a hundred. There was little doing in a selling way in onions. The price of sweet potatoes dropped to 3 cents a pound, the figure on old sweets when the first new stock made its appearance on the market. Receipts of sweet potatoes totaled about 60 sacks.

Eight cars of watermelons were received yesterday. The melons are selling as low as $10 a ton, or half a cent a pound. The call for them is excellent. Cantaloupes went still lower and some sold for as little as 50 cents a standard crate.

Vegetables were all about the same. A great harvest of artichokes is on and that vegetable is daily becoming cheaper.

The arrival of new wheat on the market was given by the dealers yesterday morning as the reason for the drop of 20 cents on all flour. This drop is expected to be followed by others if the local wheat is sufficient to supply the mills of California. Cracked wheat, corn and by-products are all down an average of $1 per ton.

RETURN TO THEIR OWN.

The petroleums returned to their own on yesterday mornings' session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, and trading in them was quite lively. An encouraging amount of bidding was registered in the utility and industrial list, but Home preferred was the only active issue in this class of securities. The banks and bonds were strong throughout, though without activity. The mining department was lifeless.

Associated Oil was slightly stronger and 50 shares were handled at 34.25 and 34.50. The close, at 34.37½@34.62½, was off ½ point in the bid and up ⅛ point in the asked price.

Amalgamated Oil was a trader at 80.25@80.62½, to the amount of 50 shares.

Sales in Union were recorded to the amount of 140 shares. Of this block, 110 shares were handled at 106.50, regular delivery, and 30 at the same figure, seller five days. The close was strong at 106.37½@106.75, advanced ⅛ point and ¼ point, respectively.

In the mining section, 4000 shares of Consolidated Mines sold at 1⅛@1¼.

NIGHT AND DAY BANK.

Novel Institution Gets Six Thousand Accounts in Half Year—Near Half-Million Deposits.

In a statement just issued by the All Night and Day Bank, covering the six and a half months of its existence, are given some interesting facts in connection with its business. The deposits are $482,789.71, and the increase for the past fifteen days is said by the officials to have been nearly $5000 a day.

During the 171 days of the bank's life, 6000 accounts have been opened—341 of them in the past week. The best day reported is July 23, when 101 accounts were accepted.

The institution is the only one of the kind on the Pacific Coast, and one of three in the United States, the others being in New York and Boston. The bank is open for business every hour of every day in the week, except Sunday.

UPS AND DOWNS OF FRACTION.

Stock Boosted in Morning on Los Angeles-Nevada Exchange, But Falls in Afternoon.

Bull sentiment in Combination Fraction was strong just at the opening of yesterday's market on the Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange, and 300 shares of the stock changed hands in short order at 70, a price advanced 6 points over the trading figure of the day before. The bears immediately proceeded to demonstrate that the whole movement was a "false alarm." That they succeeded is evidenced by the fact that 200 additional shares of the issue sold down to 63 on the informal.

Daisy clung to the rut of Thursday and traded at 24 and 24½ to the extent of 1000 shares. Goldfield Consolidated imitated the antics of the up-State market and closed at 7.25 bid, up 30 cents, without activity. Florence was clear out of the running.

Three thousand shares of North American Mining were transferred at 3½; 1000 of Red Hills at 6½, and 10,000 of Consolidated Mines at 1⅛.

Thirty shares of Mexican Petroleum were handled at 23.50.

SAN FRANCISCO LIST.

BULLS TOSS AND BEARS SQUEEZE.

MARKET OPENS STRONG, THEN YIELDS TO PRESSURE.

Goldfield Consolidated and Fraction Advance in Morning, Only to Retreat in Afternoon—Florence Closes Seven Points Higher—Six Comstocks Make Gains.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, 112 West Third St.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The market opened strong this morning, with the bulls in control. Goldfield Consolidated was bid up to 7.30 and Fraction, to 70. In the afternoon the bears took control and beat Consolidated down to 6.90 and Fraction to 62. This was an even break for Consolidated as compared with last night, but a loss of 4 points for Fraction.

Florence went up easily with Consolidated this morning, and closed at 3.02½ bid, up 7½ points from last night. Daisy sold up to 25 and closed at 23, the same as last night. Some of the low-priced Goldfields registered a gain of one point, but the majority of them closed the same as last night.

In the Tonopah list, Belmont lost 2 points, closing 85 bid; Tonopah Extension and Midway were each up one point and Montana, on inside buying, was up 4.

There were no changes in the Rawhides.

In the Comstock list, Savage gained 5 points; Hale & Norcross 5; Yellow Jacket 17; Belcher 2; Confidence 7, and Sierra 1. Ophir lost 2½ and Mexican 1.

Goldfield Consolidated and Fraction were both very active on the New York curb in the early trading but sagged, Consolidated closing at 7 1-16 bid.

The rise of 1.25 a share in Goldfield Consolidated in the past two weeks has been too much for the bulls to hold up and offered too good an opportunity for the bears to overlook. The market, with the exception of two or three of the leaders, was a narrow affair all day and the lack of sustaining orders made it an easy matter to depress prices.

SHARES AND MONEY.

MARKET SELLS MILLION SHARES.

LOSE CONFIDENCE IN REPORT ON TARIFF BILL.

Feeling Believed to Have Contributed Largely to Day's Activity—Many Tricks Used by Speculators to Assist Movement—Start Rumors of Buying by Financiers.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—The dealings at the Stock Exchange by noon today had overtaken the figures for yesterday's total dealings, and the total rose to more than a million shares. Union Pacific, United States Steel, Southern Pacific and Atchison all sold during the day at the highest prices in their history.

Today's active market was attributed in its broadly underlying impulse to loss of confidence in the report on the tariff bill. The movement was helped along by many speculative devices. One device that proved most effective was the circulation of rumors of the accumulation of this or that stock by some financial magnate.

A sudden jump in Western Union was accompanied by a report that an early absorption of that company by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company was in contemplation. An astonishing number of rumors bearing on particular properties were set afloat, and gave rise to isolated price movements in succession. This was responsible largely for the professional appearance of the market.

More gold was engaged for export to Argentina. The stock market's closing tone was strong, after digesting the realizing sales of the final hour. Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $4,616,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

TRADE JOURNAL PUTS FIGURE AT QUARTER-BILLION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, July 30.—High estimates of the total yield of wheat in the Northwest had a weakening effect on the wheat market today and considerable nervousness characterized trading. Some firmness was manifested early in the day in consequence of fresh reports of black rust in North Dakota, but as trading advanced, sentiment became bearish as these rumors were found to refer to only one locality.

The report of a Minneapolis trade journal given out late yesterday which claimed a total wheat crop of 250,000,000 bushels for Minnesota and the Dakotas and several additional estimates which placed the crop at from 225,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels, were largely responsible for the weakness which prevailed late in the session. During the day July sold between 1.07 and 1.08⅜ and September between 1.03⅝ and 1.05⅝@1.05½. The market closed weak, with July at 1.07¼ and September at 1.03⅝.

Increased local receipts and a slackening in shipping demand prompted moderate selling of corn during the greater part of the session. July sold between 70 and 71¾ and September between 68 and 67⅝, the former closing at 70 and the latter at 68¼.

A break of 2 cents in the price of July was the feature of trading in oats, which was extremely weak all day. The range on July was between 42 and 45. The market closed weak at almost the lowest point, July being at 42¼ and September at 38¾.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour, weak. Feed or mixing barley, 60@62; fair to choice malting, 65@70. Flax seed, No. 1, southwestern, 1.58; No. 1 Northwestern, 1.48. Timothy seed, 3.80. New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 113 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—There was a comparatively quiet trade in the local speculative market, but the undertone was firm and prices during the first part of the day were up quite easily. The opening was from 2 to 6 above the previous close, influenced by higher Liverpool cables and Journal of Commerce reports on Texas. The cash situation is having very little influence on the market, but prices are firm, although the basis is low and some sales are being made in futures against purchases of spot cotton for forward shipment at a very small premium over futures.

Logan & Bryan's letter follows: "Today's market did not differ widely from that of yesterday or the day before. The bears are afraid of the market and the bulls are conservative and do not press their advantage, fearing the bureau report will not confirm the deterioration noted in the various reports we have had. European cables indicate that they would expect a condition of from 71 to 72, but more important than mathematical crop estimates are the figures in the day by day deterioration in the Southwest, where an already seriously hurt crop is verging upon annihilation. Technically, the market has been eliminating all weak long cotton, and the weak short cotton, and we have now arranged the market into another a few people who are long and expect to stay until extreme prices and a crowd who are short and hopeful that future weather conditions will permit a crop improvement, or that injurious trading by the bulls may create a top heavy market later on. The Liverpool market will be closed until after the bureau report, and their strength was due to the covering of short interests over these holidays. Tomorrow's Journal of Commerce figures are expected to be about 71 to 71.5. We see no reason to expect a serious decline, as there seems to be no surplus cotton that would come out on a bulge. In fact, we think there is quite a lot of cotton to be bought on any set-back. If the market gets an upward incentive, the opening selling will be extremely high levels."

Southern weather—Memphis, Alexandria, clear, hot; Shreveport, clear, 82; New Orleans, cloudy, warm; Natchez, part cloudy, warm; Monroe, Greenville, clear, warm; Jackson, part cloudy, warm; Ft. Worth, clear, 85; Little Rock, clear, very hot; Dallas, clear, 86; Sherman, Greenville, Tex., clear, 82; Texarkana, clear, 87; Wichita Falls, clear, 82; Houston, clear, 83; Gainesville, clear, 88; Ardmore, clear, 85; Chicasha, clear, 79; Guthrie and Tulsa, clear, 84.

Forecast—Western belt and East and West Texas, generally fair. Central and eastern belts, showers, all sections.

Boston Copper Market.

BOSTON, July 30.—Best authorities look for an immediate rise in the metal market, and the market undoubtedly discounted such an advance. The market position of the copper stocks is excellent, the offerings being light and the rank and file of orders bullish, with no one heavily loaded. We look for still higher prices throughout the list. Following were closing quotations on the Boston Stock Exchange:

STATE OF TRADE.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade tomorrow will say: "Crop reports are favorable with winter wheat nearly harvested. The excellent condition in the iron and steel trade, emphasized by the report of the principal producer are maintained. Reports from the principal trade centers are uniformly encouraging. Prospects of coming agricultural and industrial prosperity are more pronounced than immediate business, but this confidence appears to have an immense uplifting power."

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: "More buyers are in evidence on the leading markets and fall jobbing trades shows signs of getting under headway, but the vacation season, the imminence of tariff bill settlement and the rapidity of recent price advances breeds conservatism in many wholesale lines, pending clearer views of final crop outturn. Business failures in the United States for the week ending July 29, were 222 against 239 last week; 275 in the like week of 1908; 142 in 1907; 170 in 1906, and 173 in 1905. Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ended July 29, aggregate 1,579,652 bushels, against 922,305 bushels last week, and 2,605,969 bushels last year. Corn exports for the week, are 149,904 bushels, against 32,092 bushels last week, and 15,925 bushels in 1908."

CROOKED TRAIL.

LOSE TRACE OF THE WOMAN.

OHIO DETECTIVE COMES HERE FOR MACKIE.

Long Series of Gay Misdoings Laid to the Prisoner, Who, Through His Attorney, Institutes Habeas Corpus Proceedings in the Superior Court—Boy Also Missing.

Louis A. Houillion, a Cincinnati detective, arrived in the city yesterday with requisition and extradition papers for John H. Mackie, formerly a prominent business and society man of Cincinnati and Columbus. Mackie is wanted in the East on a charge of embezzlement and larceny of about $40,000 from Mrs. Jane T. Green, grandmother of Mrs. Mackie. He was arrested here July 18, and is in the County Jail. The grand jury at Cincinnati at its last session returned indictments against Mackie on both the charges.

Yesterday afternoon, Attorney Paul Schenck, counsel for Mackie, brought habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Davis in the Superior Court, but, on motion of Deputy District-Attorney North, the arguments were continued until Monday.

Incident to the arrival of the officer from the East, the Pinkertons have lost trace of Miss Lucille Burton, with whom Mackie eloped from the East and whom he brought to the Coast, and also Mackie's 13-year-old son, who has been in the care of Miss Burton since Mackie was arrested.

The Pinkertons explained yesterday afternoon that Miss Burton and the boy left the home which was provided by Mackie because the rent had expired. The detectives say the woman and boy left the home in an automobile and went to some beach town.

Mackie has continually stated that his arrest is a conspiracy against him framed for the purpose of placing the boy in the custody of his mother and great-grandmother. The boy has repeatedly said that he wishes to remain with his father. Mackie will fight bitterly against being taken East. Not only is Mackie under indictment for larceny and embezzlement, but he may be compelled to stand trial on a charge of arson at Columbus.

On June 15 the sporting goods house he was conducting in the capital city burned. It was insured for $27,000. Mackie disappeared when the insurance adjusters began to investigate, and payment was held up. The adjusters say that there was only $3000 in stock at the time of the fire. They also say they have evidence that Mackie set fire to the store.

Mackie evidently came directly to Los Angeles with his son and Miss Burton. They occupied a home on East Twenty-eighth street. Mackie opened a real estate office. He was arrested on July 18.

Detective Houillion says that Mrs. Mackie believed in her husband until her eyes were uncontrovertibly opened, but that now she will assist her grandmother in prosecuting him to the end, no matter what punishment he may draw.

The prisoner was formerly a clerk with the Peters Arms Company in Cincinnati and was poor until he married Miss Cahill, grand-daughter of Mrs. Green, fourteen years ago. The family lived at Madisonville, a suburb of Cincinnati. Mrs. Green is the widow of a well-known business man who left her a fortune of $100,000.

Mackie, having learned the sporting goods business, induced his wife's grandmother to buy out the controlling interest in the Columbus Sporting Goods Company. Mrs. Green is said to have invested $35,000 in the concern. The business seemed to be prospering, but suddenly failed, and then the house burned.

Mrs. Mackie went from Madisonville to Columbus to see her husband after the fire, and, although she was told that Mackie was living with a woman whom he introduced as his wife, she did not believe the tales.

When he had apparently arranged his plans to decamp, Mrs. Mackie still believed him when he stated that he was going to Louisville to begin business over again, and would take her little son with him for a vacation. She gave her consent that the son accompany the father.

It was not until after his departure that the wife learned that Mackie had sold a $4000 automobile, which he had purchased with Mrs. Green's money; that he abstracted from Mrs. Green's safety deposit box $10,000 of stock in the Bradford Machine Tool Company, and more than $5000 which Mrs. Green had in a bank.

Still later it developed that in addition to these offenses Mackie had filled in several blank checks for several thousand dollars signed by Mrs. Green and that he raised a note for $2500 given to him by Mrs. Green to $8500.

Then came the revelation that Mackie had been living at the fashionable Virginia Hotel in Columbus with Miss Burton and had introduced her as Mrs. Mackie. Proprietors of jewelry stores showed contracts whereby Mackie had purchased hundreds of dollars' worth of diamonds on the installment plan and lavished them on Miss Burton.

Mackie and Miss Burton met while they were both living at the Burton Hotel in Columbus. She was a manicurist, fascinating, 30 years of age, auburn hair, light complexion, 175 pounds in weight and a crack rifle shot. She came from Blanchester, O., where she has relatives residing.

When the couple left the hotel they told the clerk they were going to Mackie's farm at Wilmington, O. At the depot Mackie presented a check in payment of the tickets and it was duly returned marked "no funds." Soon after, creditors thronged the hotel searching for Mackie.

While Mackie and Miss Burton were living at the Virginia Hotel and at a home on Wilson avenue in Columbus, they went extensively into society. They entertained with theater parties and dinners at the Ohio Club, of which Mackie was a member. Miss Burton was introduced as his wife.

At the Columbus Barracks the couple cut quite a dash socially. Miss Burton often leading the cotillions and, as soon as their true relations were learned after the disappearance, there was great consternation among the wives of the officers to whom Miss Burton had been presented as Mrs. Mackie.

While Mackie was living with the Burton woman in Columbus, his wife, mother-in-law and grandmother kept their residence in Madisonville, not suspecting the intrigue between Mackie and Miss Burton, and having the utmost confidence in Mackie.

Suspicion was first aroused when insurance accountants began an investigation after the destruction by fire of the sporting goods business. Mackie declared that he carried a stock worth $34,000. The insurance was $27,000. Investigation showed that the assets exceeded the liabilities by only $877.

The accountants also reported that on March 31, 1909, there were $25,788.74 of net profits of the company unaccounted for on the ledgers of the company. The accountants did not have access to the cash book in making this examination. Mackie told the accountants that the book had been destroyed in the fire.

Prior to decamping with Miss Burton, Mackie had been implicitly trusted by Mrs. Green in all business transactions and handled the affairs of the woman for her. She is 86 years of age. He collected the rents on two business blocks which Mrs. Green owns in Cincinnati, amounting to $150 a month. For a year he had told her the tenants were not paying. Investigation showed that he had pocketed the money. These two properties are all that is left of the fortune of $100,000 left to Mrs. Green by her husband. The remainder, says Detective Houillion, has been squandered by Mackie.

LAST LEG OF MERGER RACE.

RALLY AT WILMINGTON TUESDAY, THEN ELECTION.

Advantages of Consolidation Will Be Told by Word and Picture—San Pedro Campaign to Open Immediately After Vote is Taken in Sister City—More Autos Wanted.

The last gun in the campaign for the consolidation of Wilmington and Los Angeles will be fired next Tuesday evening at Banning Hall, Wilmington, when Capt. Amos A. Fries, Corps of Engineers, U.S.A., and others will urge voters to get out early at the polls on the following day and cast their ballots for the merger. On Wednesday the people of Los Angeles and Wilmington will vote, and on Thursday, August 12, Los Angeles and San Pedro will go to the polls on the matter of the union of these cities.

At the Wilmington meeting Tuesday evening Capt. Fries will explain what can and will be done with the $1,000,000 to be expended on Wilmington harbor out of the first bond money voted for improvements under the plans of the Los Angeles Consolidation Committee, which guarantees the expenditure of $10,000,000 for improvements in ten years.

Maps and drawings will be used in illustrating the work now progressing under Wilmington's $100,000 bond issue, also showing the broader project which provides for the bringing of deep-water vessels to Wilmington's wharves and docks.

Other speakers will tell of the advantages of consolidation; they also will answer such arguments as may be made by anti-consolidationists at a meeting they are scheduled to hold in Wilmington early next week.

Every effort is to be made to get out the largest possible vote at next Wednesday's election. Chief interest naturally will rest in Wilmington; it is taken as a matter of course that Los Angeles will vote right. Chairman Fleming of the Consolidation Campaign Committee will be at the polls at Wilmington throughout the day and will be in constant touch by telephone with headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building, this city.

The task of getting out the vote in Los Angeles will be looked after by Philip D. Wilson and John P. Steele. Arrangements have been made to receive the complete returns at headquarters immediately after the closing of the polls. Bulletins will be issued throughout the day, showing the progress of the election in both cities.

As the ballot is simple, it is expected that final returns will be available early in the evening.

More automobiles are needed by the Campaign Committee for the purpose of getting voters to the polls. There has been a generous response to the call, but 100 additional machines can be used to advantage. It is desired particularly to get the vote out early in Los Angeles; to that end the committee asks that all voters carefully study the list of consolidated precincts, in order that they may make no mistake on election day.

Immediately after the Wilmington election, every energy of the committee will be centered on the San Pedro-Los Angeles consolidation campaign, which will be carried on vigorously in this city and San Pedro until the day of the election—August 12. A meeting for the residents of Terminal Island (East San Pedro), will be held next Friday evening, and on the evening of August 10, will be held the final rally of consolidation forces in a monster mass-meeting at San Pedro.

An anti-consolidation canard was exploded yesterday upon the receipt here of a report that the "antis" were circulating a rumor to the effect that a map of the outer harbor, showing proposed improvements, ignored Wilmington entirely. It was shown at once to interested Wilmington people that this map was prepared by the San Pedro Board of Trade, purely in the interest of San Pedro, and that it is not official.

Chairman Fleming of the Campaign Committee has received a letter from John T. Flynn, consulting engineer of the California River and Harbor League at Oakland, warmly indorsing the Los Angeles-San Pedro-Wilmington consolidation plans.

UTOPIAN.

TO LOCATE GILA RIVER CLAIMS.

WASHINGTON CAPITALISTS BACK OF HUGE PROJECT.

Company Already Incorporated at Yuma to Take Up Thirty Thousand Acres of Land Believed to Be Rich in Gold—Mining Experts See Difficulties in Scheme.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Ariz.) July 28.—A company has been incorporated in Yuma for the purpose of locating 30,000 acres of land along the Gila River, as placer ground. Thomas L. Pitt of Washington, D. C., who will capitalize the company; Charles H. Carryl of Washington, and A. R. Groenke, chief clerk at the Laguna dam works, are the prime movers in the project. Their public announcements are that they intend to dredge the ground and recover the gold it has been proven to contain in large quantities. The ground along the lower Gila River is rich in placer gold, and several small colonies of Indians are now working it constantly, with paying results.

About ten years ago a company attempted to dredge the ground on a pretentious scale, but were forced to abandon the enterprise, as the ground contains so much cement ingredients that water will not handle it, the action of the fluid compressing it into lumps that refuse to yield the gold. Expert mining men state that nothing but a dry washer on a large scale, a machine that is yet to be invented, so far as all tests go, will recover the lower Gila River gold. If the new company has any such machine, or plans they have yet to announce them.

ASKS DAMAGES.

Pat Branch, an employé of the city of Yuma, has brought suit against W. J. Nichols and Frank Collie for $25,000 damages. The action is an outgrowth of several recent trials in the local justice court. He was slightly intoxicated and in this condition was accused by Nichols of maliciously destroying some property in the dance hall run by Nichols. The complaint alleges Nichols, who is a deputy sheriff, came to Yuma and gave Branch a severe beating, while Collie "covered" Branch with a rifle. Later, Branch was put under arrest and acquitted on the charge preferred by Nichols. The damage suit followed, as well as criminal charges against Nichols.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

I saw such a luxurious layette for a baby the other day. Every one of the dainty, cobwebby little garments was hand-made and every tiny dot of a stitch was an ornament in itself. These wee bits of garments appeal to every woman—the tiny petticoats, frocks and sacks and kimonos that go to make up the very first wardrobe for a brand-new citizen. Baby outfitting shops, both in this country and in Paris, make a specialty of hand-made and embroidered layettes, and, indeed, most of our local dry goods stores now have regular infants' departments where these layettes may be ordered. I have seen layettes at the modest price of $250 and $300. These provide a dozen little slips beside an elaborate christening robe, a dozen petticoats, including three of flannel, little sacks and bibs and bootees—in fact, everything that mortal baby can want during the first six months of its life, or until it outgrows the garments.

The days of heavy embroideries and rows and rows of lace insertions for baby clothes have long, long gone by. The tiny garments these days are guiltless of elaborate trimming, but are made of the sheerest, softest material that can be had, and are decorated with a few thread-like tucks, a line or two of dainty feather-stitching, or a row of real Val. lace about the neck and sleeves. The christening robe may have a panel of tiny, hand-embroidered dots down the front, or a delicate tracery of tiny leaves or flowers in fine "blind" embroidery and, perhaps, just a touch of cobweb lace medallions set along the hem edge—nothing more. But the material—it is as soft as baby's cheek.

For first year the favorite cloak is merely a square of fine silk and wool cashmere, lined with pale pink or blue silk, the edges neatly feather stitched together. One corner of the square is gathered to form a little hood to throw over baby's head, and the cloak then hangs in three-cornered fashion. It is thus without extra fullness and much less bungling than the old-fashioned cloak heavy with lace and braiding and embroidery. The keynote of all baby's belongings is absolute simplicity and the material must be as fine as your purse will permit.

The smart costume for the 1909 baby's nurse is, for the street, an all-enveloping cape of blue cloth and a dignified little blue bonnet with white mull strings. For indoor wear this arbiter of baby's early days wears a neat blue cambric dress with snowy cap and apron.

Raffia Slippers.

The craze for raffia continues, and now to raffia parasols, hats and handbags have been added raffia slippers. These new bath, or boudoir slippers, are very comfortable and are cooler and vastly prettier than the worsted bedroom slippers. The raffia network fits over the toe and around the heel, yet the firm sole of kid keeps the slipper in shape and makes walking more comfortable.

For bedroom scuffs, nothing is handier than the 10-cent oriental shoes we see displayed in every oriental shop which lines Broadway. One can stick the toes into these convenient slips without so much as a tug or pull.

By Way of Novelty.

Something brand new in the way of entertainment was offered the summer guests at an eastern resort the other evening when a jungle dance was given in the hotel ballroom. The room was converted into a miniature forest of scrub pine and laurel, lighted by a profusion of paper lanterns in various animal shapes, which hung from the ceiling and from the boughs of the trees. A new dance originated for the occasion and called "The Roosevelt Jungle Dance," was participated in by several scores of young people, who threaded their way to the strains of the music among the trees and under the lanterns.

A Portable Stove.

There is a new fireless cooker on the market, and it is manufactured right here in Los Angeles. Its makers have such confidence in the excellence of this contrivance for simplifying housework that they offer you a free thirty days' trial, during which time you are expected to use it every day in the week and every week in the month.

One beauty of this new cooker is its compactness. It is not a chest or box but simply a metal cylinder which contains a couple of aluminum kettles. You may take it along on your auto trip, or to the picnic, or for a few days' camping with the utmost ease, for it is light weight, of convenient shape and size and entirely portable. The difficulty with the fireless cooker has been its size and awkward proportions. You could no more take it along with you than you could a big Saratoga trunk. But this new cooker, which I spied yesterday in the windows of one of our leading china stores, takes up scarcely more room than the six or eight-quart kettles which it encloses. Another advantage it possesses over the ordinary fireless cooker is that the packing which retains the heat, is not exposed to absorb odors and harbor vermin and germs, but by a secret scientific process of non-heat conducting material, it is packed tight and insulated. This new cooker has the indorsement of physicians, nurses and chefs as a scientific, economic and entirely sanitary method of preparing food. The price is so reasonable that it ought to be within the reach of the average housewife.

Next—The Food Tablet.

Years ago I prophesied that it would come—the time when business men and women could simply press a button in the office desk, and presto! there would appear at one's elbow food in tablet form, so that one could toss down her lunch and keep right on running the typewriter with no loss of time.

We are such rushers—we Americans—and go at such a pace that I felt sure this deplorable thing would happen sooner or later. Anything to save a minute's time—as if heaven were not full of days, and all coming this way. Now, the thing I prophesied has come to pass—in a rather modified form just now, but it is the entering wedge of the ultimate food tablet.

A New York woman has discovered an avocation in serving tea in business offices at any hour one chooses. You may have your tea hot or ice cold, strong or weak, and at the hour named a trim office boy appears with automaton promptness and places on your desk a cup of tea of your favorite brand and a savory tea biscuit on the side.

The promoter of the scheme launched her enterprise only about a month ago as an experiment, and already orders are pouring in in such numbers as to indicate that the idea of office tea service is destined to become a popular business. "For a number of years," says the woman who originated this novel plan, "I was employed as special agent by the India and Ceylon commissions, and there was always tea served in those offices. I am building all my hopes of success on the fact that I blend my own tea and that I brew it myself. Most persons do not understand the knack and science of brewing tea—that the leaves must be removed before there is any tannin noticeable, that it takes less time to brew it in soft water than in hard, and that there is a psychological moment when the tea will be perfect if it is served at once, but spoiled a few seconds later. I make the tea and send it around to the different offices in vacuum bottles. I also send ice-cold milk in the same sort of bottles, and the boys leave little jugs full in the offices. The china we leave, too, and I plan to have in the near future little cabinets placed in offices with marked china. I am beginning very simply, but at the rate the tea drinkers are applying to me it will be only a very short time before we have all sorts of improvements. Already I have found some folks who want sandwiches with their tea, and I am supplying them."

Some Accessories.

There is a strong rumor that hats taller in the crown and narrower in the brim are to be brought out.

Corset covers and chemises fit almost straight across the front, there being very little or no fullness at the top.

Batiste, for the first time in the history of the fabric, is making up coats to be worn with silks and voiles.

Outdoor gowns are gradually coming back to the normal waist line, the short waist being now confined to evening wear.

There has come about a popular fashion of pinning a rose or any large flower well down in the center of an evening bodice.

A Natural History Museum at Agricultural Park.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY (Cal.) July 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The announcement in The Times that the Board of Supervisors had voted for the expenditure of $150,000 at Agricultural Park and that local architects had been instructed to draw plans for a "Historical and Art Museum to be built in conjunction with the State fair buildings and the National Guard Armory," is very good news to every one interested in the growth of our City of the Angels. It is to be hoped that this museum idea embraces also natural history. I take it for granted that it does and that a zoölogical museum will be included in it for the rapid advancement of natural history in our country makes such an exhibition almost imperative.

This year marks the semi-centennial year of the establishment of the Museum of Comparative Zoölogy of Harvard University and if one would question the desirability of founding a zoölogical museum the report recently published in Science would surely settle all doubts. This is what the chairman of the committee said to the Board of Overseers of Harvard College: "It is doubtful if any department of the university has brought home to it from the Old World more fame, or if any department has done more enduring work for time to come." This is a strong indorsement of the value of a zoölogical museum. As we all know this museum at Cambridge was the scheme of Louis Agassiz. He had so often felt the need of such a collection of the flora and fauna of the United States that he stated, he had given up writings in order to devote all his energies toward that object. As early as 1847, Louis Agassiz, at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Cincinnati, had voted against a motion to send western specimens—that were then exhibited before the members—to Europe to be identified by paleontologists and zoölogists of the Old World because he felt American men of science could determine and name them, and in this way, take their position as scientists. In making a plea for a larger appropriation for the Zoölogical Museum, in 1871, he referred to this motion, which had been lost, and said: "The progress since then has been such that an American student scouts the idea of sending a piece of work to a European ordeal," and, he declared, "This is what the museum has done for America." The Massachusetts Legislature had already voted the sum, in 1859, of $100,000. In 1876, the Peabody Museum of Archeology and Ethnology was added to the Museum of Zoölogy.

We in Los Angeles are where Cambridge was fifty years ago—so far as a zoölogical museum is concerned, bearing in mind, however, we have no Louis Agassiz to plead our cause on behalf of natural history.

We are glad that Los Angeles has made some collections that are a credit to her citizens. For many years the Historical Society has labored hard to collect and preserve historical materials, the Archeological Society of the Southwest has done good service in collecting archeological and ethnological specimens, the Coronel collection at the Chamber of Commerce is a rich store of curios, but Los Angeles has entirely ignored the fact that no city of its size can afford to be without a natural history collection, for private collections cannot take the place of a public one. Nothing has been done, in this direction, toward collecting and preserving zoölogical specimens. The great plea has been, "We have no place to deposit and care for natural history specimens." But, while waiting for a building we have ignored the fact that life on our shores is continually changing, species dying out, in many cases without new ones taking their place. We send our specimens all over the United States, to Europe, Asia and Africa in return for specimens from these countries. Scientists at Washington and elsewhere describe these interesting forms of animal and vegetable life indigenous to our locality, yet when visitors come to our shore they find no exhibition of our rich fauna and flora. For this reason, our own residents as well as transients have no idea of the wealth of beautiful specimens that are gathered by private collectors, on land and sea, in Southern California.

The absence of a natural history museum for the education of our young people has been to them, a serious loss, in many ways. As I said, and flora and fauna of a region ever changing, for we cannot enlarge cities and cross the country with the wheels of commerce without destroying life, even though this destruction may not be intentional. The work on our fine harbor at San Pedro has changed San Pedro Bay until shore or beach collecting is a thing of the past, and, as for Dead Man's Island, that treasure house of rare fossils, it is now fast passing into history.

Regrets for the past are useless, yet, one cannot help wondering, had we a fireproof museum building in Los Angeles if the magnificent collection of the Hon. Delos Arnold would have remained in Los Angeles county, instead of being donated to Stanford University. But, with brighter prospects ahead of us we cannot afford to cloud them by our regrets.

WOULD BLACKMAIL MOFFATS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Details of a clumsy plot to blackmail James A. McClurg, son-in-law of David H. Moffat, the famous Denver banker, were revealed today by the police. Threats of dynamiting the McClurg home, No. 906 Grant street, in the fashionable residence section and kidnapping Miss Frances McClurg, granddaughter of Moffat, have been made for past three weeks. Disclosure came when the parties to the plot, evidently angered at the failure of threatening letters to accomplish their end, made a demand through a messenger boy, impressed for the purpose, for immediate delivery of $10,000. On advice of the police, the messenger was given a decoy package by McClurg and then started out over the route designated by the man who sent him to the house. The detectives followed at a safe distance but the blackmailer evidently informed by accomplices that danger threatened, failed to meet the messenger.

PARIS, July 30.—The French court has ordered the dissolution of the trades union which the postal, telegraph and telephone employés formed during the strike in Paris last May, holding with the law of 1884 as its authority that workmen's unions do not apply to state employés.
